Compromise Expected In Tax Battle

Governor Huddles With 5 Mavericks Who Block Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A possible compromise on Ohio's iron-fisted tax deadlock appeared in the making today. It would tap utility companies by some 15 million dollars a year and ease off on other corporations by a similar amount.

The Democratic attempt to find a place to bury the hatchet came after a dramatic and unprecedented meeting between Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and the five Democratic mavericks who have been blocking the chief executive's program in the Ohio Senate.

The meeting was unprecedented because newsmen were present throughout the hour - long head-bumping session which began in anger and ended in laughter.

Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas), caught in the middle in recent weeks by conflicting Senate blocks, was openly optimistic about the prospects of a quick compromise to end the tax deadlock. A compromise would permit DiSalle to get the money he says he needs and let the Legislature clear up other essential work and go home.

"I'm encouraged," King told newsmen simply.

Maverick Democrats, after meeting the governor, said they felt the session had helped clear the air. They were talking of cutting back a proposed four-mill tax on the capital structure of corporations to three mills. That would reduce the total tax program by 32 million dollars below DiSalle's goal of 237 millions in the next two years.

But they also talked of increasing the present tax on utilities—which now pays almost the entire bill for Ohio's poor relief program—to make up the 32 million deficit a slash in the proposed corporation tax would create.

There is no question that the substitution of a utilities tax boost for part of the proposed corporation tax would be acceptable to DiSalle and Senate Majority Leader King.

As DiSalle told the maverick five bluntly: "Look, we need 237 million dollars. I don't care where the tax dollars come from so long as they are levied fairly and equitably."

The five who blocked passage of the four-mill corporation tax in last Wednesday's "blackout" session of the Senate are Sens. Ray T. Miller Jr., John Corrigan, Anthony O. Calabrese and Julius J. Petrash, all of Cleveland, and Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry.

Calabrese rounded up the rebels for the palaver with the governor. As Miller expressed it: "I understand you want to know what is at the root of our opposition and resentment."

And so, what is behind such opposition to a governor's money program by members of his own party?

Miller: "I had assurances congressional redistricting in Cuyahoga County would 'go.' Then I am told, after weeks of delay, that you (DiSalle) have decreed that it will not go."

(DiSalle summoned House Speaker James A. Lantz (D-Fairfield) to the meeting for a showdown. Lantz asserted: "I never have discussed Cuyahoga County redistricting with the governor.")

Record 310 Killed In Holiday Traffic

By The Associated Press

A final tally shows a record 310 persons died in traffic accidents during the two-day Memorial Day weekend.

The traffic toll during the 54-hour period shot far past the old record of 241 for a two-day Memorial Day holiday set in 1953.

During the weekend there were 101 drownings and 47 deaths from miscellaneous accidents for an over-all total of 458, breaking the 1953 record of 385.

Dedication Program Held For Midland Gymnasium

The new Lincoln High School gymnasium and administration building was turned over to school authorities during dedication ceremonies Monday night at Midland.

Leslie B. Roach, president, accepted the new $587,614 structure on behalf of the Board of Education from the architect, Robert F. Beatty of East Liverpool, and then turned it over formally to Principal William A. Walters, who accepted on behalf of the high school.

Midland voters on Nov. 1, 1955, approved a bond issue to construct and furnish the building; ground was broken Dec. 16, 1957, and construction was completed last Feb. 1.

Dr. Ralph H. Jewell, superintendent of Midland public schools, presided during last night's program.

He introduced special guests, members and officers of the present Board of Education and past members of the board and others who contributed in a major way to the new building. He also briefly reviewed the facilities that are housed in addition to the gymnasium.

Victims 300 Feet Away From Blast

No Wreck, Police Report; Route 122 Scene Of Tragedy

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—A gasoline tanker truck exploded on a main highway in eastern Pennsylvania today killing nine onlookers some 300 feet away.

"The tanker exploded and flames swept up the road like a ball of fire killing people gathered around a police car," reported Sgt. Melvin Clouser.

Clouser said at least seven others were injured as they stood at what was believed to be a safe distance watching firemen battle the flames of the burning tanker.

The explosion occurred on route 122, a highway known as the Reading - Hamburg road, three miles below Orwigsburg in eastern Pennsylvania.

Vincent Ney, chief photographer for the Pottsville Republican, telephoned his paper from the scene. He said it was impossible to determine the number of dead and injured.

"Heads, legs and bodies are scattered everywhere. I saw six bodies lying in one field alongside the highway."

Ney said he was told that a tractor trailer and a propane gas truck had collided on Route 122, known locally as the Pottsville-Philadelphia pike. State police, however, said there was no collision.

State Police Trooper Earl Klinger, sitting in his car, said parts of bodies and debris crashed through his windshield. He avoided injury by hurling himself beneath the dashboard.

Scene of the crash is about 100 miles northeast of Philadelphia.

Sgt. Clouser gave this official version of the tragedy:

"About 8:15 a.m. (EDT) we got a report of a tanker on fire south of Schuylkill Haven at a place known as Red Church on Route 122.

"We sent a trooper who set himself up about 300 feet away to divert traffic from the scene. Two fire companies arrived to fight the flames.

"A number of people left their cars to see what the holdup was. They gathered around our trooper handling the traffic. About 8:45 a.m. the tanker let loose. There was a terrific explosion.

"The flames swept up the road like a ball of fire killing eight or nine around the trooper. He was saved by ducking behind the police car.

"As far as we know there was no collision. We don't know what caused the fire. Sometimes these tankers catch fire for some unexplainable reason."

There was no immediate identification of the victims.

Landfill Plan To Take Trash And Garbage

Council Authorizes Advertising For Bids On Dumping Tract

The city's contemplated operation of a sanitary landfill for refuse disposal will be used for both garbage and trash, allowing a sharp reduction in operations at the old incinerator plant at the foot of Washington St., Mayor Fred P. Lawrence told Council Monday night.

The mayor explained the city's landfill plans shortly before Council approved a resolution authorizing the administration to advertise for bids for lease of a "suitable" tract of ground within two miles of the city limits for use in burying refuse.

The city will call for offers on the ground in a legal advertisement Friday, setting the bid-opening for noon Monday, June 22, at City Hall, Safety-Service Director Joseph F. Ross said.

Council's legislation authorizes the administration to lease the grounds for a minimum of five years and specifies that the city shall have an option to purchase the tract any time in the first two years. The bids must include the owner's proposal for covering the refuse dumped by the city, the legislation provides.

If the landfill operation is adopted and garbage and trash collections are combined, most householders will need only one trash container in the future, the mayor pointed out. Now two trash receptacles are required, as the garbage and trash are collected on different days. The garbage now is hauled to the incinerator to be burned and the trash is taken to a dump in St. Clair Township.

If the incinerator furnace continues to operate when the landfill project opens, it will be used only on a limited basis to take care of refuse picked up in the immediate downtown area, the mayor said. The proposed plan will prolong the life of the garbage furnace, as it has been operating at loads and temperatures over its capacity in order to dispose of all the city's garbage, the mayor said.

"Our proposal is a result of considerable study of trash and garbage disposal," Mayor Lawrence told Council. "That study convinced us that a satisfactory sanitary landfill could be developed and that it would offer certain worthwhile advantages."

Eason Resigns As Director Of City CD Group

Thomas W. Eason, 825 Orchard Grove Ave., has resigned as director of the East Liverpool Civil Defense Council after nearly eight years' service dating back to the outbreak of the Korean Conflict, Mayor Fred P. Lawrence announced to City Council Monday night.

Eason will be succeeded by James M. Walker, 909 Orchard Grove Ave., a World War II veteran and one of the operators of the Woodbine Laundry & Cleaning Co., the mayor said. Both Eason's resignation and Walker's appointment were effective yesterday, he added.

Eason resigned because of his health and the pressure of his business, the Eason Insurance Co. of Washington St., Mayor Lawrence explained. He took over as CD head here when the World War II organization was reactivated with the outbreak of hostilities in Korea between the United Nations and the North Korean Communists.

In a letter ot Eason, the mayor praised him for his service.

"That you have been commended several times by the area director during the years you have held this post is proof of the effectiveness of your performance," the mayor wrote. "I know that I speak for all the residents of East Liverpool in expressing profound thanks for your conscientious efforts."

As presently constituted, the CD organization has two vice chairmen—Council President B. E. Warner and Walter Dlugozima, formerly of East Liverpool. Dlugozima moved from here a few months ago to take a new post in the south.

Use Of Berlin As 'Battlefield' For Propaganda Is Issue

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four march to the summit was bogged down today in an angry East-West argument over the use of divided Berlin as an espionage and propaganda battlefield in the cold war.

The argument flared in secret talks between the Western and Soviet foreign ministers Monday.

The bitter debate raised new doubts about the possibility of an agreement lifting the Soviet threat to West Berlin. The Western Allies say unless they get such an agreemen', they won't join Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in a summit conference.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko requested a full-scale conference session today, reportedly to let Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz of Communist East Germany speak on the Berlin situation.

$6,800,000 Slated For Dam At Stratton

The House appropriations committee in Washington today recommended $6,800,000 to continue work on the Stratton Super - dam and $3,500,000 for the proposed Pike Island Super-dam at Yorkville. These are the same amounts President Eisenhower had listed in his budget requests.

The committee recommended $1,176,677,000 be spent on public works projects in the 12 months beginning July 1.

But in approving the big money bill, to be considered by the House Friday, the committee rejected the President's plea that no funds be included for either new planning or new construction starts on water projects.

Although adhering exactly to the money total asked by Eisemhower, the committee criticized the administration policy of "no new starts" as unrealistic.

Newell Man Injured In Fall From Scaffold

A Newell man is in "poor" condition today at Rochester General Hospital with multiple injuries received in a fall from a scaffold at the Crucible Steel Co. plant in Midland Monday afternoon.

The hospital said Ernest Rowand, 23, suffered possible back and head injuries, possible fracture of the left hip and probably internal injuries in the plunge.

The company said Rowand, a crane oiler, was working on a crane in the open hearth department when he plunged 35 feet to the floor of the shop. He is married and the father of a child.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a bill to change the name of the Ohio River dam under construction near Chilo, Ohio, from the New Richmond Dam to Captain Anthony Meldahl Dam. Meldahl served on steamboats on the Ohio River for a half century. He is buried at Neville, Ohio, near the site of the dam. The bill goes to the Senate.

Patrol Cites 2 Truck Drivers

Vehicles Involved In Rogers Area Mishaps

Two truck drivers were cited after mishaps on Route 7 south of Rogers Monday afternoon while a motorist was charged in a LaCroft collision yesterday, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Lloyd Reed, 24, of Snydertown, Pa., lost control of his rig rounding a curve about 3 miles south of Rogers yesterday at 3:40 p. m. and rammed an embankment. Reed, unhurt, was charged with driving left of center.

Clarence Gilles Jr., 38, of Cleveland was cited on a similar charge when his truck struck an oncoming tractor-trailer rig about two miles south of Rogers at 12:30 p. m.

Officers said Gilles applied the brakes to slow down for some highway workers on the road, lost control and swerved into the rig operated by Michael J. Hostovich, 42, of Weirton. Damage was minor, the patrol said.

Cars driven by James Wright of Sunnyside Ave. and Harold J. Wilson, 46, of Fisher Park collided at an unmarked intersection on 6th Ave., LaCroft, at 5:45 p. m.

Wright, 41, was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way to a vehicle to his right. Damage was minor, officers reported.

Sewage Plant Now Running At Wellsville

With practically all the operational "kinks" worked out, Wellsville's sewage disposal plant is now in full use, marking the completion of a construction project covering almost 18 months.

Wellsville, like East Liverpool and all other cities and industries that empty waste into the Ohio River, was required to construct the treatment facility to end the dumping of raw sewage into the valley's primary source of water.

Construction on the "primary treatment" plant was started in October 1957. The entire project, including the plant itself and all necessary sewer lines, was done by the H. & H. Hosea Co. of Cincinnati.

TOTAL COST of the plant was $412,736.43. Of this $356,237.74 was for the general contract. Land and easements cost $12,441.80; engineering, $37,100; test engineering, $1,340.60; legal, $1,987.82, and equipment, $3,628.47.

The site was purchased from the Pennsylvania Railroad at a cost of $5,220 while the easements for the force mains totaled $7,221.80.

R. D. McGill of McGill & Smith, consulting engineers of Bethel, prepared the plans and served as resident engineer during the construction. He also drew plans for the

Mine Disaster Saddens Town

'Belching Hell' Fatal To 5 Trapped Men

IRON RIVER, Mich. (AP) — Sorrow burdened this northern Michigan mining community today in the wake of Monday's underground "belching hell" disaster that killed five men.

Thanks was also given that the tragedy was no worse.

Survivors' accounts of the peril deep within the Inland Steel Co. Sherwood iron mine in nearby Mineral Hills indicated that but for warnings, including the telltale odor of gas, the death toll might have been far greater.

The five who died were trapped by sulphurous gas and flames that shot out from the collapse of a walled-up excavation room.

Seven others were injured while 25, some crawling in pitch-black darkness up a 225-foot incline 1,200 feet below the surface, escaped without injury.

Howard Groop, 30, Crystal Falls, whose father Everett escaped, died in a hospital at nearby Stambaugh Monday night. Gas fumes had seared his lungs.

The other victims, all veterans of the iron ore mines, were Ingvar Wester, about 48, Iron River; August Zuckal, 51, Caspian; Einar Johnson, 59, Crystal Falls, and Carl Anderson, 40, Iron River.

All were residents of the cluster of mining towns in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Governor Huddles With 5 Mavericks Who Block Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A possible compromise on Ohio's ironfisted tax deadlock appeared in the making today. It would tap utility companies by some 15 million dollars a year and ease off on other corporations by a similar amount.

The Democratic attempt to find a place to bury the hatchet came after a dramatic and unprecedented meeting between Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and the five Democratic mavericks who have been blocking the chief executive's program in the Ohio Senate.

The meeting was unprecedented because newsmen were present throughout the hour - long headbumping session which began in anger and ended in laughter.

Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas), caught in the middle in recent weeks by conflicting Senate blocks, was openly optimistic about the prospects of a quick compromise to end the tax deadlock. A compromise would permit DiSalle to get the money he says he needs and let the Legislature clear up other essential work and go home.

"I'm encouraged," King told newsmen simply.

Maverick Democrats, after meeting the governor, said they felt the session had helped clear the air. They were talking of cutting back a proposed four-mill tax on the capital structure of corporations to three mills. That would reduce the total tax program by 32 million dollars below DiSalle's goal of 237 millions in the next two years.

But they also talked of increasing the present tax on utilities—which now pays almost the entire bill for Ohio's poor relief program—to make up the 32 million deficit a slash in the proposed corporation tax would create.

There is no question that the substitution of a utilities tax boost for part of the proposed corporation tax would be acceptable to DiSalle and Senate Majority Leader King.

As DiSalle told the maverick five bluntly: "Look, we need 237 million dollars. I don't care where the tax dollars come from so long as they are levied fairly and equitably."

The five who blocked passage of the four-mill corporation tax in last Wednesday's "blackout" session of the Senate are Sens. Ray T. Miller Jr., John Corrigan, Anthony O. Calabrese and Julius J. Petrash, all of Cleveland, and Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry.

Calabrese rounded up the rebels for the palaver with the governor. As Miller expressed it: "I understand you want to know what is at the root of our opposition and resentment."

And so, what is behind such opposition to a governor's money program by members of his own party?

Miller: "I had assurances congressional redistricting in Cuyahoga County would 'go.' Then I am told, after weeks of delay, that you (DiSalle) have decreed that it will not go."

(DiSalle summoned House Speaker James A. Lantz (D-Fairfield) to the meeting for a showdown. Lantz asserted: "I never have discussed Cuyahoga County redistricting with the governor.")

Clarence Gilles Jr., 38, of Cleveland was cited on a similar charge when his truck struck an oncoming tractor-trailer rig about two miles south of Rogers at 12:30 p. m.

Officers said Gilles applied the brakes to slow down for some highway workers on the road, lost control and swerved into the rig operated by Michael J. Hostovich, 42, of Weirton. Damage was minor, the patrol said.

Cars driven by James Wright of Sunnyside Ave. and Harold J. Wilson, 46, of Fisher Park collided at an unmarked intersection on 6th Ave., LaCroft, at 5:45 p. m.

Wright, 41, was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way to a vehicle to his right. Damage was minor, officers reported.

Sewage Plant Now Running At Wellsville

With practically all the operational "kinks" worked out, Wellsville's sewage disposal plant is now in full use, marking the completion of a construction project covering almost 18 months.

Wellsville, like East Liverpool and all other cities and industries that empty waste into the Ohio River, was required to construct the treatment facility to end the dumping of raw sewage into the valley's primary source of water.

Construction on the "primary treatment" plant was started in October 1957. The entire project, including the plant itself and all necessary sewer lines, was done by the H. & H. Hosea Co. of Cincinnati.

TOTAL COST of the plant was $412,736.43. Of this $356,237.74 was for the general contract. Land and easements cost $12,441.80; engineering, $37,100; test engineering, $1,340.60; legal, $1,987.82, and equipment, $3,628.47.

The site was purchased from the Pennsylvania Railroad at a cost of $5,220 while the easements for the force mains totaled $7,221.80.

R. D. McGill of McGill & Smith, consulting engineers of Bethel, prepared the plans and served as resident engineer during the construction. He also drew plans for the

Mine Disaster Saddens Town

'Belching Hell' Fatal To 5 Trapped Men

IRON RIVER, Mich. (AP) — Sorrow burdened this northern Michigan mining community today in the wake of Monday's underground "belching hell" disaster that killed five men.

Thanks was also given that the tragedy was no worse.

Survivors' accounts of the peril deep within the Inland Steel Co. Sherwood iron mine in nearby Mineral Hills indicated that but for warnings, including the telltale odor of gas, the death toll might have been far greater.

The five who died were trapped by sulphurous gas and flames that shot out from the collapse of a walled-up excavation room.

Seven others were injured while 25, some crawling in pitch-black darkness up a 225-foot incline 1,200 feet below the surface, escaped without injury.

Howard Groop, 30, Crystal Falls, whose father Everett escaped, died in a hospital at nearby Stambaugh Monday night. Gas fumes had seared his lungs.

The other victims, all veterans of the iron ore mines, were Ingvar Wester, about 48, Iron River; August Zuckal, 51, Caspian; Einar Johnson, 59, Crystal Falls, and Carl Anderson, 40, Iron River.

All were residents of the cluster of mining towns in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Council To Investigate

Restoration Of Playground Asked

Councilman H. A. Tullis, who also is president of the East Liverpool Recreation Council, promised an investigation Monday night after Council received a petition requesting the city to help re-equip the 2nd St. Playground and remove bricks and guardrail posts that have been stored on part of the site.

The petition, carrying the signatures of 74 residents of the E. 2nd and Washington St. area, was backed up by the personal appearance of Gordon Morrow of E. 3rd St., who hit particularly at storage of "old bricks and poles" on part of the playlot site by the city.

CHILDREN OF the neighborhood have no other place to play, Morrow declared. He added that he believes the ground was donated to the city for playground purposes. Without a director and with little equipment, the playlot has been considered inactive by the Recreation Council for several years.

Councilman George E. Willshaw pointed out to Morrow that the city government does not provide playground equipment. That's a function of the Recreation Council, he added.

"I happen to be president of the Recreation Council," Tullis told Morrow. "I understand that a check is being made by Merrill Hall, playground director, for facilities for that playground that have been stored away for four or five years. I understand there are see-saws and other equipment in storage.

"We're going to discuss the playground at our next (Recreation Council) meeting," he said. "I can promise it will be given every consideration. One problem is the lack of care for facilities, not just at this playground, but at every playground."

COUNCIL PRESIDENT B. E. Warner told Morrow that the Junior Chamber of Commerce spent about $500 in 1952 for equipment for the playground and the Kiwanis Club spent $300 the following year.

"The equipment was terribly misused, not by the children but by adults," he said. "The Recreation Council couldn't continue to operate it."

Then the petition was read. It hit at the storage of bricks and poles on part of the area and declared that "truck traffic is increasingly heavy and a hazard to the children."

Councilman Samuel B. Webber moved to refer the question to Council's planning committee. He was seconded by Councilman William Y. Orr. Willshaw asked that as part of the study the committee determine if the ground was donated for playground purposes.

"I would rather see a motion to refer it to the director and ask him to remove the debris so the equipment can be placed there," Councilman A. Stanley Kidder said.

SAFETY-SERVICE Director Joseph F. Ross said the city is using part of the lot to store "some bricks which the city was given and some guardrail posts which it has purchased."

"They were placed at a spot that is not very usable as a play area," he said. "We understood the playground was abandoned or about to be abandoned. We left a free area to play on. We were under the impression the equipment was to be removed, but it hasn't been yet.

"We don't want to hamper play areas," he added. "If equipment is going to be placed there, we will remove the bricks and the poles."

Tullis commented that the 2nd St. Playground question has been referred to the planning committee of the Recreation Council. He said "there has been some talk of moving the equipment to another spot near Memorial Auditorium." Tullis promised to check with the committee and contact the director as soon as possible.

In other business, Webber advised the administration that residents of Williams Ave., Fisher Park, are thinking of surfacing their street, but before proceeding they wish to obtain figures on the approximate cost of several types of pavement.

HE SAID the residents would like to have estimates on a 4-inch thick blacktop pavement, a 2-inch blacktop surface and a street built up of three coats of slag and asphalt.

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence replied that figures of the type Webber seeks are being prepared by the engineer's office. A similar request for estimates has been received from residents if N. Shady Ln., he said.

Kidder asked for further information on the city's summer street-oiling program, explaining he has received enquiries from constituents. He also asked if the city has used its 1,000-gallon distributor truck to haul street oil in wholesale lots.

Ross replied that the distributor truck has been used to haul oil from a Wellsville terminal to fill householder's orders. The oil costs 10 cents a gallon, which will cover about three square yards of street surface, he added.

IF HOUSEHOLDERS know the width of their street and the length of the stretch they wish to treat, the city will furnish estimates of the cost, he said. If they do not have the street dimensions, the city will make the measurements and then prepare the estimates, he said.

The city hauls and spreads the oil if neighborhood committees foot the bill for the oil alone.

Webber cited an "unsightly" condition on a vacant lot at W. 5th and Jefferson Sts. He told the mayor the owners should be forced to clean away grass and debris or the city should do the job and bill the owners. He asked repair of rough pavement on the Lisbon St. Hill curve near St. Aloysius Cemetery.

Webber also enquired if the operators of the Caplan junk yard at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts. have done anything to comply with a city ordinance enacted a few months ago requiring erection of fences around scrap yards. The director replied that construction of a fence has started and the owners have assured the administration the work will continue.

REFERRING to complaints he reported at the May 18 meeting about the operations of an East End boat club, Tullis said the action "was not personal." "I turned in the complaints of my constituents," he said.

"But I understand now that the boat club has moved and all is quiet," he added.

Orr asked investigation of two large trees which he said overhang a house in the 800 block of Riverview St. He requested an inspection by the director and the street committee to determine if the trees are on public or privately-owned ground.

Council conferred in caucus session with Atty. Francis H. Lang, representing the owners of the East Liverpool River Rail Terminal, Inc., of the River Rd., which seeks to buy or lease 120 feet of city-owned river frontage.

The city-owned property is in the middle of a stretch which the company now controls and is developing, the attorney explained. The firm seeks to use the city property for part of its dock facilities, he added.

THE MAYOR replied that the administration feels that "disposition of our riverfront should be considered seriously until we have completed the city master plan."

"We don't want to act prematurely and chop up the riverfront," he said. "The administration would advise strongly against it."

Council deferred action on the request for further study.

Council gave the street committee a letter from the law firm of Brookes, Lynch & McDonald, requesting the city to abandon unused sections of West Ave. and Monroe St. between W. 7th and W. 8th Sts. to make the ground legally available for use of Samuel and Nathan Caplan, operators of a junk yard at W. 8th and Jefferson St.

Acting on the recommendation of Tullis, claims committee chairman, Council rejected a claim from William VanDyne of Leonard St., who said the muffler and tail pipe of his auto were damaged April 30 on the Myrtle St. railroad crossing.

The meeting opened with invocation by W. E. Kaiser.

The program included songs, accompanied by hand instruments made by Den 4, of which Mrs. Evelyn Bloor is den mother; Den 5, Mrs. Gayel Merriman, and Den 6, Mrs. Nellie Taylor.

Den 1, under the supervision of Mrs. Helen Williams, presented various tricks and told jokes.

The meeting was opened by Den 2, with Mrs. Evelyn Chesnut as den mother.

Hill discussed plans for the boys to attend a baseball game in Pittsburgh.

The attendance award was presented Den 3 with Mrs. Anna Green, den mother. Refreshments were served by Dens 3 and 4.

A business meeting is scheduled Friday night at the home of Mrs. Chesnut of Glenmoor.

Resignation Accepted

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Lake County commissioners Monday accepted the resignation of Sheriff Paul F. Cage, 58, who quit because of "business reasons." He had been sheriff since 1949. William B. Gas Line Size To Be Doubled

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. plans to spend $7,500 to $8,000 soon to install 1,900 feet of new 4-inch main on Valley Ave., W. T. McIntyre, area manager, advised Council Monday night.

Replacing a 2-inch line, the 4-inch main will improve service to about 50 customers on Valley Ave. and others on Price St., to which it will be linked, McIntyre explained. Starting at Pennsylvania Ave., the new line will be "tied in" with the Price St. main, he said.

About 800 to 1,000 feet of the new line will lie in the city and the balance will be in Liverpool Township, McIntyre said. Because the street is narrow, only 300 to 400 feet of the ditch will be opened at a time, in order to interfere with traffic movement as little as possible, McIntyre said.

No definite date has been set for the start of the project, which will be handled by the company's local crews, he added. The announcement to Council was in line with the company's policy of keeping the community posted on its operations, McIntyre said.

Woman, 52, Killed In Car-Truck Crash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 52-year-old woman was fatally injured in suburban Upper Arlington Monday when her car collided with a truck dispatched from her husband's office.

Mrs. Russell L. Carter, 52, of near Columbus, died in University Hospital four hours after the crash.

The truck driver, Walter Cordle, 55, of Columbus, who had been working weekends on the Carter's farm and knew the couple well, was cited for failure to yield to the car on the right. Officers said they are also considering a second-degree manslaughter charge.

About 800 to 1,000 feet of the new line will lie in the city and the balance will be in Liverpool Township, McIntyre said. Because the street is narrow, only 300 to 400 feet of the ditch will be opened at a time, in order to interfere with traffic movement as little as possible, McIntyre said.

No definite date has been set for the start of the project, which will be handled by the company's local crews, he added. The announcement to Council was in line with the company's policy of keeping the community posted on its operations, McIntyre said.

Woman, 52, Killed In Car-Truck Crash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 52-year-old woman was fatally injured in suburban Upper Arlington Monday when her car collided with a truck dispatched from her husband's office.

Mrs. Russell L. Carter, 52, of near Columbus, died in University Hospital four hours after the crash.

The truck driver, Walter Cordle, 55, of Columbus, who had been working weekends on the Carter's farm and knew the couple well, was cited for failure to yield to the car on the right. Officers said they are also considering a second-degree manslaughter charge.

Child Injured On Halted Car

A woman driver told police she managed to halt her auto on W. 4th St. Monday afternoon in time to avoid striking an 8-year-old boy, but the child was hurt when he dashed against the side of the motionless car.

Richard Grafton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Grafton, 310 W. 4th St., suffered loss of two teeth and lacerations of the chin when he ran into the side of a 1952 two-door sedan driven by Linda Scott, 23, of 422 W. 5th St., police said. The child was treated at City Hospital. The mishap was timed about 4 p. m.

The woman was cited for operating an auto without a license. She forfeited a $31 bond today in Municipal Court. She told police she was driving east on W. 4th St. "at a low rate of speed" when she saw the child run from the curb into the street. Although she halted the car, the child ran into its side, injuring himself, the driver said.

One other mishap was reported in East Liverpool overnight. A collision at Dresden Ave. and Smith St. Monday at 11 p. m. damaged an auto driven by Doris Locke, 1515 Wyoming Ave., and a 1959 model convertible operated by Robert Lindsay, 28, of Clinton, N. C., police said.

Weirton Man Fined In Phony Check Case

A Weirton man was fined $50 and costs after pleading guilty to a bad check charge at a hearing Monday before Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville.

William Ralph Lytle, 3446 Main St., Weirton, alias Williams Parsons, was charged with attempting to defraud by "drawing a check without credit." He was picked up in East Liverpool Friday on a warrant signed by Wellsville authorities.

Parsons cashed a $10 check at the 356 Bar in Wellsville May 22. James Ross, part owner, cashed the check which was made to Parsons and drawn against an account at the Potters Bank & Trust Co. in East Liverpool.

3 Men At Wellsville Fined After Argument

Three Wellsville men involved in an argument at 14th and Main Sts. Monday night were fined for disorderly conduct on charges and counter-charges filed against each other in Mayor William J. Shoub's court.

Raymond Jackson, rear 1124 White St., was fined $25 each on charges of disorderly conduct and using a knife in a menacing manner.

The charges were filed by Joseph Jack DeSarro, 1137 Commerce St. Walter W. Sloan, 1033 Commerce St., was also fined $25 for disorderly conduct on charges filed by DeSarro and then DeSarro was fined $25 for the same thing on a charge filed by Sloan.

Police said they never learned exactly what the argument was about.

Street Markers Asked In St. Clair

A request for street markers and house numbering for Lowers Addition was submitted by a delegation at the St. Clair Township trustees' meeting Monday night.

Grafton Barrett and Charles Watson asked for the numbering as a move to obtain mail delivery in the area. They also requested opening of some clogged ditches.

The trustees promised action on both requests.

Requests for pipe installation along roadways were filed by Norman Hall of Calcutta Rd. and G. L. Hutchinson of Bloomfield. James Reese of Bloomfield requested repair of a catch basin.

William Allen submitted the plat of his first addition, Lincoln Heights, along Route 7-30 west of Sub-station.

Child Injured On Halted Car

A woman driver told police she managed to halt her auto on W. 4th St. Monday afternoon in time to avoid striking an 8-year-old boy, but the child was hurt when he dashed against the side of the motionless car.

Richard Grafton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Grafton, 310 W. 4th St., suffered loss of two teeth and lacerations of the chin when he ran into the side of a 1952 two-door sedan driven by Linda Scott, 23, of 422 W. 5th St., police said. The child was treated at City Hospital. The mishap was timed about 4 p. m.

The woman was cited for operating an auto without a license. She forfeited a $31 bond today in Municipal Court. She told police she was driving east on W. 4th St. "at a low rate of speed" when she saw the child run from the curb into the street. Although she halted the car, the child ran into its side, injuring himself, the driver said.

One other mishap was reported in East Liverpool overnight. A collision at Dresden Ave. and Smith St. Monday at 11 p. m. damaged an auto driven by Doris Locke, 1515 Wyoming Ave., and a 1959 model convertible operated by Robert Lindsay, 28, of Clinton, N. C., police said.

Weirton Man Fined In Phony Check Case

A Weirton man was fined $50 and costs after pleading guilty to a bad check charge at a hearing Monday before Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville.

William Ralph Lytle, 3446 Main St., Weirton, alias Williams Parsons, was charged with attempting to defraud by "drawing a check without credit." He was picked up in East Liverpool Friday on a warrant signed by Wellsville authorities.

Parsons cashed a $10 check at the 356 Bar in Wellsville May 22. James Ross, part owner, cashed the check which was made to Parsons and drawn against an account at the Potters Bank & Trust Co. in East Liverpool.

3 Men At Wellsville Fined After Argument

Three Wellsville men involved in an argument at 14th and Main Sts. Monday night were fined for disorderly conduct on charges and counter-charges filed against each other in Mayor William J. Shoub's court.

Raymond Jackson, rear 1124 White St., was fined $25 each on charges of disorderly conduct and using a knife in a menacing manner.

The charges were filed by Joseph Jack DeSarro, 1137 Commerce St. Walter W. Sloan, 1033 Commerce St., was also fined $25 for disorderly conduct on charges filed by DeSarro and then DeSarro was fined $25 for the same thing on a charge filed by Sloan.

Police said they never learned exactly what the argument was about.

Street Markers Asked In St. Clair

A request for street markers and house numbering for Lowers Addition was submitted by a delegation at the St. Clair Township trustees' meeting Monday night.

Grafton Barrett and Charles Watson asked for the numbering as a move to obtain mail delivery in the area. They also requested opening of some clogged ditches.

The trustees promised action on both requests.

Requests for pipe installation along roadways were filed by Norman Hall of Calcutta Rd. and G. L. Hutchinson of Bloomfield. James Reese of Bloomfield requested repair of a catch basin.

William Allen submitted the plat of his first addition, Lincoln Heights, along Route 7-30 west of Sub-station.

Khrushchev And Capitalism

It is not easy to decide whether Premier Khrushchef is trying to reassure himself or frighten us when he talks about the forthcoming burial of capitalism. In all probability, he is saying what he wants to come true, the same as U.S. spokesmen have said that the Communist conspiracy carries the seeds of its own destruction inside itself and will be destroyed.

Neither prediction can be justified by what is known about capitalism and communism. They are not static ideas that wait the impact of forces that will destroy them. Today's capitalism bears only a faint resemblance to the capitalism that Karl Marx knew about and loathed. Today's communism could not be recognized by the original Marxists.

Capitalism has been drastically transformed by the distribution of ownership shares among millions who would have been trapped in proletarianism in the world of Marx. Communism has been transformed by the exigencies of socialistic practice. Even in Britain, when the socialists of the Labor party won control of the government for a short time they learned to their dismay that their ideas had to be revised in a hurry.

The truth is that the Russian political aristocrats who determine from day to day and week to week what should be done in the name of Marxism are guided by expediency more than creed. And the corresponding truth about capitalism is that it never had a creed, other than proposals by a few economists whose ideas never were regarded as anything but arguing points.

Capitalism's essence has been its flexibility —its absence of rigid rules and prescribed practices. The only definitive test was whether or not a practice worked. That continues to be the only test.

After an uncertain start, communism, too, is becoming more pragmatic. But there still hovers over everything the shadow of Marxism and the ghosts of doctrines that died a-borning.

Premier Khrushchev knows how annoying it is to capitalists to hear him say they are doomed to failure and extinction. It is just as annoying to communists to know that capitalists are waiting for them to collapse and never be heard of again.

But if each side were to define exactly what it means when it refers to the thing that is going to be heard of no more it would be clear that such a thing does not exist.

Russian Communists are striving to make their system work some day as well as American capitalists have made their system work for a long time. They will adapt it in whatever way seems necessary, exactly as capitalists have adapted themselves to necessity.

In a hundred years, the result will be hard to classify under definitions of economic doctrine current today. But it will be more like capitalism than communism for the obvious reason that doctrinaire communism never has worked anywhere on earth and never can, because it goes contrary to human nature.

—But Don't Go Near The Water!

The high death rate for Memorial Day continued to make the impression that has been made by every warm-weather holiday for the last few years — that the most dangerous thing people can do is to risk their lives in and on water.

Drowning is the fourth most important cause of fatal accidents in the United States, close behind burns. The largest single cause, of course, is auto traffic, with falls a strong second.

But falls are from numerous causes and occur 365 days a year, burns also are a year-around hazard. The frightening thing about drowning is that its victims are exposed to this hazard only during a few months of the year and even during summer relatively few people go near the water.

If there were a statistical basis to show how many drowning deaths occur relative to the total number of people who expose themselves to the danger, it would be apparent that the hazard to be most concerned about is water, not traffic.

A vivid demonstration occurred in Ohio during Memorial Day weekend — from Friday night to midnight on Sunday. Against 21 traffic fatalities plus an undetermined number of traffic injuries, there were 13 drownings. Non-fatal water accidents do not cause the serious injuries inflicted by auto accidents, furthermore, many believe that auto injuries, if their extent were publicized, would be even more frightening than the fatality total — that many times the dead were lucky to die instead of being crippled and maimed.

Every weekend this summer and particularly Independence Day and Labor Day will bring the same story with the same moral: Don't go near the water if you want to avoid the most dangerous thing lying in wait for you.

Technological Revolution Of Cookery

There was a day in America when all cookery was primitive, only outdoor cookery was more so.

Cookery fuel was wood — chopped to fitting lengths for cookstoves and catch-as-catch-can for outdoor cooking.

All utensils, even the indoor kind, were crude, bearing the unmistakable signs of hard, utilitarian use.

Not only the fuel and the utensils were crude, but the food was crude. When it is considered that our pioneer ancestors subsisted on what they could shoot and dig up on the trail and on the things they could raise and buy in job lots in the crude town stores of their day, it is more than just a nagging small wonder that they survived at all.

But they did survive, proving if they proved nothing else that most of what man thinks he needs to hold body and soul together is the product of his imagination, not the stern demand of necessity.

Thoughts like these come to mind when reading about the prospects for another season of outdoor cookery, newest realm of revolution in the living habits of modern Americans.

For instance, a pair of asbestos gloves. . . And a water sprinkler. . .

Plus a variety of devices for making the charcoal ignite . . .

That's modern living! Yet some modern males who do outdoor cooking learned the art while huddled over a fire of sticks built in the lee of a rock, waiting for the flames to die down so they could dangle a limp steak over the coals on a green-wood stick while balancing a coffee pot on the edge of the rock.

They baked potatoes in mud packs dredged from a creek bank and fished the salt out of a pocket. Cooking time for a steak was roughly the same as that required to burn the twig on which it dangled, and if the fire began to spread the flames were stomped out with the stomping end of a pair of elk-skin high-tops.

You can't beat the goodies the outdoor cooks turn out with the aid of their grills, processed fuel, fancy utensils — and their asbestos gloves.

But you couldn't beat it the old way either, with no gloves at all. If something was too hot to handle, you merely wrapped it in a shirt-tail and picked it up that way, or nosed it into cooler quarters with the toe of the same shoe still muddy from the creek bank.

It must be not only the cooking but the outdoors that tastes good.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dr. Vladimir Demikhov, Moscow, U.S.S.R.

Dear Doc: So you have succeeded in grafting an extra head on a dog. You have put the head of a poodle puppy on a German shepherd and produced a two-headed pooch.

This may be important to science but it is unimportant to dogs. Two-headed dogs are in no demand. And since human beings are satisfied with one head and have asked for no spare, what's it all about?

My guess is that you are not a dog lover and never were moved by the boundless devotion of a pup around the house.

MOST FOLKS appreciate dogs. They are friendly toward them. How would you like to be a two-headed Russian doctor? How would you feel if Izvestia or Pravda wanted a story about your experiments and sent over a two-headed reporter?

I may be wrong but I have a hunch you hurriedly pass store windows full of playful pups, scoff at dog shows and never in boyhood romped the fields with an Airedale named "Rusty."

My feeling is that you never had a pooch which went into hysterical glee when you greeted it in the morning and came bouncing to the doorway at your first footfalls at dusk. Otherwise, you would have felt that a dog was perfect with only one head and could not use two to advantage.

I hope you are not planning to put two heads on humans and maybe produce multiple-headed Russians. One-headed Russians are troublesome enough. Whatever your scientific aims are it will be okay by me if you get bitten by both dog-heads.

Yours truly,
Elmer

Sen. Stuart Symington gets the current nod as the most likely Democratic presidential nominee. He has been so long identified with aeronautics that his slogan could be "From box kite to the White House."

U.S. AUTO BUILDERS have decided to spring a midget model. For more than half a century Detroit has found customers go for a machine that combines the features of a circus wagon, steam calliope and a Mardi Gras float. Prestige has been Mr. and Mrs. America's goal and they have believed it came through long wheel base, de luxe trimmings and superdooper engines. The idea has been to keep up with the Joneses. But the Joneses are beginning to surrender in the struggle to keep up with the gas bills. Midget-car buyers make these points:

1. A man might as well get stalled in modern traffic in a car eight feet long as 20.
2. Getting a ticket from traffic cop is more fun. The cop has to stoop or bend.

Putting His Foot In It?

Labor Law Offers Watchdog Unit

By Victor Riesel

Night after night, for weeks before that dawn dragnet pulled in 21 Mafia men, federal agents trailed them and virtually put the mobsters to bed.

Victor Riesel

And day after day reports of the mob "meets" were turned in revealing a score of rackets most of which are woven around "controlled" unions.

At least six of those indicted, after the federal Narcotics Bureau raids, are big time labor racketeers. Some operate small unions. Some run labor relations outfits. Some just convince their clients by muscle.

Now the tailing is over. The federals have other work to do. There isn't enough federal manpower to trail the hoods and protect the good.

Furthermore, sometime in July the McClellan committee sleuths go out of business. But the heat may not be off—especially if the Senate's Kennedy—Erwin bill becomes law with a certain clause in it intact. That's now up in the House of Representatives where the debate is raging.

THIS SECTION has not been discussed anywhere in the public prints. Lest it be ignored, as it has been for months by the entire nation, let it be made public here.

The forbidding clause, should it become law by passage in the House of Representatives, sets up a 15-man watchdog committee for the entire nation.

To the technicians who wrote it into the proposed reform law it is known as Section 502 of Title 5 of S555, officially listed as the Labor - Management reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959.

If it really becomes law, this 15-man committee could become, in effect, a new racket-busting group.

The new committee would have the power to search through the land for violations of codes of ethics and breaking of each section of the reform bill. It could spotlight racket rings, looting, violence and anti-democratic control of unions.

It could probe attacks such as the recent beating of two Ladies Garment Workers Union officials. It could look into industry. This means it could seek out areas into which the mobs have moved and are terrorizing legitimate businessmen.

THIS COMMITTEE would be made up of three groups.

Five will be chosen by the secretary of labor from a panel nominated by national unions, five from selections offered by employer associations, "industrywide or national in scope," and five shall represent the public.

Such a combination of men would have to be of national crusading stature, for each panel would naturally be the best each group could find.

Under this virtually unknown section of the proposed reform bill, the committee has the right to call on the secretary of labor for all the technical help and data it needs and wants. This material would be considerable. Under this law the U.S. secretary of labor has the right to subpena books of unions and examine its officers.

Specifically the committee is charged with advising "the secretary in the administration of the act." This means it probes and tells the Cabinet member where it believes the law is being broken or not properly enforced.

UNDER THE BILL, the committee has the right to meet and investigate and advise any time five of its members want a session.

Or the secretary of labor can summon the group whenever he wishes. But it must meet at least four times a year.

There is no limit on the length of each session nor on what may be probed. Nor is there any word prohibiting the committee from meeting in public under the eyes and ears of newsmen, TV cameras and mikes.

And when the committee has probed and reported to the secretary of labor, he must, in turn, report to Congress on how goes the fight on the rackets and one-man rule.

The secretary of labor must do this not later than three years after passage of the Act.

I thought you'd like to know what's in the law.

The Long Brothers

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Those two Louisiana brothers, Gov. Earl K. Long and onetime Sen. Huey P. Long, had some things in common besides a thirst for power and the persuasiveness to get the people of the state to give it to them.

In a sense they were political primitives with passionate bursts of fury, unbelievable energy, roughness, toughness, profanity.

They turned name-calling into a kind of art form.

The front page stories of Gov. Long's violent and vituperative screaming and shouting for more than an hour in the state Legislature last week may have shocked those with no schooling in Louisiana politics.

But the people of the state, particularly those friends and critics who urged him to seek medical care after his performance, were probably more disturbed by the length of what he did than by the nature of it.

They were used to it, but not to this degree. This time Long outdid himself. He seemed to know it for he went to a psychiatric hospital and is under observation there now.

If this is the end of his career, it is quieter than his brother's. Huey was assassinated in 1935. These brothers could win elections overwhelmingly. But both had big blocs of enemies. Many people hated Huey. Those familiar with the inside of recent Louisiana politics say many hate Earl, too.

This writer, who worked in Louisiana 14 years, knew both brothers and, although I met them years apart, the first meeting with each showed some of the similarity between them. What they said was not meant for the ears of little children.

In 1927, one week after I had found a job on the New Orleans Item-Tribune and before Huey Long had become nationally famous, the city editor told me to run down to a hotel and ask Long what he was doing in town. I asked who he was.

The city editor said: "Oh, he's just another one of those candidates for governor." What he didn't tell me was that Long and the Item-Tribune were nasty enemies. I went to the hotel, called Long on the house telephone. I told him I was a reporter from the Item-Tribune and wanted to see him.

He shouted into the phone: "A reporter from the Item-Tribune. I wouldn't talk to a reporter from that—— ——newspaper if it was the last —— ——newspaper in the world. That —— —— newspaper is to newspaper work what the red light district is to the city."

Twelve years later, although I had seen Earl Long many times, I went to a downtown hotel to interview him for the first time.

Gov. Richard Leche, overwhelmed by the developing Louisiana scandals at the time and soon to be sent to the penitentiary for his part in them, had just resigned and Earl Long, lieutenant governor, had succeeded him and was going to run for a full term on his own in the 1940 elections.

I was then with The Associated Press, which took no sides in Louisiana politics. But I went to the hotel with a reporter from the Times-Picayune, which did, and which had been a foe of the Long machine for years. We knocked on Long's door.

He came out, glared at the Times-Picayune man, said: "Who are you? What do you want?" The reporter told him what paper he was from. Long let go at him and his newspaper in language which couldn't be printed but which made hilarious retelling when we got back to our offices.

Yet this writer followed Gov. Long around Louisiana in the bitter winter of 1939-40, when he was campaigning for a full term, which he didn't get, and his energy and endurance were fantastic.

He would start out to make a speech at 7 a. m. and wind up at midnight. He would travel all day through icy rain and talk in the cold and downpour without hat or overcoat. As I remember it, every other member of Long's ticket went down with influenza or pneumonia before election day. Not Long.

I never saw any rough stuff around Earl. But Huey walked the earth surrounded by men whom his friends called bodyguards. His critics called them gunmen. They made a hobby of beating up newspapermen. Once they fractured an Associated Press photographer's skull with a blackjack.

In the end they weren't able to save Long from what he dreaded most: sudden death.

Conflicting Conclusions

By David Lawrence

Geneva Offers Hope And Discouragement

GENEVA

Two contradictory conclusions can be reached as this correspondent leaves the scene of the four power conference after three weeks of first hand study and private talks with various officials of Western countries.

David Lawrence

One is that the conference is a complete failure and the other is that nothing is a failure which involves continuous talk rather than war between two adversaries.

Within a few days the Geneva sessions will end with a communique that will gloss over the true deadlock on fundamental issues. A minor agreement will be made to recognize formally the previous rights of the Western countries in their sector of Berlin. It will be hailed as an "interim solution."

It will have one advantage — it will confirm the legal rights of the West and set them forth more clearly than was done in the fuzzily worded agreements after the end of World War II.

But basically what was the conference all about? Nikita Khrushchev issued an ultimatum last October demanding that the Western troops get out of their part of Berlin and then abandoned the demand temporarily when he got his way — a Four Power conference and a promise of a summit meeting. Judged by what has been revealed at Geneva even a summit meeting is foredoomed to failure, too, in the sense that no solution of Europe's over-all problem is likely to be agreed upon.

WHEN SUCH a summit meeting —which would last just a week or so — is over, the same subjects will be turned over to another foreign ministers' conference to be discussed further. Already the West has found itself approving of protracted and prolonged negotiations that may extend over a period of years.

What is all this getting the people of the world? Is there any chance of a program of disarmament to relieve taxpayers of their big burdens? Is there a possibility of a ban on the further production of nuclear weapons, as the United States had advocated?

The answer is that, when it suits Mr. Khrushchev to make a concession that is in his own interest, he may give a crumb here and there in exchange for something he really wants.

But the over-all picture will not change as a result of mere negotiations. The reason is that Western pressure upon Khrushchev is not military and cannot be and no pressure is being exerted from the outside that seems likely as yet to affect him.

What then is the answer and from whence will it come? This correspondent is convinced the answer will come from the peoples behind the Iron Curtain and particularly from the people in the Soviet Union itself. Khrushchev himself is trying desperately to get world prestige.

THE WEST is involuntarily helping him. He is not popular inside the Soviet Union or with the members of his own party. He is regarded as something of a clown by lots of his own people. To the outside world he is a man with immense power. But his power could crumble overnight if the 200 million people inside the Soviet Union decided to ditch him.

Are there any outward signs of it? Revolutionaries don't advertise in advance their plans or their feelings. Prior to the outbreak against the czar in 1917, there were no such signs either but, when the revolt came, the army and the secret police went over to the revolution instantly.

Inside the Soviet Union competent observers find that Communism as a doctrine is accepted as preferable to capitalism. That's not novel. Even inside the United States and Britain there are prominent politicians who are anti-capitalist and who favor socialistic policies in the economic field.

Inside the Soviet Union criticism of Communism is growing. The argument is that it isn't achieving its professed ideals. The discussion is about way to improve its operation. The question is whether the present regime can in the long run satisfy the present criticism, which is bound to increase because many of Khrushchev's policies and programs are inadequate even from the standpoint of Communist doctrine.

THE WEST can continue to talk. It can watch the process inside the Soviet Union as an interested spectator and do nothing. But the West can hasten the day of revolution inside the Soviet Union by refusing to play up to Khrushchev or help him politically inside his own country.

To go to a summit conference and let a lot of pictures be printed throughout the Communist world showing President Eisenhower fraternizing with the cruel and ruthless Khrushchev is to disheartem millions of liberty - loving people in the satellite countries as well as in the Soviet Union itself.

There are those in the West who think Khrushchev can be converted to reasonableness and decency. There were in the 1930s many who thought "you could do business with Hitler."

There is only one possible advantage in talking to a dictator and that's of limited scope. It is to use the occasion to publicize before the whole world the cause of freedom — not with the idea of penetrating the deaf ears of the dictator himself but to instill courage and hope in the hearts and minds of all the peoples behind the Iron Curtain who must some day exert their true power to attain their freedom.

Monday For The Holidays

By Truman Twill

It is my impression there was more confusion than usual this year about celebrating the Memorial Day holiday, what with the great day itself coming on Saturday, which already was a day off for a lot of people who thereupon wanted another day off so they could have one for the holiday and one for their ordinary day-off pursuits.

It became downright confusing in some places, such as the state of New Jersey, where a governor had to take his political life in his hands to get it straightened out. I am not sure what it proves and I shudder to think of what it cost, but it points up the dire necessity of regularizing our national holidays.

All of them should occur on Monday.

Understand, I do not expect there is going to be anything done about this in the near future, but it has been a sound idea ever since calendar reform excited interest earlier in this century. It will continue to be a sound idea until something finally is done about it.

All that would be necessary as far as holidays like Memorial Day, Thanksgiving, Independence Day and Labor Day are concerned is to regularize the laws and proclamations. All of them were decided arbitrarily in the first place. The only one with truly historic justification is Labor Day, which falls on Monday anyway, as it should.

Religious holidays, of course, are tougher to deal with and can be left undisturbed for a few more hundred years. But it should be borne in mind that they, too, were decided arbitrarily at one time and that historically the events they commemorate did not happen on the days when they now are celebrated.

The whole purpose of regularizing the holidays is to make them more enjoyable by taking the irregularity out of them. The specific purpose of making them all fall on Monday is the two-day and three - day weekends they would make possible. In industry, particularly, nothing is less efficient and more upsetting that a mid-week shutdown.

Everything goes haywire. The holiday becomes a kind of managerial nightmare, to say nothing of what it turns into for millions of people who are thrown off stride for one day, then must try to get back into it the next day.

To many of us whose jobs go on day in and day out, it makes no particular difference one way or another. Whenever a holiday occurs, we make up for it afterward, or do extra duty before. Even so, this is one of the few times in a newspaper lifetime I enjoyed a double day off in connection with a holiday.

It didn't matter too much that the newspaper was published on both Saturday and Sunday, or that Saturday seemed to be Sunday and Sunday seemed to be Monday. For two whole days in a row, I could sleep past getting-up time if I felt like it, which I did. For two whole days in a row, I could ponder the significance of the occasion and fly my American flag atop my little home-made flagpole, except when it was raining.

Independence Day falls on Saturday this year too. Labor Day is where it should be on Monday. But Thanksgiving, as usual, will be on Thursday and Christmas will be on Friday. That's no good, no good at all.

Khrushchev And Capitalism

It is not easy to decide whether Premier Khrushchef is trying to reassure himself or frighten us when he talks about the forthcoming burial of capitalism. In all probability, he is saying what he wants to come true, the same as U.S. spokesmen have said that the Communist conspiracy carries the seeds of its own destruction inside itself and will be destroyed.

Neither prediction can be justified by what is known about capitalism and communism. They are not static ideas that wait the impact of forces that will destroy them. Today's capitalism bears only a faint resemblance to the capitalism that Karl Marx knew about and loathed. Today's communism could not be recognized by the original Marxists.

Capitalism has been drastically transformed by the distribution of ownership shares among millions who would have been trapped in proletarianism in the world of Marx. Communism has been transformed by the exigencies of socialistic practice. Even in Britain, when the socialists of the Labor party won control of the government for a short time they learned to their dismay that their ideas had to be revised in a hurry.

The truth is that the Russian political aristocrats who determine from day to day and week to week what should be done in the name of Marxism are guided by expediency more than creed. And the corresponding truth about capitalism is that it never had a creed, other than proposals by a few economists whose ideas never were regarded as anything but arguing points.

Capitalism's essence has been its flexibility —its absence of rigid rules and prescribed practices. The only definitive test was whether or not a practice worked. That continues to be the only test.

After an uncertain start, communism, too, is becoming more pragmatic. But there still hovers over everything the shadow of Marxism and the ghosts of doctrines that died a-borning.

Premier Khrushchev knows how annoying it is to capitalists to hear him say they are doomed to failure and extinction. It is just as annoying to communists to know that capitalists are waiting for them to collapse and never be heard of again.

But if each side were to define exactly what it means when it refers to the thing that is going to be heard of no more it would be clear that such a thing does not exist.

Russian Communists are striving to make their system work some day as well as American capitalists have made their system work for a long time. They will adapt it in whatever way seems necessary, exactly as capitalists have adapted themselves to necessity.

In a hundred years, the result will be hard to classify under definitions of economic doctrine current today. But it will be more like capitalism than communism for the obvious reason that doctrinaire communism never has worked anywhere on earth and never can, because it goes contrary to human nature.

—But Don't Go Near The Water!

The high death rate for Memorial Day continued to make the impression that has been made by every warm-weather holiday for the last few years — that the most dangerous thing people can do is to risk their lives in and on water.

Drowning is the fourth most important cause of fatal accidents in the United States, close behind burns. The largest single cause, of course, is auto traffic, with falls a strong second.

But falls are from numerous causes and occur 365 days a year, burns also are a year-around hazard. The frightening thing about drowning is that its victims are exposed to this hazard only during a few months of the year and even during summer relatively few people go near the water.

If there were a statistical basis to show how many drowning deaths occur relative to the total number of people who expose themselves to the danger, it would be apparent that the hazard to be most concerned about is water, not traffic.

A vivid demonstration occurred in Ohio during Memorial Day weekend — from Friday night to midnight on Sunday. Against 21 traffic fatalities plus an undetermined number of traffic injuries, there were 13 drownings. Nonfatal water accidents do not cause the serious injuries inflicted by auto accidents, furthermore, many believe that auto injuries, if their extent were publicized, would be even more frightening than the fatality total — that many times the dead were lucky to die instead of being crippled and maimed.

Every weekend this summer and particularly Independence Day and Labor Day will bring the same story with the same moral: Don't go near the water if you want to avoid the most dangerous thing lying in wait for you.

Technological Revolution Of Cookery

There was a day in America when all cookery was primitive, only outdoor cookery was more so.

Cookery fuel was wood — chopped to fitting lengths for cookstoves and catch-as-catch-can for outdoor cooking.

All utensils, even the indoor kind, were crude, bearing the unmistakable signs of hard, utilitarian use.

Not only the fuel and the utensils were crude, but the food was crude. When it is considered that our pioneer ancestors subsisted on what they could shoot and dig up on the trail and on the things they could raise and buy in job lots in the crude town stores of their day, it is more than just a nagging small wonder that they survived at all.

But they did survive, proving if they proved nothing else that most of what man thinks he needs to hold body and soul together is the product of his imagination, not the stern demand of necessity.

Thoughts like these come to mind when reading about the prospects for another season of outdoor cookery, newest realm of revolution in the living habits of modern Americans.

For instance, a pair of asbestos gloves. . . And a water sprinkler. . .

Plus a variety of devices for making the charcoal ignite . . .

That's modern living! Yet some modern males who do outdoor cooking learned the art while huddled over a fire of sticks built in the lee of a rock, waiting for the flames to die down so they could dangle a limp steak over the coals on a green-wood stick while balancing a coffee pot on the edge of the rock.

They baked potatoes in mud packs dredged from a creek bank and fished the salt out of a pocket. Cooking time for a steak was roughly the same as that required to burn the twig on which it dangled, and if the fire began to spread the flames were stomped out with the stomping end of a pair of elk-skin high-tops.

You can't beat the goodies the outdoor cooks turn out with the aid of their grills, processed fuel, fancy utensils — and their asbestos gloves.

But you couldn't beat it the old way either, with no gloves at all. If something was too hot to handle, you merely wrapped it in a shirt-tail and picked it up that way, or nosed it into cooler quarters with the toe of the same shoe still muddy from the creek bank.

It must be not only the cooking but the outdoors that tastes good.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dr. Vladimir Demikhov, Moscow, U.S.S.R.

Dear Doc: So you have succeeded in grafting an extra head on a dog. You have put the head of a poodle puppy on a German shepherd and produced a two-headed pooch.

This may be important to science but it is unimportant to dogs. Two-headed dogs are in no demand. And since human beings are satisfied with one head and have asked for no spare, what's it all about?

My guess is that you are not a dog lover and never were moved by the boundless devotion of a pup around the house.

MOST FOLKS appreciate dogs. They are friendly toward them. How would you like to be a two-headed Russian doctor? How would you feel if Izvestia or Pravda wanted a story about your experiments and sent over a two-headed reporter?

I may be wrong but I have a hunch you hurriedly pass store windows full of playful pups, scoff at dog shows and never in boyhood romped the fields with an Airedale named "Rusty."

My feeling is that you never had a pooch which went into hysterical glee when you greeted it in the morning and came bouncing to the doorway at your first footfalls at dusk. Otherwise, you would have felt that a dog was perfect with only one head and could not use two to advantage.

I hope you are not planning to put two heads on humans and maybe produce multiple-headed Russians. One-headed Russians are troublesome enough. Whatever your scientific aims are it will be okay by me if you get bitten by both dog-heads.

Yours truly,
Elmer

Putting His Foot In It?

Labor Law Offers Watchdog Unit

By Victor Riesel

Night after night, for weeks before that dawn dragnet pulled in 21 Mafia men, federal agents trailed them and virtually put the mobsters to bed.

Victor Riesel

And day after day reports of the mob "meets" were turned in revealing a score of rackets most of which are woven around "controlled" unions.

At least six of those indicted, after the federal Narcotics Bureau raids, are big time labor racketeers. Some operate small unions. Some run labor relations outfits. Some just convince their clients by muscle.

Now the tailing is over. The federals have other work to do. There isn't enough federal manpower to trail the hoods and protect the good.

Furthermore, sometime in July the McClellan committee sleuths go out of business. But the heat may not be off—especially if the Senate's Kennedy—Erwin bill becomes law with a certain clause in it intact. That's now up in the House of Representatives where the debate is raging.

THIS SECTION has not been discussed anywhere in the public prints. Lest it be ignored, as it has been for months by the entire nation, let it be made public here.

The forbidding clause, should it become law by passage in the House of Representatives, sets up a 15-man watchdog committee for the entire nation.

To the technicians who wrote it into the proposed reform law it is known as Section 502 of Title 5 of S555, officially listed as the Labor - Management reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959.

If it really becomes law, this 15-man committee could become, in effect, a new racket-busting group.

The new committee would have the power to search through the land for violations of codes of ethics and breaking of each section of the reform bill. It could spotlight racket rings, looting, violence and anti-democratic control of unions.

It could probe attacks such as the recent beating of two Ladies Garment Workers Union officials. It could look into industry. This means it could seek out areas into which the mobs have moved and are terrorizing legitimate businessmen.

THIS COMMITTEE would be made up of three groups.

Five will be chosen by the secretary of labor from a panel nominated by national unions, five from selections offered by employer associations, "industrywide or national in scope," and five shall represent the public.

Such a combination of men would have to be of national crusading stature, for each panel would naturally be the best each group could find.

Under this virtually unknown section of the proposed reform bill, the committee has the right to call on the secretary of labor for all the technical help and data it needs and wants. This material would be considerable. Under this law the U.S. secretary of labor has the right to subpena books of unions and examine its officers.

Specifically the committee is charged with advising "the secretary in the administration of the act." This means it probes and tells the Cabinet member where it believes the law is being broken or not properly enforced.

UNDER THE BILL, the committee has the right to meet and investigate and advise any time five of its members want a session.

Or the secretary of labor can summon the group whenever he wishes. But it must meet at least four times a year.

There is no limit on the length of each session nor on what may be probed. Nor is there any word prohibiting the committee from meeting in public under the eyes and ears of newsmen, TV cameras and mikes.

And when the committee has probed and reported to the secretary of labor, he must, in turn, report to Congress on how goes the fight on the rackets and one-man rule.

The secretary of labor must do this not later than three years after passage of the Act.

I thought you'd like to know what's in the law.

The Long Brothers

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Those two Louisiana brothers, Gov. Earl K. Long and onetime Sen. Huey P. Long, had some things in common besides a thirst for power and the persuasiveness to get the people of the state to give it to them.

In a sense they were political primitives with passionate bursts of fury, unbelievable energy, roughness, toughness, profanity.

They turned name-calling into a kind of art form.

The front page stories of Gov. Long's violent and vituperative screaming and shouting for more than an hour in the state Legislature last week may have shocked those with no schooling in Louisiana politics.

But the people of the state, particularly those friends and critics who urged him to seek medical care after his performance, were probably more disturbed by the length of what he did than by the nature of it.

They were used to it, but not to this degree. This time Long outdid himself. He seemed to know it for he went to a psychiatric hospital and is under observation there now.

If this is the end of his career, it is quieter than his brother's. Huey was assassinated in 1935. These brothers could win elections overwhelmingly. But both had big blocs of enemies. Many people hated Huey. Those familiar with the inside of recent Louisiana politics say many hate Earl, too.

This writer, who worked in Louisiana 14 years, knew both brothers and, although I met them years apart, the first meeting with each showed some of the similarity between them. What they said was not meant for the ears of little children.

In 1927, one week after I had found a job on the New Orleans Item-Tribune and before Huey Long had become nationally famous, the city editor told me to run down to a hotel and ask Long what he was doing in town. I asked who he was.

The city editor said: "Oh, he's just another one of those candidates for governor." What he didn't tell me was that Long and the Item-Tribune were nasty enemies. I went to the hotel, called Long on the house telephone. I told him I was a reporter from the Item-Tribune and wanted to see him.

He shouted into the phone: "A reporter from the Item-Tribune. I wouldn't talk to a reporter from that—— ——newspaper if it was the last —— ——newspaper in the world. That —— —— newspaper is to newspaper work what the red light district is to the city."

Twelve years later, although I had seen Earl Long many times, I went to a downtown hotel to interview him for the first time.

Gov. Richard Leche, overwhelmed by the developing Louisiana scandals at the time and soon to be sent to the penitentiary for his part in them, had just resigned and Earl Long, lieutenant governor, had succeeded him and was going to run for a full term on his own in the 1940 elections.

I was then with The Associated Press, which took no sides in Louisiana politics. But I went to the hotel with a reporter from the Times-Picayune, which did, and which had been a foe of the Long machine for years. We knocked on Long's door.

He came out, glared at the Times-Picayune man, said: "Who are you? What do you want?" The reporter told him what paper he was from. Long let go at him and his newspaper in language which couldn't be printed but which made hilarious retelling when we got back to our offices.

Yet this writer followed Gov. Long around Louisiana in the bitter winter of 1939-40, when he was campaigning for a full term, which he didn't get, and his energy and endurance were fantastic.

He would start out to make a speech at 7 a. m. and wind up at midnight. He would travel all day through icy rain and talk in the cold and downpour without hat or overcoat. As I remember it, every other member of Long's ticket went down with influenza or pneumonia before election day. Not Long.

I never saw any rough stuff around Earl. But Huey walked the earth surrounded by men whom his friends called bodyguards. His critics called them gunmen. They made a hobby of beating up newspapermen. Once they fractured an Associated Press photographer's skull with a blackjack.

In the end they weren't able to save Long from what he dreaded most: sudden death.

Conflicting Conclusions

By David Lawrence

Geneva Offers Hope And Discouragement

GENEVA

Two contradictory conclusions can be reached as this correspondent leaves the scene of the four power conference after three weeks of first hand study and private talks with various officials of Western countries.

David Lawrence

One is that the conference is a complete failure and the other is that nothing is a failure which involves continuous talk rather than war between two adversaries.

Within a few days the Geneva sessions will end with a communique that will gloss over the true deadlock on fundamental issues. A minor agreement will be made to recognize formally the previous rights of the Western countries in their sector of Berlin. It will be hailed as an "interim solution."

It will have one advantage — it will confirm the legal rights of the West and set them forth more clearly than was done in the fuzzily worded agreements after the end of World War II.

But basically what was the conference all about? Nikita Khrushchev issued an ultimatum last October demanding that the Western troops get out of their part of Berlin and then abandoned the demand temporarily when he got his way — a Four Power conference and a promise of a summit meeting. Judged by what has been revealed at Geneva even a summit meeting is foredoomed to failure, too, in the sense that no solution of Europe's over-all problem is likely to be agreed upon.

WHEN SUCH a summit meeting —which would last just a week or so — is over, the same subjects will be turned over to another foreign ministers' conference to be discussed further. Already the West has found itself approving of protracted and prolonged negotiations that may extend over a period of years.

What is all this getting the people of the world? Is there any chance of a program of disarmament to relieve taxpayers of their big burdens? Is there a possibility of a ban on the further production of nuclear weapons, as the United States had advocated?

The answer is that, when it suits Mr. Khrushchev to make a concession that is in his own interest, he may give a crumb here and there in exchange for something he really wants.

But the over-all picture will not change as a result of mere negotiations. The reason is that Western pressure upon Khrushchev is not military and cannot be and no pressure is being exerted from the outside that seems likely as yet to affect him.

What then is the answer and from whence will it come? This correspondent is convinced the answer will come from the peoples behind the Iron Curtain and particularly from the people in the Soviet Union itself. Khrushchev himself is trying desperately to get world prestige.

THE WEST is involuntarily helping him. He is not popular inside the Soviet Union or with the members of his own party. He is regarded as something of a clown by lots of his own people. To the outside world he is a man with immense power. But his power could crumble overnight if the 200 million people inside the Soviet Union decided to ditch him.

Are there any outward signs of it? Revolutionaries don't advertise in advance their plans or their feelings. Prior to the outbreak against the czar in 1917, there were no such signs either but, when the revolt came, the army and the secret police went over to the revolution instantly.

Pulitzer Prize Winner Recreates Normandy Invasion, D-Day In 1944

"The first six hours will be the toughest." Don Whitehead, AP correspondent with the First Infantry Division, heard an officer say aboard the ship carrying them to Normandy on D-Day—June 6, 1944. And tough those hours were, testing brave men to the utmost. Here, in the first of four articles on the Allied landings, a former AP newsman and double Pulitzer Prize winner recreates the drama as he lived it.

The first soft layer of dusk had fallen over drab, war-weary London, dropping a veil outside the patched windows of my Chelsea flat. The telephone rang and when I picked up the receiver Ernie Pyle's voice saying: "Hey, Don, come on over and bring your jitters. I'm lonesome."

I left the flat and found a cruising taxi which took me through Hyde Park to the Dorchester Hotel where I found Ernie in his room finishing a column. I helped him edit his story, and then we sat and talked of the coming invasion and the chances for success.

Later we joined a group of correspondents at the Savoy and made a round of London night spots. Behind the blackout curtains there was music, laughter, and a reckless sort of gaiety that overlaid the tension and the loneliness. Dawn was near when the party broke up.

It seemed I had hardly closed my eyes when the phone rang and a voice ordered me to report with my field equipment at an address near Hyde Park. Somehow I sensed that this was the beginning of the great adventure. When I reached the address, I found Ernie, Jack Thompson of the Chicago Tribune, Tex O'Reilly of the New York Herald Tribune, and friends from other campaigns unloading their gear from taxis. It was May 28, 1944.

We loaded into jeeps and were driven from London toward the Channel. We spent the night in a dreary temporary camp and then bid each other goodbye. I was taken to Weymouth and realized suddenly that I was entering the assembly area for the 1st Infantry Division with whom I had campaigned in Sicily.

The hours moved swiftly. Troops filed onto the invasion craft packed into the harbor. Bells rang. Chains clanked. Booted feet clumped on steel decks. Ship loudspeakers blared commands. And then Gen. Eisenhower made his decision and the great invasion fleet moved into the Channel.

Not until we were under way aboard the Chase did I know our destination—the coast of Normandy. Col. George Taylor, commanding the 1st Division's 16th Regiment, unfolded the invasion plan. "The first six hours will be the toughest," I heard him say. "That is the period during which we will be weakest. We've got to open the door. Somebody had to lead the way — and if we fail. Well, then the troops behind us will do the job."

As dawn washed away the darkness, we heard the bombers roaring overhead and saw the faint flashes of exploding bombs on the unseen shore. The loudspeaker voice called a boat number and our group silently clambered over the rail and down the rope net to the little invasion craft bobbing in the high waves. The storm that had swept the Channel the day before still was kicking up trouble.

Our tiny craft circled the Chase for a few minutes and then headed for shore, bobbing like a cork. I was sick and my mouth had the sour taste of vomit and fear. I looked across the water and saw an amphibious tank struggling through the waves. Then the water washed over the turret and it was gone.

Then we saw the beach. Easy Red Beach they called it. Shells exploded in the surf and machine gun bullets whipped up ugly little spouts of water. The roar of naval gunfire engulfed us and there were vicious hisses from shells whipping by our craft.

We moved in with the assault waves toward the jagged barrier of steel rails, barbed wire, concrete blocks and devices planted by the Germans.

The ramp of our craft lowered. We jumped into the surf and waded ashore, throwing ourselves behind a slight bank of shale where thousands of troops were huddled. It was the only protection against the blast of fire from the German positions on a bluff not more than two hundred yards from the water's edge.

Many officers were killed before their craft reached the beach. German guns poured a murderous fire on the craft at close range. Machine gun bullets cut down soldiers as they stepped from the ramps of the boats. Units were landed in the wrong places. Squads and companies were landed without leaders and the men milled about in an agony of confusion with no one to tell them what to do other than burrow into holes in the sand. And still they came, piling up on the beach, shoulder to shoulder.

Machine guns were set up at the water's edge. Mortar crews went into action with the water lapping at the base plate. An occasional tank lumbered out of the water like a prehistoric monster and stopped at the shale bank to blast the enemy.

I remember a wounded youth crying: "Oh, God! Please stop the hurt! Get me out. Get me out!" But there was no one to get him out. Men dug into the gravel with their bare hands until blood ran from their fingertips. Bodies floated in the water and stirred gently with the incoming tide.

I lay on the beach and thought: "This time we have failed. I wonder when they'll come over that bluff and finish this thing." But no gray-clad figures came down the bluff.

And suddenly I felt a strange sort of peace. The panic and fear were gone. If death had to come, then it must. I climbed out of my hole and began doing what I could to help and to watch the bravest men I've ever known.

New Agreements Avert Strikes In Teamsters Union

CLEVELAND (AP)—New contract agreements worked out with the aid of federal conciliators Monday averted strikes threatened by two local units of the Teamsters Union.

One agreement is a two-year contract between Local 436, Excavating and Building Material Drivers Union and the Lumber Institute, which represents about 25 major lumber companies in this area.

It provides for a wage increase of 12 cents an hour, retroactive to May 1, for 250 lumber drivers and an additional 11 cents an hour next May 1. The old wage rate was $2.61½ an hour.

The other agreement is a one-year contract between Van Drivers Local 392 and 61 furniture moving and storage firms.

It covers 340 drivers and calls for a pay increase of 12 cents an hour for local movers and 10 cents for those engaged in long distance hauls. The new rates are $2.62 an hour for local movers and $2.57 for helpers. Over-the-road drivers will get $2.25 an hour plus a daily expense allowance.

Gov. William Francis Quinn of Hawaii wanted to become an actor. He chose law, instead.

School In Charlotte Graduates First Negro

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Gus Roberts, 17, Monday became the first Negro to graduate from Central High School.

He entered the school two years ago when token integration began here and at Winston-Salem and Greensboro. Eleven Negroes attended previously all-white schools in the three cities this year.

Gus' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roberts, and the boy's two sisters and a brother attended the graduatio. exercises. There was no segregated seating in the auditorium. "Everything was real nice," said Gus' father.

School Districts Await $640,000 Distribution

Some $640,000 is to be distributed to school districts in Columbiana County this week—part of more than $35 million in school foundation money, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported.

The distribution includes $155,532 for East Liverpool schools, $187,720 for the county system, $64,051 for Wellsville, $53,103 for Salem, $57,362 for East Palestine, $49,981 for Lisbon, $29,534 for Columbiana and $40,132 for Leetonia.

Ironton Police Launch Probe In Death Of Man, 55

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — A 55-year-old Ironton man who received numerous blows to the head between Thursday night and Saturday is dead, but authorities here are trying to determine just which blow caused his death.

Sylvester (Red) Klass, died Saturday in Ironton General Hospital of a fractured skull after he had been found unconscious on the jail cell floor. Monday, Prosecutor Harold Spears began an investigation.

Thursday night, police picked Klass off the sidewalk in front of a bar where he had been knocked out during a fight. When he fell, witnesses said, the victim hit his head on the concrete.

After a trip to the hospital where he was pronounced in good condition, Klass was put in jail.

Friday, Klass reportedly appeared "intoxicated" when he was arraigned in Municipal Court and was ordered back to his cell.

From then on, fellow prisoners reported, Klass had numerous seizures and fell to the floor several times. The last time, they said, his head hit the floor hard.

He was taken to the hospital, where he died.

Couple To Face Grand Jury On Murder Count

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Mary Margaret Landis, 29, of Columbus, and Air Force S. Sgt. Robert L. Bennett, 26, of Zanesville have been bound over to the Muskingum Grand Jury on charges of first-degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Landis' estranged husband, Patrick, 74.

Landis' body was found May 18 in his gas-filled cottage near here. A towel was knotted around his throat.

Beer Permit Suspended For Cumberland Cafe

West Virginia State Beer Commissioner R. D. Platt has suspended for 26 days — from midnight Thursday through June 30 — the permit of the Capri tavern in Hancock County.

The operator, Daniel Batalo, was charged with illegal sale and possession of liquor and exhibiting a gaming device at the New Cumberland area establishment.

House Launches 2 Days Of Debate On Defense Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was advised today it cannot afford to forget the possibility of a big atomic war.

Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex) sounded that note of caution as the House headed into two days of debate on a bill to provide $32,848,339,000 for the Defense Department for the year starting July 1. Mahon is chairman of the subcommittee which wrote the bill.

The House starts considering amendments to the measure Wednesday. Major fights are in prospect over amendments to increase the size of the Army and the Marine Corps, to restore funds for a super aircraft carrier, and to change the amounts provided for missiles.

The bill provides $399,861,000 less than President Eisenhower requested in new funds.

Patient Needs Police Help To Leave Office

GREELEY, Colo. (AP)—A patient, forgotten in an examination room, needed police help to get out of a doctor's office after closing time Monday.

The doctor and his nurse each thought the other had dismissed the patient, who called police from inside the locked office.

Patrolmen summoned the nurse who opened the door.

Actress Joan Crawford Says She Isn't Broke

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joan Crawford says she isn't broke, not even in this tinsel town where only one swimming pool is a sign of near poverty.

The actress, answering a newspaper article that she "hasn't a sou" to her name, gave this financial breakdown: $60,000-a-year from a soft drink firm; more for being on the company's board, plus her movie earnings.

Her husband, Pepsi-Cola Board Chairman Alfred Steele, died April 19 of a heart attack.

She said she is selling her home in nearby Brentwood and will live in New York for business reasons.

Mrs. Truman Is Due Release From Hospital

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Harry S. Truman will be released from Research Hospital this week to return to her home in nearby Independence.

Tom Faulkner, public relations representative of the hospital, said Monday that Mrs. Truman's condition is very good.

The 74-year-old wife of the former President underwent surgery for removal of a breast tumor May 18. The tumor was not malignant.

'First Six Hours The Toughest'

Pulitzer Prize Winner Recreates Normandy Invasion, D-Day In 1944

"The first six hours will be the toughest." Don Whitehead, AP correspondent with the First Infantry Division, heard an officer say aboard the ship carrying them to Normandy on D-Day—June 6, 1944. And tough those hours were, testing brave men to the utmost. Here, in the first of four articles on the Allied landings, a former AP newsman and double Pulitzer Prize winner recreates the drama as he lived it.

Succeeds Rev. Owens

Ministerial Association Names Rev. C. H. Canon

The Rev. C. Howard Canon, pastor of the Oakland Free Methodist Church, was elected president of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association Monday morning at a meeting in the First Methodist Church.

He succedds the Rev. Russell C. Owens of Grace United Presbyterian Church in East End.

The Rev. James G. Gardner of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church was named vice president and John A. Mostoller of the First Church of Christ was elected secretary-treasurer.

Rev. Canon formerly was vice president and Rev. Gardner was secretary-treasurer.

Donald Baxter of the Ohio Power Co. showed a movie, "Plan For Prosperity.'

William Cooper, a representative of the City Planning Commission, spoke and led a discussion on future plans for the city.

Caesar Peters, president of the local Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, spoke briefly on the United Negro College Fund.

During business conducted by Rev. Owens, the group voted to donate $100 to the Chaplaincy Fund of Columbiana Boy Scout Council.

REV. C. H. CANON
Picked At Monday Session.

The association will not hold summer meetings. The next meeting is scheduled Sept. 7.

Gym

who spoke, concluded with the hope that the new gym will become "a House of Champions" in reference to the high school's basketball teams.

A call for "dedicated lives" was made by George M. Burrier, Midland Works manager of the Crucible Steel Co. of America, in his remarks. He was critical of the "easy-buck" and "something-for-nothing" philosophy he said persists in too many phases of our life today and attacked those who refuse to face up to responsibility and instead follow the path of least resistance.

Also speaking were John F. Shovlin III, who gave the address of welcome as vice president of the Board of Education; H. Curtis Elder, superintendent of Beaver County schools, and Miss Eugenia O'Hara, physical education instructor.

Board members introduced included Frank Aloi, Edward Cilli, James Morrison, John Haggerty, Samuel Rosatone, Shovlin and Roach. Board officers included Miss Bernice Coffin, secretary, Mrs. Eldamae Castelli, treasurer, and Frank Suffoletta of the firm of Masters and Suffoletta, solicitors.

Former members named who contributed to the planning included Frank Gibson, Joseph Hibbard, John E. Kane Jr., Mrs. Zita Reed, R. Alex Rodgers and Rudolph Presutti, borough and school district tax collector.

Other guests attending included George Graff, vice president of finance for Crucible, and William Howell, assistant to the vice president in charge of operations of Crucible.

The invocation was given by the Very Rev. Milorad Dobrota of the St. George Serbian Orthodox Church, the benediction by the Rev. Francis E. Paul of the Presentation Catholic Church and the prayer of dedication by the Rev. W. L. Harris of the Mt. Olive Baptist Church.

John Gypalo, president of the Student Council, led the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Music was played by the high school band under the direction of Charles P. Henderson. Choral selections were presented by the high school chorus, under the direction of C. Lloyd Deffenbaugh, and the elementary school choir under the direction of Miss Despena Gagianas.

An "open house" was held after the ceremonies by Ray Keller, maintenance superintendent. A reception followed by the Band Boosters Club for guests in the music forum of the high school.

The committee for the dedication included Morrison, Roach, Rosatone and Shovlin, board members, Rudolph Presutti, former board member, and Supt. Jewell.

Garbage

"We expect it will reduce the expense of hauling trash all the way to the vicinity of Calcutta, as we do now," the mayor said. "In the operation of the sanitary landfill, we will be able to combine trash and garbage, which means residents no longer will have to have two separate receptacles for garbage and trash.

"Modernly-operated landfills have become accepted practice," the mayor continued. "It permits reclamation of land for other purposes. We hope East Liverpool can improve property so that it can become a worthwhile recreation area. Many communities have been able to develop ball diamonds and park sites."

Regulations laid down by the State Health Department assure that in a sanitary landfill operation "the health of the community will be safeguarded," the mayor said.

After the enabling legislation was read, Clerk Raymond Goodman asked Councilman A. Stanley Kidder if his vote was "yes" or "no." Kidder replied that he wished to ask a question before he voted either way.

Then he asked the mayor if the city expects to buy the landfill property—rather than leasing it—so that the land will be available to the city when it no longer is being used for refuse disposal.

"We will advertise for a lease with an option to purchase," the director replied. "In that form, the option can be exercised at the moment of signing the lease or at some time in the future."

"In general, we favor purchase," the mayor said. "I'm quite sure it will be to the city's ultimate advantage to own the property. If we find we can enter into a contract for a satisfactory piece of property, we would recommend to Council that the ground be purchased."

Kidder then asked that his vote be recorded as "yes," making the poll on the legislation unanimous.

Man Wins New Trial— And Right To Show Leg

LISBON — Granted a new trial on the unique grounds that the court refused to permit him to show his thigh to the jury in the first hearing, Harris Shasteen, 34, of Hanoverton R. D. 1 went to trial again today before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp on a non-support charge.

Indicted by the January Grand Jury, Shasteen was found guilty by a jury Feb. 5. But he filed a motion for a new trial, claiming the court erred when it refused to allow him to show his thigh to the jury. Shasteen claims he was wounded accidentally with a shotgun when he was 13 and that he cannot retain regular employment and support his family because of the old injury.

Judge Sharp set the verdict aside April 3 after he had ordered Shasteen examined by a physician, who submitted a report to the court.

The jury includes: Margaret Locke, Minnie Sillince and Ralph Clark of East Liverpool, Velma Joseph of Wellsville, John Pridon, Reese Faulkner, Charleston Dunlap, Calvin Viller, Selma Linder, Howard Krause and Russell Pearson of Salem, and John Woodburn of Elkton. David Dray of East Liverpool is alternate.

Louis Prima, famous orchestra leader, made his first violin out of a cigar box and a borrowed mandolin string.

Succeeds Rev. Owens

Ministerial Association Names Rev. C. H. Canon

The Rev. C. Howard Canon, pastor of the Oakland Free Methodist Church, was elected president of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association Monday morning at a meeting in the First Methodist Church.

He succedds the Rev. Russell C. Owens of Grace United Presbyterian Church in East End.

The Rev. James G. Gardner of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church was named vice president and John A. Mostoller of the First Church of Christ was elected secretary-treasurer.

Rev. Canon formerly was vice president and Rev. Gardner was secretary-treasurer.

Donald Baxter of the Ohio Power Co. showed a movie, "Plan For Prosperity.'

William Cooper, a representative of the City Planning Commission, spoke and led a discussion on future plans for the city.

Caesar Peters, president of the local Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, spoke briefly on the United Negro College Fund.

During business conducted by Rev. Owens, the group voted to donate $100 to the Chaplaincy Fund of Columbiana Boy Scout Council.

REV. C. H. CANON
Picked At Monday Session.

The association will not hold summer meetings. The next meeting is scheduled Sept. 7.

who spoke, concluded with the hope that the new gym will become "a House of Champions" in reference to the high school's basketball teams.

A call for "dedicated lives" was made by George M. Burrier, Midland Works manager of the Crucible Steel Co. of America, in his remarks. He was critical of the "easy-buck" and "something-for-nothing" philosophy he said persists in too many phases of our life today and attacked those who refuse to face up to responsibility and instead follow the path of least resistance.

Also speaking were John F. Shovlin III, who gave the address of welcome as vice president of the Board of Education; H. Curtis Elder, superintendent of Beaver County schools, and Miss Eugenia O'Hara, physical education instructor.

Board members introduced included Frank Aloi, Edward Cilli, James Morrison, John Haggerty, Samuel Rosatone, Shovlin and Roach. Board officers included Miss Bernice Coffin, secretary, Mrs. Eldamae Castelli, treasurer, and Frank Suffoletta of the firm of Masters and Suffoletta, solicitors.

Former members named who contributed to the planning included Frank Gibson, Joseph Hibbard, John E. Kane Jr., Mrs. Zita Reed, R. Alex Rodgers and Rudolph Presutti, borough and school district tax collector.

Other guests attending included George Graff, vice president of finance for Crucible, and William Howell, assistant to the vice president in charge of operations of Crucible.

The invocation was given by the Very Rev. Milorad Dobrota of the St. George Serbian Orthodox Church, the benediction by the Rev. Francis E. Paul of the Presentation Catholic Church and the prayer of dedication by the Rev. W. L. Harris of the Mt. Olive Baptist Church.

John Gypalo, president of the Student Council, led the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Music was played by the high school band under the direction of Charles P. Henderson. Choral selections were presented by the high school chorus, under the direction of C. Lloyd Deffenbaugh, and the elementary school choir under the direction of Miss Despena Gagianas.

An "open house" was held after the ceremonies by Ray Keller, maintenance superintendent. A reception followed by the Band Boosters Club for guests in the music forum of the high school.

The committee for the dedication included Morrison, Roach, Rosatone and Shovlin, board members, Rudolph Presutti, former board member, and Supt. Jewell.

Garbage

"We expect it will reduce the expense of hauling trash all the way to the vicinity of Calcutta, as we do now," the mayor said. "In the operation of the sanitary landfill, we will be able to combine trash and garbage, which means residents no longer will have to have two separate receptacles for garbage and trash.

"Modernly-operated landfills have become accepted practice," the mayor continued. "It permits reclamation of land for other purposes. We hope East Liverpool can improve property so that it can become a worthwhile recreation area. Many communities have been able to develop ball diamonds and park sites."

Regulations laid down by the State Health Department assure that in a sanitary landfill operation "the health of the community will be safeguarded," the mayor said.

Motorist Pays $325 In Fines After Mishap

A Pittsburgh man accused of drunken driving and operating an auto without a license as an aftermath of a Dresden Ave. crash in which two were hurt early Monday was fined $325 today in Municipal Court when he pleaded guilty to both counts.

Judge George L. Brokaw decreed a fine of $300 and costs and a 10-day jail term for Izal Bill Bowick on the drunk driving charge, plus a fine of $25 and costs on the charge of driving without a license.

Police identified Bowick as the driver of an auto that was involved in an headon collision with an auto operated by Keith R. Shaw, 30, of R. D. 2, injuring two passengers in Bowick's car. The injured were Bowick's daughter, Lovetta, 14, and Ottoway C. Owens, 33, also of Pittsburgh.

Bowick also faced a third charge of driving left of the center line, but it was not prosecuted.

Ten other motorists, most of them arrested over the Memorial Day weekend, paid a total of $171 in fines and forfeits in court today. There was no criminal court session yesterday because the judge was out of town.

The defendants, their alleged offenses and their penalties: David F. Beatty, 1936 Michigan Ave., $47 for speeding and driving without an operator's permit; James F. Matheny of S. Shady Ln., $11 for crashing a traffic light at Market and 4th Sts.; Worthy L. Bower of Youngstown, $16 for passing on a curve on Route 30; Lawrence H. Cross of Akron, $16 for passing over a yellow line, also on Route 30.

Morilli W. Vitalune of Thompson Ave., $11 for failing to yield the right-of-way on Route 30; Joseph Pezl of Tiltonsville, $16 for passing at an intersection on Route 7; Brian Kiernan, 613 W. 9th St., $11 for crashing a traffic signal at Pennsylvania and Oakland Aves.; George L. Talbott of Park Pl.; $25 and costs for reckless driving on Shadyside Ave., and Robert McLaughlin, 907 Oak St., $16 for speeding on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd."

The defendants included two cited Monday afternoon and night. Gordon R. Miller, 42, of 1165½ Pennsylvania Ave. was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty to ignoring a stop sign at St. George and Mulberry Sts. He was cited at 4:10 p. m. yesterday.

Fred McCoy of Densmore Ave., LaCroft, forfeited $16 on a charge of speeding 48 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on Harvey Ave. He was cited at 9:55 last night.

Judge Brokaw granted a continuance until Friday morning in the case of Carl Lee Baker, 18, of Logan St., accused of assault and resisting arrest. Police said Baker fled in the auto of Franklin D. Hanlon of Shadyside Ave. when an officer intervened as he was beating an unidentified man early Saturday on E. 3rd St. Bond was set at $50 on each charge.

Hanlon is accused of using illegal license plates and resisting arrest. He is free on bonds totaling $62 pending a hearing Friday.

Chief At Vanport Given Jail Post

BEAVER — Dewey Triance, veteran Vanport police chief, has been named assistant warden of the County Jail by the Beaver County Prison Board.

He will succeed Paul Keefer of Beaver Falls, new city assessor.

The board also selected Ralph Yoho of Aliquippa as a full-time turnkey.

The board also announced that all mentally ill persons will be taken to the new county hospital instead of to the county jail. The sheriff's office will provide deputies as guards at the hospital until arrangements can be made.

It told District Atty. Richard Steward to notify all justices of the peace and police departments of the new ruling.

The board will continue its investigation into the handling of the personal effects of Albert H. Kane of New Brighton, who died of a heart attack in the jail.

Lawrenceville Legion To Issue News Bulletin

Plans for a monthly news bulletin for members of American Legion Post 163 and residents of Lawrenceville were furthered at a meeting of the post Monday night.

Wilbur Melott will be editor of the bulletin, to start later this month.

Second nomination of officers was held. Election will be conducted in all-day balloting June 15 at the post home. A buffet lunch was served 25.

Charles Huffman, commander, presided. The next meeting will be June 15.

Contract Let To Cover Wellsville City Dump

Gus Klavuhn of Wellsville R. D. was awarded a contract today for covering the Wellsville city dump for the coming year.

Klavuhn won the contract on a low bid of $2,400, according to Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson. Bids were opened Saturday. The only other bidder was C. M. Hoover of Hammondsville R. D., who asked $3,120.

Klavuhn will provide the necessary machinery and labor for keeping the dump covered with dirt.

LOUIS BRUNO
Third Term In Office.

Midland Kaycees Re-Elect Bruno As Grand Knight

Louis Bruno was elected to his third term as grand knight of Midland Knights of Columbus Council 2005 at the annual election Monday night at the Kaycee home.

Bruno, 40, has been a member of the Kaycees for 15 years and served as grand regent in 1953 and 1958. A native of Midland, he is married, the father of four children and is employed at the Crucible Steel Co. He served in the 9th Infantry Division during World War II.

Others named last night were Ralph Bernabie, deputy grand knight; Ralph Scalera, chancelor; Charles Green, recorder; Eugene Rutherford, treasurer; Dominic Scalera, advocate; Ned Nutz, warden; Sal Ruggeri, inside guard; Ernest Torres, outside gard, and William Verzelli, trustee.

Besides Bruno, those re-elected included Rutherford, Dominic Scalera, Torres and Verzelli.

Tax Protest Dates Set For Hancock

Hancock County commissioners Monday night set dates for hearing property tax assessment complaints from county residents in July before a Board of Equilization and Review.

The three commissioners will hear a complaint of Grant District residents (Chester-Newell-Lawrenceville) on July 6, 7 and 8, and Clay District residents (New Cumberland-Pughtown) on July 9 and 10 and 13.

Butler District residents who reside in the Weirton area may appear before the board on July 14, 15 and 16. Hearings will be held in the Courthouse in New Cumberland where commissioners met Monday night.

Commissioners also approved applications of Carl E. Nay of New Cumberland and Frances M. Stephens of Weirton for commissioners of notary public. Dave N. Thomas, William C. Graham and Lyle Virden are the three commissioners which comprise the Board of Review.

187 Children Enrolled For 3 Bible Schools

A total of 187 youngsters were enrolled in 3 daily vacation Bible schools at Chester churches Monday.

At the Westminster United Presbyterian Church, 50 registered for the two-week school, Mrs. Charles French, superintendent, said.

A total of 48 were enrolled at the Free Methodist Church Mrs. A. D. McGaffick, superintendent of the two-week school, reported.

At the Church of the Nazarene, there were 89 at the first of the weeklong night sessions, the Rev. Lewis Legg said.

Further enrollments was expected at the three schools today and Wednesday.

Western Union Office At Wellsville To Close

The Western Union Telegraph Co. has filed notice with the Federal Communications Commission to close its Wellsville office.

The application was filed May 20 and anyone desiring to protest has until June 21 to notify the commission.

Western Union said substitute service will be made available through the East Liverpool office which is listed as "six miles distant by telephone."

The Wellsville office is located on Main St. Auditor Edgar S. Davidson is the operator.

city's storm sewer relocation project which is under way and is now making preliminary plans for water line extension to Russell Heights.

The test engineering was for concrete, ground borings, sand and gravel used in the filter beds and concrete and for testing limestone used in all concrete above ground.

THIS WORK was done by the H. C. Nutting Co. of Cincinnati and the Pittsburgh Testing Lab. The equipment for the administration building was purchased from the Metalab Equipment Co. of New York and included all office furniture and lab equipment and the installation.

On the total cost the city received $119,865.59 in a federal grant. This is $10,000 less than the original grant called for but about $20,000 less was spent than the preliminary estimate.

Residents voted a total of $375,000 in general obligation bonds to finance the project. The first issue was for $175,000 and the second for $200,000. These probably will be sold in the fall. Loans were made from local banks to construct the plant. These notes will be redeemed when the bonds are sold.

LOCATED at 16th and Nevada Sts., the plant presents a neat and modern appearance. There is no offensive odor noticible in the vicinity—one of the major objections when the city was searching for a suitable location.

The plant handles an average of 550,000 gallons of raw sewage each day. The average would be much higher but several homes and the two major brick plants which are not tied in to the city sewage system.

Being a "primary treatment" facility, about 60 to 70 per cent of all solids are removed before the remaining water is pumped into the river. The water output is heavily chlorinated.

The sewage is channeled to two pumping stations and then carried through two force mains to the plant.

NO. 1 PUMP station is located at 2nd St. and the flood wall. It has two 600 gallon-per-minute pumps and serves all the uptown area to 13th St. No. 2 pump station is at 20th and Main Sts. and has two 300 gallon-per minute pumps which handle all sewage below 13th St.

The No. 1 station forces the residues through a 12-inch line while the other pumps through an 8-inch main.

About a mile and a quarter of force mains were laid to serve the entire city.

The force main at the lower end of town follows Nevada St. to 18th St., then on to Carbon Alley. From there it travels down the alley to 21st St. and under the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks and to the plant.

THE MAIN from 2nd St. follows along the general area of the floodwall to the alley along the Riverview Hotel. It then goes down Riverview St. to 12th St. where it crosses under the railroad tracks. The sewer then runs to the river bank and down to the treatment plant.

The raw sewage first enters the plant at the clarifier which is used to draw off the sludge. A giant paddle stirs the solution slowly, causing the main portion of sludge to gather in the center while the water flows over to a trough.

The clarifier material flows to a digester tank where it is heated and kept at a constant 90-degree temperature to speed the bacterial action. This causes the solids to decompose.

The bacterial action in the digester produces gas which can be burned in the heat exchanger when there is enough of it.

FROM THE digester tanks, of which there are two, the sludge is pumped to the filter beds where the remaining water is drawn off and the residue hardens. The residue will have to be removed once this year and probably about twice next year. Most sewage is composed of well over 80 per cent water.

All the water will pass through a chlorinator station where it will be purified before entering the river. This will be the most expensive operation and will cost an estimated $10,000 per year. The water is clear as it enters the river.

Although situated near the river, the plant is out of the flood zone. Sewage has been running through the plant since January. Each phase was placed into operation step-by-step.

Some of the motors did not hold up at first and had to be replaced. The contractor is obliged to replace any defective equipment found over a period of one year from completion date.

—:—

SAFETY-SERVICE Director William S. Robinson said the "normal number of operational difficulties" were found.

Mayor William J. Shoub and Robinson are planning an open house at the facilities, probably this month as a two-day affair over a weekend.

Guided tours of the plant are planned for the public. John Stewart is chief operator with Fritz Wilson as relief operator. Jesse Tarr is the chemist and will serve as superintendent.

Robinson pointed out that a day-by-day record is kept of all phases of the operation. It includes how much sewage has been pumped, the amount of gas and electricity used and the amount of solids remaining in the water turned into the river.

Numerous Ohio Valley towns take their water from the river but Wellsville's comes from a reservoir on upper Little Yellow Creek on the Old Salineville Rd.

The Eastern Ohio Section of Ohio Sewage & Industrial Wastes Treatment Conference will be held at Wellsville Thursday at 1 p. m.

PLANS CALL FOR a tour of Sterling China Co. at 2 p. m. and the sewage plant and possibly the water treatment plant at 3 p. m.

A cocktail hour will be held from 5 to 6 at the Riverview Hotel and dinner will follow at 6. About 50 to 60 are expected to attend. McGill will be the principal speaker.

Otis Weekley, 820 Aten Ave., water treatment plant operator, is in charge of reservations. Carl West of Marietta is president of the organization. The next meeting will be Oct. 1 at Marietta. The meeting last fall was at East Liverpool.

96 Given Diplomas

800 At Commencement Of Wellsville High School

The 96 members of Wellsville High School's Senior Class received their diplomas at commencement Monday night as over 800 parents and guests looked on. The ceremony was held at the Beacom Memorial gym.

The theme of commencement was "What the Future Holds For:" Miss Shirley McDevitt, valedictorian, was presented the Byron D. Beacom scholarship award.

Miss McDevitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McDevitt, 401 Broadway, spoke on "The Classroom Teacher" in keeping with the theme. She said "The future work of the classroom teacher will be a serious undertaking for she must accept the great challenge of creating a desire that will enable young Americans to strive for the ideals which will maintain the greatness of the United States."

She continued that "In order to create in them a desire to learn, the teacher must know how to achieve cooperation from her students. The pride of the school is in teachers and students who participate in creation in such a way as to develop progressively the ability to learn from experience. The teacher is the builder of young revolutionists. She is the one who, by creating in others a desire to learn, teaches them to act for the betterment of themselves, according to what they have learned. This is why a teacher affects eternity. She can never tell how far her influence has reached."

"The Research Scientist" was the theme of the talk by Miss Charlotte Urie, salutatorian. She spoke first. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Urie, 512 Broadway.

She said "The golden door of opportunity is opened wide to the young, industrious research scientist. As he stands on the threshold of the future he views on all sides the many opportunities for work in the varied fields of research. Now as never before, at the very beginning of the space age, a vast number of astronomers, engineers, technicians, and many other types of researchers are needed to study outer space, work on new types of rockets and find ways of getting those rockets into outer space."

Miss Urie continued, "Scientists are always struggling forward to acquire new knowledge and to find new things that will ultimately benefit mankind. The opportunities in this field are almost limitless for anyone who has a sufficient knowledge in mathematics, physics, astronomy and the related sciences. Of course, all research vocations are good money earners but also important is the self-satisfaction that they bring when new discoveries are made."

Supt. S. E. Daw spoke briefly. The class consists of 42 girls and 54 boys.

The Rev. J. G. Lassiter of Lee's Chapel of the African Methodist Episcopal Church gave the invocation and benediction. William Menough, high school principal, presented the class. Earl Bake, Board of Education president, gave the students their diplomas.

Rep. Moore May Aid Road Problem

Rep. Arch Moore, 1st District congressman, advised a Chester resident Monday he plans to meet "in the near future" with a delegation of the city to discuss possible means of eliminating the traffic hazards at the foot of the Route 30 hill at Carolina Ave.

Don Chaney of 8th St. and Carolina Ave. phoned the congressman at Washington yesterday, and was told by Rep. Moore he planned to discuss the problem with city representatives soon.

A runaway truck hit an auto at the intersection last Wednesday, injuring Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kahle Eberhart of Fairview St., Chester, and Mrs. Grace Wedgewood of Louisiana Ave.

Eberhart, the driver, has been released from City Hospital, but the two women remain in "fairly good" condition.

Earl Moore, 24, of Marysville, trucker, posted $500 for a hearing June 12 as a result of the mishap which knocked the auto into a brick wall at Chaney's home.

4 County Men Await Degrees From Miami

Four Columbiana County men are candidates for degrees at commencement at Miami University at Oxford Monday, for which Roy E. Larsen, president of Time, Inc., will be speaker.

Ronald E. Durbin of East Liverpool and Stanley Cosky of Salem are due bachelor of science degrees in business administration. David B. Moore of E. High St., Lisbon, and Peter J. Casper of New Waterford are to get bachelor of arts degrees.

2 Motorists Get Jail Term

Two men fined and jailed on charges of drunken driving were among traffic case defendants heard Monday before Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville.

Fined $200 and costs each and sentenced to 3 days in jail were Lemuel Walker, 563 Main St., and Charles McCuen of the Old Irondale Rd.

Walker was arrested Saturday night on Route 7 near Wellsville by the State Highway Patrol while McCuen was picked up early Sunday morning at 4th and Main Sts., Wellsville, police said.

James F. Robinson of Niles will receive a hearing today on a drunk driving charge. He was arrested Monday night at 9:50 at 10th and Main Sts., Wellsville.

Virgil Koontz of Wellsville R. D. 1 was fined $25 and costs for failure to transfer a car title. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Harley W. Congo of Wellsville R. D. was fined $25 and costs for driving without an operator's permit and $15 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way. He also was cited by the patrol.

Robert Shifflet of Brunswick forfeited $10 for passing another car on a curve. He was cited by the patrol.

Forenoon Rain Cuts Vote On Stanton Bonds

A light drizzle this morning indicated a fairly light turnout of voters as Stanton Local School District residents went to the polls in a special election on a $498,000 bond issue.

Polls in the district's eight precincts will remain open until 7:30 tonight.

The proposed bond issue is for construction of a new elementary school building in the Empire area and for installation of inside toilet facilities in the Hammondsville elementary building.

A 60 per cent affirmative vote is needed for passage.

A forenoon check of several precincts indicated a light vote although the issue seems to have aroused much interest throughout the district.

Proponents and opponents have waged a bitter campaign on the bond plan, with most of the controversy centering on the proposed riverfront location of the consolidated school.

Today's election is the third in less than a year on the bond plan. It was rejected in July 1958 by a vote of 515 to 409, and again in November 1958 by a vote of 713 to 629.

Parent-Teacher Association members in Hammondsville were transporting residents to the polls in promotion of the bond plan.

Only 50 had voted this forenoon in Hammondsville and the turnout at Irondale also was light, an official said.

Police Ball Waited

LISBON — The annual policeman's ball will be held Saturday evening at the Eagles Home. Chief Dalton Pike said proceeds will go for police uniforms.

Mopup Starts In Cleveland Flash Floods

CLEVELAND (AP) — Greater Cleveland's south side mopped up today in the wake of flash floods resulting from torrential rains that caused damage estimated to run into millions of dollars.

Dozens of marooned motorists and occupants of two flooded buses were rescued, but no major casualties were reported in Monday's floods. Thirty-three persons were treated for exposure.

The major damage consisted of streets ripped apart, thousands of basements flooded, storm sewers ruined and sidewalks uprooted.

Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze told city officials that damage to public property alone in the city might exceed one million dollars.

Mayor Earl W. Aurelius of University Heights estimated the loss in that southeast suburb at $300,000. He called it the worst flood since 1942.

In Shaker Heights, Mayor Wilson G. Stapleton estimated damage to streets at $100,000. Nearly 1,000 basements were flooded in the suburb. Stapleton declared a state of emergency and the Ohio National Guard was called out.

A state of emergency was declared in Eastlake when the rain-swollen Chagrin River spilled over into lowlands and police began evacuating residents along the river's edge. The emergency was called off four hours later after the river had subsided.

The most popular vacation area in Portugal is the Portuguese Riviera.

MILLIONS OF AMERICANS ARE IN DANGER!
Yes, millions still have not had any polio shots. They are unprotected as the 1959 polio season approaches. What about you?
Polio isn't licked yet! In fact, cases of paralytic polio—the worst kind—increased slightly in 1958 over 1957 among people not vaccinated.
Remember—polio strikes all ages. Play safe. Your neighbor's polio shots will not protect you. See your doctor or health department NOW before it's too late.

Motorist Pays $325 In Fines After Mishap

A Pittsburgh man accused of drunken driving and operating an auto without a license as an aftermath of a Dresden Ave. crash in which two were hurt early Monday was fined $325 today in Municipal Court when he pleaded guilty to both counts.

Judge George L. Brokaw decreed a fine of $300 and costs and a 10-day jail term for Izal Bill Bowick on the drunk driving charge, plus a fine of $25 and costs on the charge of driving without a license.

Police identified Bowick as the driver of an auto that was involved in an headon collision with an auto operated by Keith R. Shaw, 30, of R. D. 2, injuring two passengers in Bowick's car. The injured were Bowick's daughter, Lovetta, 14, and Ottoway C. Owens, 33, also of Pittsburgh.

Bowick also faced a third charge of driving left of the center line, but it was not prosecuted.

Ten other motorists, most of them arrested over the Memorial Day weekend, paid a total of $171 in fines and forfeits in court today. There was no criminal court session yesterday because the judge was out of town.

The defendants, their alleged offenses and their penalties: David F. Beatty, 1936 Michigan Ave., $47 for speeding and driving without an operator's permit; James F. Matheny of S. Shady Ln., $11 for crashing a traffic light at Market and 4th Sts.; Worthy L. Bower of Youngstown, $16 for passing on a curve on Route 30; Lawrence H. Cross of Akron, $16 for passing over a yellow line, also on Route 30.

Morilli W. Vitalune of Thompson Ave., $11 for failing to yield the right-of-way on Route 30; Joseph Pezl of Tiltonsville, $16 for passing at an intersection on Route 7; Brian Kiernan, 613 W. 9th St., $11 for crashing a traffic signal at Pennsylvania and Oakland Aves.; George L. Talbott of Park Pl.; $25 and costs for reckless driving on Shadyside Ave., and Robert McLaughlin, 907 Oak St., $16 for speeding on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd."

The defendants included two cited Monday afternoon and night. Gordon R. Miller, 42, of 1165½ Pennsylvania Ave. was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty to ignoring a stop sign at St. George and Mulberry Sts. He was cited at 4:10 p. m. yesterday.

Fred McCoy of Densmore Ave., LaCroft, forfeited $16 on a charge of speeding 48 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on Harvey Ave. He was cited at 9:55 last night.

Judge Brokaw granted a continuance until Friday morning in the case of Carl Lee Baker, 18, of Logan St., accused of assault and resisting arrest. Police said Baker fled in the auto of Franklin D. Hanlon of Shadyside Ave. when an officer intervened as he was beating an unidentified man early Saturday on E. 3rd St. Bond was set at $50 on each charge.

Hanlon is accused of using illegal license plates and resisting arrest. He is free on bonds totaling $62 pending a hearing Friday.

Chief At Vanport Given Jail Post

BEAVER — Dewey Triance, veteran Vanport police chief, has been named assistant warden of the County Jail by the Beaver County Prison Board.

He will succeed Paul Keefer of Beaver Falls, new city assessor.

The board also selected Ralph Yoho of Aliquippa as a full-time turnkey.

The board also announced that all mentally ill persons will be taken to the new county hospital instead of to the county jail. The sheriff's office will provide deputies as guards at the hospital until arrangements can be made.

It told District Atty. Richard Steward to notify all justices of the peace and police departments of the new ruling.

The board will continue its investigation into the handling of the personal effects of Albert H. Kane of New Brighton, who died of a heart attack in the jail.

Lawrenceville Legion To Issue News Bulletin

Plans for a monthly news bulletin for members of American Legion Post 163 and residents of Lawrenceville were furthered at a meeting of the post Monday night.

Wilbur Melott will be editor of the bulletin, to start later this month.

Second nomination of officers was held. Election will be conducted in all-day balloting June 15 at the post home. A buffet lunch was served 25.

Charles Huffman, commander, presided. The next meeting will be June 15.

Contract Let To Cover Wellsville City Dump

Gus Klavuhn of Wellsville R. D. was awarded a contract today for covering the Wellsville city dump for the coming year.

Klavuhn won the contract on a low bid of $2,400, according to Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson. Bids were opened Saturday. The only other bidder was C. M. Hoover of Hammondsville R. D., who asked $3,120.

Klavuhn will provide the necessary machinery and labor for keeping the dump covered with dirt.

LOUIS BRUNO
Third Term In Office.

Midland Kaycees Re-Elect Bruno As Grand Knight

Louis Bruno was elected to his third term as grand knight of Midland Knights of Columbus Council 2005 at the annual election Monday night at the Kaycee home.

Bruno, 40, has been a member of the Kaycees for 15 years and served as grand regent in 1953 and 1958. A native of Midland, he is married, the father of four children and is employed at the Crucible Steel Co. He served in the 9th Infantry Division during World War II.

Others named last night were Ralph Bernabie, deputy grand knight; Ralph Scalera, chancelor; Charles Green, recorder; Eugene Rutherford, treasurer; Dominic Scalera, advocate; Ned Nutz, warden; Sal Ruggeri, inside guard; Ernest Torres, outside gard, and William Verzelli, trustee.

Besides Bruno, those re-elected included Rutherford, Dominic Scalera, Torres and Verzelli.

Tax Protest Dates Set For Hancock

Hancock County commissioners Monday night set dates for hearing property tax assessment complaints from county residents in July before a Board of Equilization and Review.

The three commissioners will hear a complaint of Grant District residents (Chester-Newell-Lawrenceville) on July 6, 7 and 8, and Clay District residents (New Cumberland-Pughtown) on July 9 and 10 and 13.

Butler District residents who reside in the Weirton area may appear before the board on July 14, 15 and 16. Hearings will be held in the Courthouse in New Cumberland where commissioners met Monday night.

Commissioners also approved applications of Carl E. Nay of New Cumberland and Frances M. Stephens of Weirton for commissioners of notary public. Dave N. Thomas, William C. Graham and Lyle Virden are the three commissioners which comprise the Board of Review.

187 Children Enrolled For 3 Bible Schools

A total of 187 youngsters were enrolled in 3 daily vacation Bible schools at Chester churches Monday.

At the Westminster United Presbyterian Church, 50 registered for the two-week school, Mrs. Charles French, superintendent, said.

A total of 48 were enrolled at the Free Methodist Church Mrs. A. D. McGaffick, superintendent of the two-week school, reported.

At the Church of the Nazarene, there were 89 at the first of the weeklong night sessions, the Rev. Lewis Legg said.

Further enrollments was expected at the three schools today and Wednesday.

Western Union Office At Wellsville To Close

The Western Union Telegraph Co. has filed notice with the Federal Communications Commission to close its Wellsville office.

The application was filed May 20 and anyone desiring to protest has until June 21 to notify the commission.

Western Union said substitute service will be made available through the East Liverpool office which is listed as "six miles distant by telephone."

The Wellsville office is located on Main St. Auditor Edgar S. Davidson is the operator.

city's storm sewer relocation project which is under way and is now making preliminary plans for water line extension to Russell Heights.

The test engineering was for concrete, ground borings, sand and gravel used in the filter beds and concrete and for testing limestone used in all concrete above ground.

THIS WORK was done by the H. C. Nutting Co. of Cincinnati and the Pittsburgh Testing Lab. The equipment for the administration building was purchased from the Metalab Equipment Co. of New York and included all office furniture and lab equipment and the installation.

On the total cost the city received $119,865.59 in a federal grant. This is $10,000 less than the original grant called for but about $20,000 less was spent than the preliminary estimate.

Residents voted a total of $375,000 in general obligation bonds to finance the project. The first issue was for $175,000 and the second for $200,000. These probably will be sold in the fall. Loans were made from local banks to construct the plant. These notes will be redeemed when the bonds are sold.

LOCATED at 16th and Nevada Sts., the plant presents a neat and modern appearance. There is no offensive odor noticible in the vicinity—one of the major objections when the city was searching for a suitable location.

The plant handles an average of 550,000 gallons of raw sewage each day. The average would be much higher but several homes and the two major brick plants which are not tied in to the city sewage system.

Being a "primary treatment" facility, about 60 to 70 per cent of all solids are removed before the remaining water is pumped into the river. The water output is heavily chlorinated.

The sewage is channeled to two pumping stations and then carried through two force mains to the plant.

NO. 1 PUMP station is located at 2nd St. and the flood wall. It has two 600 gallon-per-minute pumps and serves all the uptown area to 13th St. No. 2 pump station is at 20th and Main Sts. and has two 300 gallon-per minute pumps which handle all sewage below 13th St.

The No. 1 station forces the residues through a 12-inch line while the other pumps through an 8-inch main.

About a mile and a quarter of force mains were laid to serve the entire city.

The force main at the lower end of town follows Nevada St. to 18th St., then on to Carbon Alley. From there it travels down the alley to 21st St. and under the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks and to the plant.

THE MAIN from 2nd St. follows along the general area of the floodwall to the alley along the Riverview Hotel. It then goes down Riverview St. to 12th St. where it crosses under the railroad tracks. The sewer then runs to the river bank and down to the treatment plant.

The raw sewage first enters the plant at the clarifier which is used to draw off the sludge. A giant paddle stirs the solution slowly, causing the main portion of sludge to gather in the center while the water flows over to a trough.

The clarifier material flows to a digester tank where it is heated and kept at a constant 90-degree temperature to speed the bacterial action. This causes the solids to decompose.

The bacterial action in the digester produces gas which can be burned in the heat exchanger when there is enough of it.

FROM THE digester tanks, of which there are two, the sludge is pumped to the filter beds where the remaining water is drawn off and the residue hardens. The residue will have to be removed once this year and probably about twice next year. Most sewage is composed of well over 80 per cent water.

All the water will pass through a chlorinator station where it will be purified before entering the river. This will be the most expensive operation and will cost an estimated $10,000 per year.

The water is clear as it enters the river.

Although situated near the river, the plant is out of the flood zone. Sewage has been running through the plant since January. Each phase was placed into operation step-by-step.

Some of the motors did not hold up at first and had to be replaced. The contractor is obliged to replace any defective equipment found over a period of one year from completion date.

—:—

SAFETY-SERVICE Director William S. Robinson said the "normal number of operational difficulties" were found.

Mayor William J. Shoub and Robinson are planning an open house at the facilities, probably this month as a two-day affair over a weekend.

Guided tours of the plant are planned for the public. John Stewart is chief operator with Fritz Wilson as relief operator. Jesse Tarr is the chemist and will serve as superintendent.

Robinson pointed out that a day-by-day record is kept of all phases of the operation. It includes how much sewage has been pumped, the amount of gas and electricity used and the amount of solids remaining in the water turned into the river.

Numerous Ohio Valley towns take their water from the river but Wellsville's comes from a reservoir on upper Little Yellow Creek on the Old Salineville Rd.

The Eastern Ohio Section of Ohio Sewage & Industrial Wastes Treatment Conference will be held at Wellsville Thursday at 1 p. m.

PLANS CALL FOR a tour of Sterling China Co. at 2 p. m. and the sewage plant and possibly the water treatment plant at 3 p. m.

A cocktail hour will be held from 5 to 6 at the Riverview Hotel and dinner will follow at 6. About 50 to 60 are expected to attend. McGill will be the principal speaker.

Otis Weekley, 820 Aten Ave., water treatment plant operator, is in charge of reservations. Carl West of Marietta is president of the organization. The next meeting will be Oct. 1 at Marietta. The meeting last fall was at East Liverpool.

96 Given Diplomas

800 At Commencement Of Wellsville High School

The 96 members of Wellsville High School's Senior Class received their diplomas at commencement Monday night as over 800 parents and guests looked on. The ceremony was held at the Beacom Memorial gym.

The theme of commencement was "What the Future Holds For:" Miss Shirley McDevitt, valedictorian, was presented the Byron D. Beacom scholarship award.

Miss McDevitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McDevitt, 401 Broadway, spoke on "The Classroom Teacher" in keeping with the theme. She said "The future work of the classroom teacher will be a serious undertaking for she must accept the great challenge of creating a desire that will enable young Americans to strive for the ideals which will maintain the greatness of the United States."

She continued that "In order to create in them a desire to learn, the teacher must know how to achieve cooperation from her students. The pride of the school is in teachers and students who participate in creation in such a way as to develop progressively the ability to learn from experience. The teacher is the builder of young revolutionists. She is the one who, by creating in others a desire to learn, teaches them to act for the betterment of themselves, according to what they have learned. This is why a teacher affects eternity. She can never tell how far her influence has reached."

"The Research Scientist" was the theme of the talk by Miss Charlotte Urie, salutatorian. She spoke first. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Urie, 512 Broadway.

She said "The golden door of opportunity is opened wide to the young, industrious research scientist. As he stands on the threshold of the future he views on all sides the many opportunities for work in the varied fields of research. Now as never before, at the very beginning of the space age, a vast number of astronomers, engineers, technicians, and many other types of researchers are needed to study outer space, work on new types of rockets and find ways of getting those rockets into outer space."

Miss Urie continued, "Scientists are always struggling forward to acquire new knowledge and to find new things that will ultimately benefit mankind. The opportunities in this field are almost limitless for, anyone who has a sufficient knowledge in mathematics, physics, astronomy and the related sciences. Of course, all research vocations are good money earners but also important is the self-satisfaction that they bring when new discoveries are made."

Supt. S. E. Daw spoke briefly. The class consists of 42 girls and 54 boys.

The Rev. J. G. Lassiter of Lee's Chapel of the African Methodist Episcopal Church gave the invocation and benediction. William Menough, high school principal, presented the class. Earl Bake, Board of Education president, gave the students their diplomas.

Rep. Moore May Aid Road Problem

Rep. Arch Moore, 1st District congressman, advised a Chester resident Monday he plans to meet "in the near future" with a delegation of the city to discuss possible means of eliminating the traffic hazards at the foot of the Route 30 hill at Carolina Ave.

Don Chaney of 8th St. and Carolina Ave. phoned the congressman at Washington yesterday, and was told by Rep. Moore he planned to discuss the problem with city representatives soon.

A runaway truck hit an auto at the intersection last Wednesday, injuring Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kahle Eberhart of Fairview St., Chester, and Mrs. Grace Wedgewood of Louisiana Ave.

Eberhart, the driver, has been released from City Hospital, but the two women remain in "fairly good" condition.

Earl Moore, 24, of Marysville, trucker, posted $500 for a hearing June 12 as a result of the mishap which knocked the auto into a brick wall at Chaney's home.

4 County Men Await Degrees From Miami

Four Columbiana County men are candidates for degrees at commencement at Miami University at Oxford Monday, for which Roy E. Larsen, president of Time, Inc., will be speaker.

Ronald E. Durbin of East Liverpool and Stanley Cosky of Salem are due bachelor of science degrees in business administration. David B. Moore of E. High St., Lisbon, and Peter J. Casper of New Waterford are to get bachelor of arts degrees.

2 Motorists Get Jail Term

Two men fined and jailed on charges of drunken driving were among traffic case defendants heard Monday before Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville.

Fined $200 and costs each and sentenced to 3 days in jail were Lemuel Walker, 563 Main St., and Charles McCuen of the Old Irondale Rd.

Walker was arrested Saturday night on Route 7 near Wellsville by the State Highway Patrol while McCuen was picked up early Sunday morning at 4th and Main Sts., Wellsville, police said.

James F. Robinson of Niles will receive a hearing today on a drunk driving charge. He was arrested Monday night at 9:50 at 10th and Main Sts., Wellsville.

Virgil Koontz of Wellsville R. D. 1 was fined $25 and costs for failure to transfer a car title. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Harley W. Congo of Wellsville R. D. was fined $25 and costs for driving without an operator's permit and $15 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way. He also was cited by the patrol.

Robert Shifflet of Brunswick forfeited $10 for passing another car on a curve. He was cited by the patrol.

Forenoon Rain Cuts Vote On Stanton Bonds

A light drizzle this morning indicated a fairly light turnout of voters as Stanton Local School District residents went to the polls in a special election on a $498,000 bond issue.

Polls in the district's eight precincts will remain open until 7:30 tonight.

The proposed bond issue is for construction of a new elementary school building in the Empire area and for installation of inside toilet facilities in the Hammondsville elementary building.

A 60 per cent affirmative vote is needed for passage.

A forenoon check of several precincts indicated a light vote although the issue seems to have aroused much interest throughout the district.

Proponents and opponents have waged a bitter campaign on the bond plan, with most of the controversy centering on the proposed riverfront location of the consolidated school.

Today's election is the third in less than a year on the bond plan. It was rejected in July 1958 by a vote of 515 to 409, and again in November 1958 by a vote of 713 to 629.

Parent-Teacher Association members in Hammondsville were transporting residents to the polls in promotion of the bond plan.

Only 50 had voted this forenoon in Hammondsville and the turnout at Irondale also was light, an official said.

Police Ball Waited

LISBON — The annual policeman's ball will be held Saturday evening at the Eagles Home. Chief Dalton Pike said proceeds will go for police uniforms.

Mopup Starts In Cleveland Flash Floods

CLEVELAND (AP) — Greater Cleveland's south side mopped up today in the wake of flash floods resulting from torrential rains that caused damage estimated to run into millions of dollars.

Dozens of marooned motorists and occupants of two flooded buses were rescued, but no major casualties were reported in Monday's floods. Thirty-three persons were treated for exposure.

The major damage consisted of streets ripped apart, thousands of basements flooded, storm sewers ruined and sidewalks uprooted.

Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze told city officials that damage to public property alone in the city might exceed one million dollars.

Mayor Earl W. Aurelius of University Heights estimated the loss in that southeast suburb at $300,000. He called it the worst flood since 1942.

In Shaker Heights, Mayor Wilson G. Stapleton estimated damage to streets at $100,000. Nearly 1,000 basements were flooded in the suburb. Stapleton declared a state of emergency and the Ohio National Guard was called out.

A state of emergency was declared in Eastlake when the rain-swollen Chagrin River spilled over into lowlands and police began evacuating residents along the river's edge. The emergency was called off four hours later after the river had subsided.

The most popular vacation area in Portugal is the Portuguese Riviera.

High Nuptial Mass Marks Lynn Anderson's Marriage

High Nuptial Mass was observed for the marriage of Miss Lynn Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Anderson, 835 W. 9th St., and Thomas Keith Gerace, son of James V. Gerace, 2811 St. Clair Ave., and the late Mrs. Maxine Hindes Gerace, at 12 o'clock noon Wednesday in St. Aloysius Catholic Church.

White pompoms and gladioli formed the altar setting for the double-ring ceremony, performed by Fr. Anthony Esposita, assistant pastor.

Mrs. James O'Reilly, church organist, presented a half-hour of wedding music preceding the rites. The boys' choir sang, with Mrs. O'Reilly as soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a five-tiered gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace fashioned of tulle ruffles over the bridal satin skirt cascading into a chapel train. The basque bodice featured a stand-up wing collar above a nylon tulle yoke, embroidered with sequins and long sleeves pointed at the wrist. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a matching headband enriched with irridescent sequins and seed pearls. Fulfilling all of the wedding traditions, she wore a family heirloom cross necklace and a sixpence in her shoe. Her jewelry consisted of a white gold watch, a gift of the bridegroom, and cultured pearl earrings. She carried a white prayer book, the gift of her aunt, Mrs. Ross Manning, with an arrangement of white roses and carnations tied with satin streamers.

Mrs. Michael Gerace, aunt of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor. Miss Ann Brenner and Miss Jodie Harries, cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of silk organza fashioned in shirtwaist style with three-quarter length sleeves and full skirts, detailed with matching lace on the sleeves and bodice. Crowns of braid with rhinestone-studded points, holding face veils, and matching shoes completed their attire. They wore cultured pearl earrinngs, gifts of the bride, and carried Colonial bouquets of yellow roses and white carnations tied with matching nylon tulle and bows. The matron of honor was in aqua and the bridesmaids were in maize.

Jana Smithyman of Alliance, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a dress of white organza and lace and a crown identical to those of the bridesmaids'. Her gift from the bride was a bracelet of tiny cultured pearls. She carried a natural straw basket with satin streamers holding yellow roses and petals.

MRS. THOMAS K. GERACE
Bride Of Wednesday Rites.

William Brophy served as best man. Ushers were Richard McKenzie and Lee Schmitbauer. Michael Lee Anderson, young brother of the bride, was the junior usher and escort for the flower girl.

The bride's mother was attired in an ice blue lace dress featuring a tunic skirt and matching accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage.

A reception for 200 was held at Travelers Hotel. A four-tiered cake topped with a bridal couple centered the buffet table.

Open house was observed the remainder of the day at the home of the bride's parents. Approximately 100 were served at the dinner. A bouquet of white and pink carnations highlighted the silver and crystal appointed buffet table.

The rehearsal dinner, held at Travelers Hotel, was given by Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Brenner, uncle and aunt of the bride.

The bride, a 1959 graduate of East Liverpool High School, is a part-time employe of the J. C. Penney Co.

Her husband is a 1954 graduate of the high school and works in the metallurgical laboratory of the Crucible Steel Co. at Midland. He attended Youngstown College and is a member of the Army Reserve.

For traveling, the bride chose a Navy and white silk jersey dress with matching accessories and her bridal corsage.

Following a southern honeymoon, the couple will reside temporarily with the bride's parents. He will receive his Army discharge in September.

Out-of-town guests were from Pittsburgh, Alliance, Philadelphia and New Middleton.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Mothers Need Not Lose Figures

Overweight young mothers, tune in. Statistics are fascinating, for they give the overall picture. A recent survey reveals that of all the new brides, half are less than 20-years-old. (this figure is based on first marriages only.)

Ida Jean Kain

Further statistics reveal that of the married girls between the ages of 15 and 19, 40 per cent have one child and almost 10 per cent have two children. So much for the facts.

The letters that flood in to this dietitian would seem to indicate that many young mothers have a serious weight problem almost before they are out of their teens! Many of you write to lament that you have lost your once slim figure. You point out that you are tied down with youngsters and turn to eating all day...and are getting fatter.

GIRLS, BEING tied down so young is one way of looking at your life. Having your family while you are young and strong and enjoying the fun of watching them grow up is another way to regard your present routine.

You have abounding energy. What have you allowed to happen to your natural exuberance? At your age you have only begun to live!

You write sad little letters saying, "If I only had someone to force me to stay on a diet..." Do you really believe the motivation can come from someone else? In everyday language, the words incentive and motivation means wanting to. Only you can do the reducing, but you do have to want to.

Perhaps it will help you to be aware that until you get a new view of the person you want to grow into, it won't seem worth while to try to curb your big appetite. Get a new concept in your mind of how you want to look and feel and what kind of person you want to become. Start to be the person you want to become!

Recognize that you are overeating as a means of finding some sort of satisfaction in your daily life. The starting point toward changing is for you to make the effort to find a new point of view ...and take a new attitude.

Get out the tape measure and mark down your measurements. Aim to reduce 16 pounds and slim two inches off each of the figure controlling measurements—bust, waist, abdomen and hips. That amount of slimming will let you slip into a dress a full size smaller.

YOU KNOW which foods are piling on the pounds. Learn now, at your young age, to eat to beat the pounds—and you will be forever thankful. Take a long look at the years ahead...some 50 years. Well, do you intend to go on lugging those 20 or more extra pounds through the years, perhaps adding more?

Of course you don't! Well, no one can take them off but you. This calls for some extra spunk and you're just the gal who has what it takes!

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Mr. and Mrs. Reducing Plan." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

The matron of honor was in aqua and the bridesmaids were in maize.

Jana Smithyman of Alliance, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a dress of white organza and lace and a crown identical to those of the bridesmaids'. Her gift from the bride was a bracelet of tiny cultured pearls. She carried a natural straw basket with satin streamers holding yellow roses and petals.

MRS. THOMAS K. GERACE
Bride Of Wednesday Rites.

William Brophy served as best man. Ushers were Richard McKenzie and Lee Schmitbauer. Michael Lee Anderson, young brother of the bride, was the junior usher and escort for the flower girl.

The bride's mother was attired in an ice blue lace dress featuring a tunic skirt and matching accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage.

A reception for 200 was held at Travelers Hotel. A four-tiered cake topped with a bridal couple centered the buffet table.

Open house was observed the remainder of the day at the home of the bride's parents. Approximately 100 were served at the dinner. A bouquet of white and pink carnations highlighted the silver and crystal appointed buffet table.

The rehearsal dinner, held at Travelers Hotel, was given by Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Brenner, uncle and aunt of the bride.

The bride, a 1959 graduate of East Liverpool High School, is a part-time employe of the J. C. Penney Co.

Her husband is a 1954 graduate of the high school and works in the metallurgical laboratory of the Crucible Steel Co. at Midland. He attended Youngstown College and is a member of the Army Reserve.

For traveling, the bride chose a Navy and white silk jersey dress with matching accessories and her bridal corsage.

Following a southern honeymoon, the couple will reside temporarily with the bride's parents. He will receive his Army discharge in September.

Out-of-town guests were from Pittsburgh, Alliance, Philadelphia and New Middleton.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Mothers Need Not Lose Figures

Overweight young mothers, tune in. Statistics are fascinating, for they give the overall picture. A recent survey reveals that of all the new brides, half are less than 20-years-old. (this figure is based on first marriages only.)

Ida Jean Kain

Further statistics reveal that of the married girls between the ages of 15 and 19, 40 percent have one child and almost 10 per cent have two children. So much for the facts.

The letters that flood in to this dietitian would seem to indicate that many young mothers have a serious weight problem almost before they are out of their teens! Many of you write to lament that you have lost your once slim figure. You point out that you are tied down with youngsters and turn to eating all day...and are getting fatter.

GIRLS, BEING tied down so young is one way of looking at your life. Having your family while you are young and strong and enjoying the fun of watching them grow up is another way to regard your present routine.

You have abounding energy. What have you allowed to happen to your natural exuberance? At your age you have only begun to live!

You write sad little letters saying, "If I only had someone to force me to stay on a diet..." Do you really believe the motivation can come from someone else? In everyday language, the words incentive and motivation means wanting to. Only you can do the reducing, but you do have to want to.

Perhaps it will help you to be aware that until you get a new view of the person you want to grow into, it won't seem worth while to try to curb your big appetite. Get a new concept in your mind of how you want to look and feel and what kind of person you want to become. Start to be the person you want to become!

Recognize that you are overeating as a means of finding some sort of satisfaction in your daily life. The starting point toward changing is for you to make the effort to find a new point of view ...and take a new attitude.

Get out the tape measure and mark down your measurements. Aim to reduce 16 pounds and slim two inches off each of the figure controlling measurements—bust, waist, abdomen and hips. That amount of slimming will let you slip into a dress a full size smaller.

YOU KNOW which foods are piling on the pounds. Learn now, at your young age, to eat to beat the pounds—and you will be forever thankful. Take a long look at the years ahead...some 50 years. Well, do you intend to go on lugging those 20 or more extra pounds through the years, perhaps adding more?

Of course you don't! Well, no one can take them off but you. This calls for some extra spunk and you're just the gal who has what it takes!

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Mr. and Mrs. Reducing Plan." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

City Playlot Groups Will Convene June 11

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband was a Japanese prisoner of war. He suffered horribly at the hands of the enemy for almost three years. It's a miracle he's alive today.

Our son is in the service, stationed in Tokyo. He's been there almost a year. He writes often and has sent us snapshots of himself with Japanese friends. I thought it was nice that he was becoming acquainted with the natives of the country. My husband did not agree.

Last week Jim wrote that he'll be home in July with a Japanese bride. We almost died of shock. They were secretly married in February and there's a baby on the way.

We are heartbroken. My husband says he doesn't want them to set foot in our home. I love my son and want to accept him and his wife, regardless. This is not what I would have wanted for him but I feel we should make the best of it.

Please tell us what, in your judgment, is the best thing to do.—E. L.

Dear E.L.: War always leaves behind plenty to be forgiven on both sides. Clinging to old hatreds and nursing old wounds is useless and destructive.

Since the marriage already has taken place, your husband should open his home and his heart to both of them. Perhaps your clergyman can give him a better understanding.

Naming The Baby

Dear Ann: We're having a big fat fight over a trifle.

I always liked the name Bradley. It was my maiden name. I want to name our new son Bradley to perpetuate our family name as I have no brothers.

It so happens I was once engaged to a fellow named Bradford. I haven't seen or thought about Bradford for 10 years. When I told my husband I wanted to name the baby Bradley he said, "You don't fool me. You just want to call him Brad — after your old sweetheart." I got so mad I cried.

Our first child was named after my mother-in-law (to please his clan.) The second-born we named Junior. Now I think I should be permitted a voice in naming our third.

Am I making a mountain out of a molehill or what?—BUNNY.

Dear Bunny: Since your husband called the first two shots, I agree that you should have the privilege of calling the third. After all the arguing, some kid probably will label him "Skinny" or "Fatso" and that will be it!

Jealous Granny

Dear Ann: My son's in-laws are making a wreck out of me. Whenever I go to my son's home, the in-laws are there. If I arrive first, they come in 10 minutes later, with expensive gifts for the grandchildren.

The minute they arrive, they take over and I am ignored completely. Naturally the gifts make a hit and I'm "second best" because I didn't bring anything. I don't believe in buying the affection of children with presents.

Lately I've been staying away but I'm very lonesome. I'm old and sick and I want to enjoy my grandchildren during the few years I have left. When I mention this to my son he says I'm trying to make trouble. Please comment.—BAFFLED.

Dear Baffled: Don't look now, Granny, but your jealousy is showing. Children's affection can't be bought with presents. They smile kindly on the donor for all of three minutes, then they're off to the arms of the ones they love best. The honesty and frankness of a child can be brutal. If you feel left out of the picture it's because you were never really in it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Young Driver Slates Appeal

NEW CUMBERLAND—A Weirton area youth charged with reckless driving and drag racing Monday night has appealed to the September term of Circuit Court his stiff fine of $100 and costs and a 30-day stretch in Hancock County Jail.

Harry Bish, 20, of Weirton, R. D. 1 appeared before Squire John D. Herron on the charge of reckless driving and drag racing filed by county sheriff's deputies.

Bish was released on a $500 bond. Arrested Sunday by deputies south of New Cumberland, it was his second offense for reckless driving, the squire said. He was represented at the hearing by Atty. Leonard Alpert, assistant county prosecutor, represented the state.

Squire Herron also fined a Pittsburgh motorist and sentenced a Steubenville man to jail in default of a $500 bond. Two motorists forfeited bonds when they failed to appear for hearings today on charges of drunken driving.

William T. Nagle, 31, of Pittsburgh was fined $20 and costs for speeding. Alex Gualasky of Steubenville was jailed in default of a $500 peace bond on a warrant signed by his wife.

Walter D. Anderson, 22, of Clinton, forfeited $108 bond and his driving license was revoked for six months for drunk driving.

Carl R. Dawson, 26, of Weirton forfeited a $125 bond and his driving privileges were revoked for six months for drunk driving. Both motorists were to have appeared today at 10 a. m.

James E. White, 32, of R. D. 1 is awaiting a hearing before the squire on a drunk driving charge. White was cited at 1:45 a. m. today by sheriff's deputies on Route 2.

Supervisor Appointed For Saline Township

HAMMONDSVILLE — The Saline Township Board of Trustees Monday appointed Robert Blackburn as township road supervisor to "work at the trustees' pleasure."

No Hint Of Resignation

Long Described Resistent To Psychiatric Treatment

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Louisiana's ailing Gov. Earl K. Long, described Monday as "somewhat resistant" to psychiatric examination, faces another round of diagnosis today.

Doctors emphasized that the governor was not under restraint or medication.

The governor, 63, has given no hint a physical breakdown might force him to resign, a nephew, Sen. Russell Long (D-La), said Monday night.

"He is responding in some ways but he is somewhat resistant to more thorough examinations," Dr. John B. Truslow said in the latest of several guarded statements about the Louisiana chief executive.

In reply to questions, Dr. Truslow told newsmen Gov. Long was not violent and had not been confined in a straitjacket.

The governor, a brother of the late U.S. Sen. and Gov. Huey P. Long, flew to Galveston Saturday and entered a private psychiatric clinic at John Sealy Hospital. Dr. Truslow is director of the University of Texas medical branch which operates the hospital.

Gov. Long had "an extremely easy" day, slept two or three hours and saw several members of his family Monday, Dr. Truslow said.

Specialists examining the governor will require another day or two to arrive at a definite diagnosis and start treatment, the physician said. A hospital bulletin said a mild bronchial congestion was clearing up.

Sen. Long arrived late Monday by chartered plane.

"I wanted to talk to his doctors," he said of his uncle, "and satisfy myself that he was being provided every possible comfort."

The senator told Louisiana legislators Sunday night in Baton Rouge that overwork and nervous strain were to blame for a shouting storm of abuse Gov. Long unloaded on the lawmakers last week.

Sen. Long said he assumes the governor will be able to take up official duties again before his term of office expires in about a year.

Neither the senator nor Dr. Dr. Truslow commented directly on whether Gov. Long might seek to leave the clinic.

Under Texas law, a hospital may hold a patient up to 96 hours against his will. After that, it is necessary to obtain a court order committing a patient for either a 90-day observation period or for treatment.

Hospital officials have pointed out that Gov. Long entered the clinic voluntarily and they lack authority to keep him from leaving if he so desires.

Political foes of the governor have branded his secret flight a maneuver to prevent removal from office, permitted by the Louisiana constitution if its chief executive is encapacitated. Lt. Gov. Lether Frazer is acting in his stead.

Sen. Long did not discuss this angle directly but in answering newsmen's questions he said:

"Unfortunately, our constitution was drawn in 1921, when the rigors of the governor's office were not as great as they are today. There simply was no practical way the government can be in the state without assuming responsibility for virtually everything that occurs in his administration.

"Due to the breakdown in his health, his lieutenant governor can and should carry the office of the governor until his health is restored."

Post Opposes Pension Plan

American Legion Post 4 went on record Monday night as opposing a bill in Congress that would reduce pensions and instructed Sam Mountford, adjutant, to Ohio's senators and the district congressman, asking that they also oppose the bill.

House Resolution 6432 would cut the pensions for disabled veterans by as much as $647 a year, the post charges. It was introduced April 15.

The post adjutant is to write Sen. Frank J. Lausche and Sen. Stephen M. Young and Rep. Wayne L. Hays, asking that they oppose the bill, in connection with future pension allotments.

The post has learned that the bill has the approval of President Eisenhower and the Veterans Affairs Committee. The Legion's national executive committee has disapproved the legislation.

In other business, officers were installed and delegates elected to district and state conventions.

John L. Rippeth was installing officer, seating Carl M. Turk as new commander.

The district convention is scheduled June 13-14 in Coshocton and the state convention July 17-19 in Cleveland.

Delegates are Turk, Rippeth and Robert Osborn. Alternates are Ray Cunningham, Christ Pallis and Ben Poling.

Lunch was served by D. G. Wilkinson and Irving J. Vorndran.

Burns Are Fatal

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—Burns suffered in a bottled gas explosion were fatal Monday to William M. Denver, 57, a river tugboat captain of Clairton, Pa. The explosion occurred Sunday at his cottage near Crystal Lake in Andover Twp. when Denver started to light a cigarette. Three walls of the cottage were blown out.

Jury Hears Suit On Car Payments

Testimony continued today in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon in a $3,806 suit concerning ownership of a 1957 automobile.

Melvin J. Nulf Sr. of Lisbon seeks the amount from Mrs. Dorothy Swaney, executrix of the estate of Rose E. Trunick, deceased, of East Liverpool.

Nulf claims in his petition that he made the payments on Mrs. Trunick's car and when she died he was supposed to have possession. He alleges the defendant refused to give him the car and to return the amount he had paid.

The trial began Monday before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard. The jury includes Ernestine Hester and Mary Bulger of East Liverpool, Herman Wooley, Leland Guy, Arnold Popa and Elsie Strader of Salem, Dorothy Crawford, Rose Chamberlain and Wanda Shaw of Lisbon, Paul Waithman of Winona, Katherine Fellers of Columbiana and Catherine Mundy of Salineville. Richard Barnes of East Liverpool is the alternate.

Please tell us what, in your judgment, is the best thing to do.—E. L.

Dear E.L.: War always leaves behind plenty to be forgiven on both sides. Clinging to old hatreds and nursing old wounds is useless and destructive.

Since the marriage already has taken place, your husband should open his home and his heart to both of them. Perhaps your clergyman can give him a better understanding.

Naming The Baby

Dear Ann: We're having a big fat fight over a trifle.

I always liked the name Bradley. It was my maiden name. I want to name our new son Bradley to perpetuate our family name as I have no brothers.

It so happens I was once engaged to a fellow named Bradford. I haven't seen or thought about Bradford for 10 years. When I told my husband I wanted to name the baby Bradley he said, "You don't fool me. You just want to call him Brad — after your old sweetheart." I got so mad I cried.

Our first child was named after my mother-in-law (to please his clan.) The second-born we named Junior. Now I think I should be permitted a voice in naming our third.

Am I making a mountain out of a molehill or what?—BUNNY.

Dear Bunny: Since your husband called the first two shots, I agree that you should have the privilege of calling the third. After all the arguing, some kid probably will label him "Skinny" or "Fatso" and that will be it!

Jealous Granny

Dear Ann: My son's in-laws are making a wreck out of me. Whenever I go to my son's home, the in-laws are there. If I arrive first, they come in 10 minutes later, with expensive gifts for the grandchildren.

The minute they arrive, they take over and I am ignored completely. Naturally the gifts make a hit and I'm "second best" because I didn't bring anything. I don't believe in buying the affection of children with presents.

Lately I've been staying away but I'm very lonesome. I'm old and sick and I want to enjoy my grandchildren during the few years I have left. When I mention this to my son he says I'm trying to make trouble. Please comment.—BAFFLED.

Dear Baffled: Don't look now, Granny, but your jealousy is showing. Children's affection can't be bought with presents. They smile kindly on the donor for all of three minutes, then they're off to the arms of the ones they love best. The honesty and frankness of a child can be brutal. If you feel left out of the picture it's because you were never really in it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Young Driver Slates Appeal

NEW CUMBERLAND—A Weirton area youth charged with reckless driving and drag racing Monday night has appealed to the September term of Circuit Court his stiff fine of $100 and costs and a 30-day stretch in Hancock County Jail.

Harry Bish, 20, of Weirton, R. D. 1 appeared before Squire John D. Herron on the charge of reckless driving and drag racing filed by county sheriff's deputies.

Bish was released on a $500 bond. Arrested Sunday by deputies south of New Cumberland, it was his second offense for reckless driving, the squire said. He was represented at the hearing by Atty. Leonard Alpert, assistant county prosecutor, represented the state.

Squire Herron also fined a Pittsburgh motorist and sentenced a Steubenville man to jail in default of a $500 bond. Two motorists forfeited bonds when they failed to appear for hearings today on charges of drunken driving.

William T. Nagle, 31, of Pittsburgh was fined $20 and costs for speeding. Alex Gualasky of Steubenville was jailed in default of a $500 peace bond on a warrant signed by his wife.

Walter D. Anderson, 22, of Clinton, forfeited $108 bond and his driving license was revoked for six months for drunk driving.

Carl R. Dawson, 26, of Weirton forfeited a $125 bond and his driving privileges were revoked for six months for drunk driving. Both motorists were to have appeared today at 10 a. m.

James E. White, 32, of R. D. 1 is awaiting a hearing before the squire on a drunk driving charge. White was cited at 1:45 a. m. today by sheriff's deputies on Route 2.

No Hint Of Resignation

Long Described Resistent To Psychiatric Treatment

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Louisiana's ailing Gov. Earl K. Long, described Monday as "somewhat resistant" to psychiatric examination, faces another round of diagnosis today.

Doctors emphasized that the governor was not under restraint or medication.

The governor, 63, has given no hint a physical breakdown might force him to resign, a nephew, Sen. Russell Long (D-La), said Monday night.

"He is responding in some ways but he is somewhat resistant to more thorough examinations," Dr. John B. Truslow said in the latest of several guarded statements about the Louisiana chief executive.

In reply to questions, Dr. Truslow told newsmen Gov. Long was not violent and had not been confined in a straitjacket.

The governor, a brother of the late U.S. Sen. and Gov. Huey P. Long, flew to Galveston Saturday and entered a private psychiatric clinic at John Sealy Hospital. Dr. Truslow is director of the University of Texas medical branch which operates the hospital.

Gov. Long had "an extremely easy" day, slept two or three hours and saw several members of his family Monday, Dr. Truslow said.

Specialists examining the governor will require another day or two to arrive at a definite diagnosis, and start treatment, the physician said. A hospital bulletin said a mild bronchial congestion was clearing up.

Sen. Long arrived late Monday by chartered plane.

"I wanted to talk to his doctors," he said of his uncle, "and satisfy myself that he was being provided every possible comfort."

The senator told Louisiana legislators Sunday night in Baton Rouge that overwork and nervous strain were to blame for a shouting storm of abuse Gov. Long unloaded on the lawmakers last week.

Sen. Long said he assumes the governor will be able to take up official duties again before his term of office expires in about a year.

Neither the senator nor Dr. Dr. Truslow commented directly on whether Gov. Long might seek to leave the clinic.

Under Texas law, a hospital may hold a patient up to 96 hours against his will. After that, it is necessary to obtain a court order committing a patient for either a 90-day observation period or for treatment.

Hospital officials have pointed out that Gov. Long entered the clinic voluntarily and they lack authority to keep him from leaving if he so desires.

Political foes of the governor have branded his secret flight a maneuver to prevent removal from office, permitted by the Louisiana constitution if its chief executive is encapacitated. Lt. Gov. Lether Frazer is acting in his stead.

Sen. Long did not discuss this angle directly but in answering newsmen's questions he said:

"Unfortunately, our constitution was drawn in 1921, when the rigors of the governor's office were not as great as they are today. There simply was no practical way the government can be in the state without assuming responsibility for virtually everything that occurs in his administration.

"Due to the breakdown in his health, his lieutenant governor can and should carry the office of the governor until his health is restored."

Post Opposes Pension Plan

American Legion Post 4 went on record Monday night as opposing a bill in Congress that would reduce pensions and instructed Sam Mountford, adjutant, to Ohio's senators and the district congressman, asking that they also oppose the bill.

House Resolution 6432 would cut the pensions for disabled veterans by as much as $647 a year, the post charges. It was introduced April 15.

The post adjutant is to write Sen. Frank J. Lausche and Sen. Stephen M. Young and Rep. Wayne L. Hays, asking that they oppose the bill, in connection with future pension allotments.

The post has learned that the bill has the approval of President Eisenhower and the Veterans Affairs Committee. The Legion's national executive committee has disapproved the legislation.

In other business, officers were installed and delegates elected to district and state conventions.

John L. Rippeth was installing officer, seating Carl M. Turk as new commander.

The district convention is scheduled June 13-14 in Coshocton and the state convention July 17-19 in Cleveland.

Delegates are Turk, Rippeth and Robert Osborn. Alternates are Ray Cunningham, Christ Pallis and Ben Poling.

Lunch was served by D. G. Wilkinson and Irving J. Vorndran.

Lawrenceville Firemen To Open Fair Tonight

The annual Lawrenceville firemen's fair will open tonight at the Lawrenceville grounds, featuring amusement rides, concessions and prizes, Ray Bryan, general chairman, said.

The fair, to be held each night at 7 through Saturday, will provide funds for fire equipment, Bryan said.

Burns Are Fatal

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—Burns suffered in a bottled gas explosion were fatal Monday to William M. Denver, 57, a river tugboat captain of Clairton, Pa. The explosion occurred Sunday at his cottage near Crystal Lake in Andover Twp. when Denver started to light a cigarette. Three walls of the cottage were blown out.

Jury Hears Suit On Car Payments

Testimony continued today in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon in a $3,806 suit concerning ownership of a 1957 automobile.

Melvin J. Nulf Sr. of Lisbon seeks the amount from Mrs. Dorothy Swaney, executrix of the estate of Rose E. Trunick, deceased, of East Liverpool.

Nulf claims in his petition that he made the payments on Mrs. Trunick's car and when she died he was supposed to have possession. He alleges the defendant refused to give him the car and to return the amount he had paid.

The trial began Monday before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard. The jury includes Ernestine Hester and Mary Bulger of East Liverpool, Herman Wooley, Leland Guy, Arnold Popa and Elsie Strader of Salem, Dorothy Crawford, Rose Chamberlain and Wanda Shaw of Lisbon, Paul Waithman of Winona, Katherine Fellers of Columbiana and Catherine Mundy of Salineville. Richard Barnes of East Liverpool is the alternate.

Marques de Pombar rebuilt Lisbon, Portugal, after it was destroyed by earthquake in 1755.

TV Commercials In Britain

In England this summer they're going to enforce new TV commercial regulations that conceivably could lure from America every parent bedeviled by the TV practice of urging child viewers to "ask Mommy to buy" or "ask Daddy to get."

Marie Torre

There is no relief in sight for the American parent demonized by those reprehensible appeals to the impressionable young, but the Britons, advocates of unruffled households, are doing something about them.

As it says in a mandate to British commercial broadcasters from the Independent Television Companies Assn., (Ltd.) ". . . a direct appeal to children to ask their parents to do or buy something must be regarded as encouraging them to make themselves a nuisance to other people and that 'other people' includes children's parents and other members of the family. Any phrase such as 'ask Mummy' would therefore be contrary to the principles as now interpreted."

-:-

WHAT'S MORE, youngsters appearing in British TV commercials will be expected to display good manners.

". . . Children in commercials," states the ITCA, "are occasionally seen demanding, rather than asking for, something they want, and eating with little or no vestige of table manners.

"It is well known that children watching television are tremendously impressed by what they see on the screen and it has been suggested that they might set a better example of good manners than is sometimes the case.

"We do not suuggest that children in commercials always should appear to be little angels, but perhaps steps could be taken during production to see that their behaviour is reasonably civilized."

-:-

THAT'S A FAR sight more specific than we are in America when it comes to TV advertising and children.

Broadcasters in this country adhere to the Television Code of the National Association of Broadcasters which sets forth broad, very broad, rules on the maintenance of propriety in the children-TV area.

One of the articles in the Television Code briefly states:

"Television broadcasters should exercise the utmost care and discrimination with regard to advertising material, including content, placement, and presentation, near or adjacent to programs designed for children.

"No considerations of expediency should be permitted to impinge upon the vital responsibility towards children and adolescents, which is inherent in television, and which must be recognized and accepted by all advertisers employing television."

OUR TV CODE says nothing about children's table manners or those "ask Mummy to buy" appeals to children. And after talking with Harry Ward, assistant director of Code Affairs at NAB, we suspect we'll always have kids begging for products pitched to them on TV.

Mr. Ward says this organization is interested in getting across a general philosophy rather than a specific set of rules.

"It would be impractical," he reports, "to list a set of 'Thou shalts' and 'Thou shalt nots.' They'd be hard to work with, and maybe a challenge to those smart copy writers who might try to subvert them.

"We prefer to stay with a general philosophy and leave the rest to the good judgment of the individual stations and networks. From our standpoint, there's been no great upsurge of protest from parents on those 'ask mommy to buy' commercials. In the last nine months, we've had about three letters on the matter."

It wouldn't surprise us if Mr. Ward wrote one of those letters. As he said in closing, "I have kids of my own and I'm tired of stumbling over jars of — peanut butter."

ONE OF THE TWO Lawrence Welk shows (the Wednesday night one) will not reappear in fall under a new five-year agreement between Welk and ABC. The Champagne Music Maestro continues his Saturday night "Dancing Party" for a fifth season with the same Dodge sponsor. . . .

Brian Aherne, a stranger on the TV scene, turns up on a forthcoming "Alcoa - Goodyear Theater" playlet titled "A Story Without a Moral." . . .

Arthur Godfrey may see four of his "Friends" together on TV Thursday when the McGuire Sisters visit "The Pat Boone Show." . . .

With TV interest running high on "investigators" (any and all kinds) ABC Films had acquired "Congressional Investigator," to be launched in the fall. . . .

Next Monday, Betty Furness chalks up her 10th anniversary in that TV kitchen. . . .

Herman Melville's "Billy Budd" was an artistic achievement, but no rating-getter. During its 90-minute run, "Budd" was trounced by the NBC lineup, including "Goodyear Theater," "Arthur Murray Show" and "U.S. Marshal."

County Permit-Holders Will Get State Hearings

An East Palestine veterans club and a liquor permit holder at Columbiana are slated for hearings Wednesday before the Board of Liquor Control at Columbus for citations.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4579 was cited in October 1958 for gambling by having Bowler Club cards and playing cards. Perry and Nellie Young, 236 S. Main St., Columbiana, were cited in June 1958 for permitting consumption of beer on the premises while the permit was suspended and for hindering inspection

Probe Slated By Macmillan About Lloyd

LONDON (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today was reported planning a personal investigation to track down the source of a British newspaper report that he will move Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd to another Cabinet post after the next general election.

The angry prime minister fired off a cable to Lloyd at the Geneva Big Four conference assuring him there was no foundation for the report in the usually authoritative London Times.

Macmillan acted swiftly to counter any idea the sensational report might have raised that Britain's spokesman at the Geneva talks did not have the government's full confidence. The Times report suggested a new man and a new policy might be needed at the Foreign Office after the summit conference expected in the summer.

The British government also was understood to have assured the Western allies that the 54-year-old Lloyd would be speaking for Britain for some considerable time to come.

Along with their anger, government officials were considerably puzzled. It was believed the respected London Times would not have carried such a story unless it got the information from an apparently reliable source.

An official of the Times said the paper couldn't reveal its source but still felt the report was true.

The Times dutifully reported Macmillan's cable to the foreign secretary and reported its story had caused the "most intense interest" at the Geneva conference.

Revived City Traffic Group Plans Organization Session

A newly reactivated City Traffic Commission will hold its organization meeting this afternoon at 4 in the office of Mayor Fred P. Lawrence.

Re-establishment of the advisory group, which has been inactive for about five years, was announced to Council by the mayor Monday night.

The members are: William B. Cooper, 478 Orchard Grove Ave., immediate past president of the Chamber of Commerce; Donald M. Ogilvie of D. M. Ogilvie & Co., who resides at 1400 Smithfield St.; W. Leland Thompson of Park Blvd., a member of the Board of Thompson Park Commissioners; Donald L. Burbick of the Burbick Hardware Co., who resides at 725 Garner Ave., and Paul Bloor, 423 W. 5th St., operator of Bloor's Pharmacy.

The terms of Cooper and Ogilvie will run two years. All the other appointments are for four years. Each was effective yesterday.

Lawrence explained that the city code gives the mayor the right to appoint such a commission to study traffic and parking problems and make recommendations to Council "on ways and means of coping with them."

"The work of the commission will not duplicate or be at cross-purposes with any other work on city planning," the mayor told Council. "Some of these men have been making a preliminary study of off-street parking and the information they have gathered will be available to the commission."

The Traffic Commission functioned last about five years ago. It became inactive because the members decided that their decisions might conflict with an arterial highway survey that was under way in 1955, designed to provide an overall solution to the city's traffic problems.

The arterial survey resulted principally in a plan to construct a crosstown freeway linking the California Hollow section with the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line.

Applications Open For Planning Positions

Twelve or more city and regional planners are needed for positions with the National Capital Planning Commission in the Washington metropolitan area.

Applications are being accepted by the U. S. Civil Service Commission. Information can be obtained from Lawrence Todd, local clerk, at the general delivery window at the Post Office.

The additional posts were created by the expansion of the planning commission's program. The entrance salaries range from $5,985 to $12,770 a year.

Salineville Girl Waits Degree At Mount Union

A Salineville girl and a former city man will be among 150 seniors who will be graduated from Mount Union College at Alliance at the 113th commencement ceremonies Sunday.

Miss Janice Dunlap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dunlap of Salineville; and William L. Pizzica, former Ohio Ave. resident, will receive bachelor of arts degrees.

Pizzica is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Faust Pizzica, now of California.

Leopards are now extinct in Europe, except in the Caucasus.

Four Unions Stage Strikes In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Four unions—Machinists, Sheet Metal Worker, Pipefitters and Steelworkers—had sizable strikes on in greater Cincinnati today.

The 400 machinists continued their walkout at the Atomic Energy Commission's Fernald plant and gave no hint of ending it despite leaders' urgings.

The 750 sheet metal workers and another 700 pipefitters started a strike Monday against 20 greater Cincinnati contractors, over a new contract.

At Baldwin Piano Co., where pianos, organs and classified electronic devices for the Defense Department are made, a week-long strike of 1,500 steelworkers continued, halting production.

The machinists struck Thursday over a new quota system and a quota penalty system.

National Lead Co. of Ohio which operates the plant under AEC contract said it plans to fire those machinists who stay off the job today.

The sheet metal workers, whose contract has expired, seek a wage increase and fringe benefits from the contractors. The pipefitters want a pay raise.

At the Baldwin firm, the union seeks another one-year contract while the company countered with an offer of a three-year contract.

School Appoints Staff Of Yearbook

Senior Class personnel for next year's edition of Midland Lincoln High School's yearbook, "Rodis," has been announced by Miss Mary Mullin, yearbook sponsor.

Editors include Barbara Held and Kathy Kovacic, co-editors; Donna Harty, literary; Tony Molchan, sports; Nancy Todd, photography, and Kenneth Williams, art.

Patty Cacic will be business manager; Bobby Lewis, business editor, and Jean Brown and Margie Snyder, typists. Junior Class members will include Elaine Sepos and Rina Sigal.

Other personnel will be Saundra Moll, Betty Benedict, Barbara Basta, Sandy Zapsic, Frank D'Eramo, Nick Vuckovich, Steve Yetso, Georgianna Raich, Francis Alvania, Marie Ciancone, Rudy Krivoshia, Tom Benek and Barney Silverman.

Senior pictures will be taken in August, Miss Mullen said. The cover will include a modern design in light blue and silver. The books' theme will be TV commercials.

Chester VFW Donates For National Project

A contribution of $26 was authorized by Chester Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6450 Monday night for the national VFW cottage fund.

The post also approved continuing purchase of milk for a needy area family and authorized sponsorship of a post bowling team during the summer.

Three applications for membership were received. It was announced ticket reservations must be made before July 2 for a chartered bus trip to a Pittsburgh Pirate - Milwaukee Braves baseball game July 3.

Refreshments were served 27 by Wayne Morrow and Allen Cornell. Byron Allison, senior vice commander, presided. The next meeting will be July 6.

Youth Begins Training After Army Enlistment

Ronald K. Vance, son of Mrs. Cora Gladys Vance of Mounted Route 20, is taking basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C., after enlisting recently in the regular Army, according to Sgt. Emuel Bosley, local recruiter.

Vance will receive eight weeks of basic before having a two-week leave, to be followed by assignment to a new station for advanced training of his choice. He attended East Liverpool High School.

TV Commercials In Britain

In England this summer they're going to enforce new TV commercial regulations that conceivably could lure from America every parent bedeviled by the TV practice of urging child viewers to "ask Mommy to buy" or "ask Daddy to get."

Marie Torre

There is no relief in sight for the American parent demonized by those reprehensible appeals to the impressionable young, but the Britons, advocates of unruffled households, are doing something about them.

As it says in a mandate to British commercial broadcasters from the Independent Television Companies Assn., (Ltd.) ". . . a direct appeal to children to ask their parents to do or buy something must be regarded as encouraging them to make themselves a nuisance to other people and that 'other people' includes children's parents and other members of the family. Any phrase such as 'ask Mummy' would therefore be contrary to the principles as now interpreted."

-:-

WHAT'S MORE, youngsters appearing in British TV commercials will be expected to display good manners.

". . . Children in commercials," states the ITCA, "are occasionally seen demanding, rather than asking for, something they want, and eating with little or no vestige of table manners.

"It is well known that children watching television are tremendously impressed by what they see on the screen and it has been suggested that they might set a better example of good manners than is sometimes the case.

"We do not suuggest that children in commercials always should appear to be little angels, but perhaps steps could be taken during production to see that their behaviour is reasonably civilized."

-:-

THAT'S A FAR sight more specific than we are in America when it comes to TV advertising and children.

Broadcasters in this country adhere to the Television Code of the National Association of Broadcasters which sets forth broad, very broad, rules on the maintenance of propriety in the children-TV area.

One of the articles in the Television Code briefly states:

"Television broadcasters should exercise the utmost care and discrimination with regard to advertising material, including content, placement, and presentation, near or adjacent to programs designed for children.

"No considerations of expediency should be permitted to impinge upon the vital responsibility towards children and adolescents, which is inherent in television, and which must be recognized and accepted by all advertisers employing television."

OUR TV CODE says nothing about children's table manners or those "ask Mummy to buy" appeals to children. And after talking with Harry Ward, assistant director of Code Affairs at NAB, we suspect we'll always have kids begging for products pitched to them on TV.

Mr. Ward says this organization is interested in getting across a general philosophy rather than a specific set of rules.

"It would be impractical," he reports, "to list a set of 'Thou shalts' and 'Thou shalt nots.' They'd be hard to work with, and maybe a challenge to those smart copy writers who might try to subvert them.

"We prefer to stay with a general philosophy and leave the rest to the good judgment of the individual stations and networks. From our standpoint, there's been no great upsurge of protest from parents on those 'ask mommy to buy' commercials. In the last nine months, we've had about three letters on the matter."

It wouldn't surprise us if Mr. Ward wrote one of those letters. As he said in closing, "I have kids of my own and I'm tired of stumbling over jars of — peanut butter."

ONE OF THE TWO Lawrence Welk shows (the Wednesday night one) will not reappear in fall under a new five-year agreement between Welk and ABC. The Champagne Music Maestro continues his Saturday night "Dancing Party" for a fifth season with the same Dodge sponsor. . . .

Brian Aherne, a stranger on the TV scene, turns up on a forthcoming "Alcoa - Goodyear Theater" playlet titled "A Story Without a Moral." . . .

Arthur Godfrey may see four of his "Friends" together on TV Thursday when the McGuire Sisters visit "The Pat Boone Show." . . .

With TV interest running high on "investigators" (any and all kinds) ABC Films had acquired "Congressional Investigator," to be launched in the fall. . . .

Next Monday, Betty Furness chalks up her 10th anniversary in that TV kitchen. . . .

Herman Melville's "Billy Budd" was an artistic achievement, but no rating-getter. During its 90-minute run, "Budd" was trounced by the NBC lineup, including "Goodyear Theater," "Arthur Murray Show" and "U.S. Marshal."

County Permit-Holders Will Get State Hearings

An East Palestine veterans club and a liquor permit holder at Columbiana are slated for hearings Wednesday before the Board of Liquor Control at Columbus for citations.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4579 was cited in October 1958 for gambling by having Bowler Club cards and playing cards. Perry and Nellie Young, 236 S. Main St., Columbiana, were cited in June 1958 for permitting consumption of beer on the premises while the permit was suspended and for hindering inspection

Probe Slated By Macmillan About Lloyd

LONDON (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today was reported planning a personal investigation to track down the source of a British newspaper report that he will move Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd to another Cabinet post after the next general election.

The angry prime minister fired off a cable to Lloyd at the Geneva Big Four conference assuring him there was no foundation for the report in the usually authoritative London Times.

Macmillan acted swiftly to counter any idea the sensational report might have raised that Britain's spokesman at the Geneva talks did not have the government's full confidence. The Times report suggested a new man and a new policy might be needed at the Foreign Office after the summit conference expected in the summer.

The British government also was understood to have assured the Western allies that the 54-year-old Lloyd would be speaking for Britain for some considerable time to come.

Along with their anger, government officials were considerably puzzled. It was believed the respected London Times would not have carried such a story unless it got the information from an apparently reliable source.

An official of the Times said the paper couldn't reveal its source but still felt the report was true.

The Times dutifully reported Macmillan's cable to the foreign secretary and reported its story had caused the "most intense interest" at the Geneva conference.

Revived City Traffic Group Plans Organization Session

A newly reactivated City Traffic Commission will hold its organization meeting this afternoon at 4 in the office of Mayor Fred P. Lawrence.

Re-establishment of the advisory group, which has been inactive for about five years, was announced to Council by the mayor Monday night.

The members are: William B. Cooper, 478 Orchard Grove Ave., immediate past president of the Chamber of Commerce; Donald M. Ogilvie of D. M. Ogilvie & Co., who resides at 1400 Smithfield St.; W. Leland Thompson of Park Blvd., a member of the Board of Thompson Park Commissioners; Donald L. Burbick of the Burbick Hardware Co., who resides at 725 Garner Ave., and Paul Bloor, 423 W. 5th St., operator of Bloor's Pharmacy.

The terms of Cooper and Ogilvie will run two years. All the other appointments are for four years. Each was effective yesterday.

Lawrence explained that the city code gives the mayor the right to appoint such a commission to study traffic and parking problems and make recommendations to Council "on ways and means of coping with them."

"The work of the commission will not duplicate or be at cross-purposes with any other work on city planning," the mayor told Council. "Some of these men have been making a preliminary study of off-street parking and the information they have gathered will be available to the commission."

The Traffic Commission functioned last about five years ago. It became inactive because the members decided that their decisions might conflict with an arterial highway survey that was under way in 1955, designed to provide an overall solution to the city's traffic problems.

The arterial survey resulted principally in a plan to construct a crosstown freeway linking the California Hollow section with the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line.

Applications Open For Planning Positions

Twelve or more city and regional planners are needed for positions with the National Capital Planning Commission in the Washington metropolitan area.

Applications are being accepted by the U. S. Civil Service Commission. Information can be obtained from Lawrence Todd, local clerk, at the general delivery window at the Post Office.

The additional posts were created by the expansion of the planning commission's program. The entrance salaries range from $5,985 to $12,770 a year.

Salineville Girl Waits Degree At Mount Union

A Salineville girl and a former city man will be among 150 seniors who will be graduated from Mount Union College at Alliance at the 113th commencement ceremonies Sunday.

Miss Janice Dunlap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dunlap of Salineville, and William L. Pizzica, former Ohio Ave. resident, will receive bachelor of arts degrees.

Pizzica is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Faust Pizzica, now of California.

Leopards are now extinct in Europe, except in the Caucasus.

Four Unions Stage Strikes In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Four unions—Machinists, Sheet Metal Worker, Pipefitters and Steelworkers—had sizable strikes on in greater Cincinnati today.

The 400 machinists continued their walkout at the Atomic Energy Commission's Fernald plant and gave no hint of ending it despite leaders' urgings.

The 750 sheet metal workers and another 700 pipefitters started a strike Monday against 20 greater Cincinnati contractors, over a new contract.

At Baldwin Piano Co., where pianos, organs and classified electronic devices for the Defense Department are made, a week-long strike of 1,500 steelworkers continued, halting production.

The machinists struck Thursday over a new quota system and a quota penalty system.

National Lead Co. of Ohio which operates the plant under AEC contract said it plans to fire those machinists who stay off the job today.

The sheet metal workers, whose contract has expired, seek a wage increase and fringe benefits from the contractors. The pipefitters want a pay raise.

At the Baldwin firm, the union seeks another one-year contract while the company countered with an offer of a three-year contract.

Patty Cacic will be business manager; Bobby Lewis, business editor, and Jean Brown and Margie Snyder, typists. Junior Class members will include Elaine Sepos and Rina Sigal.

Other personnel will be Saundra Moll, Betty Benedict, Barbara Basta, Sandy Zapsic, Frank D'Eramo, Nick Vuckovich, Steve Yetso, Georgianna Raich, Francis Alvania, Marie Ciancone, Rudy Krivoshia, Tom Benek and Barney Silverman.

Senior pictures will be taken in August, Miss Mullen said. The cover will include a modern design in light blue and silver. The books' theme will be TV commercials.

Chester VFW Donates For National Project

A contribution of $26 was authorized by Chester Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6450 Monday night for the national VFW cottage fund.

The post also approved continuing purchase of milk for a needy area family and authorized sponsorship of a post bowling team during the summer.

Three applications for membership were received. It was announced ticket reservations must be made before July 2 for a chartered bus trip to a Pittsburgh Pirate - Milwaukee Braves baseball game July 3.

Refreshments were served 27 by Wayne Morrow and Allen Cornell. Byron Allison, senior vice commander, presided. The next meeting will be July 6.

Youth Begins Training After Army Enlistment

Ronald K. Vance, son of Mrs. Cora Gladys Vance of Mounted Route 20, is taking basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C., after enlisting recently in the regular Army, according to Sgt. Emuel Bosley, local recruiter.

Vance will receive eight weeks of basic before having a two-week leave, to be followed by assignment to a new station for advanced training of his choice. He attended East Liverpool High School.

Irondale Opens 1959 City League Season With 11-6 Win

Fraley Clubs HR Against Lawrenceville

Irondale successfully opened the 1959 City Baseball League with an 11-6 victory over Lawrenceville, a new entry this year, Monday at Patterson Field.

The Irondale nine, which closed fast last season and finished in second place, picked up where it left off. The Irons built up a 9-0 lead before Lawrenceville dented the scoring column with four runs in the sixth.

Both teams scored twice in the seventh inning for the final margin.

Lonnie Fraley, a basketball star at Irondale High School during the past season, pounded the first home run of the City League season when he connected in the fifth inning.

Don Laughlin enjoyed a perfect night at the plate for the Irons when he stroked three singles in the same number of times at bat.

Manager Bud Santimarino picked up the victory for Irondale as he scattered eight hits. Ronnie Pugh, one of three brothers who hurled for Lawrenceville Monday, was checked with the loss.

The three Lawrenceville pitchers gave up a total of six hits but four errors helped the winners.

Lawrenceville was not at full strength in their opener since Vic Reed, a pitcher, is out with a lacerated right index finger suffered at work.

Lawrenceville also loses Chester High School ace Don Shaw, who will report to a minor league camp of the Chicago Cubs.

Tonight's game between the Merchants and Irondale has been postponed because of graduation at district high schools.

Lawrenceville will meet last year's City League champs, Cox Construction, Wednesday at Patterson Field beginning at 6 p. m.

DON SHAW, who starred for Chester High School this past spring, shows his form after signing a minor league contract with the Chicago Cubs. Shaw will report June 13 to Morristown, Tenn., in the Class D Appalachian League.

Off To Minors June 13

Cubs Sign Shaw To Pro Contract

The Chicago Cubs announced today the signing of Don Shaw, the Chester High School strikeout king.

The big righthander, who pitched two no-hitters for Chester this past spring, will report to Morristown, Tenn., in the Class D Applachian League on June 13.

Shaw was signed by John Streza, chief scout for the Cubs in the Ohio-Indiana area.

The 17-year-old pitcher had been a mainstay the past three years for the Panthers. His no-hitters this season came against Newell and New Cumberland.

His meal ticket is a good fast ball and in his pair of no-hitters Shaw chalked up 17 strikeouts in one and 18 in the other.

Shaw did not receive a bonus and will get $200 a month, standard Class D salary.

A two sports star at Chester, Shaw had been a four-year regular on the football squad.

The signing by Chicago robbed the Lawrenceville entry of the City League of its top pitcher. Shaw was scheduled to pitch with the Lawrenceville nine this season.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shaw of Grandview Ext., Lawrenceville.

Cincinnati Is Starving For Ace Relief Pitcher

CINCINNATI (AP) — Consider the importance to Cincinnati's Reds of an ace reliefer.

Manager Mayo Smith knows better than anyone how important a good fireman would be right now to the floundering Reds.

In fact, he said recently that relief pitching is the key to the National League chase now.

He said, "The man who can go in there and stop the other fellow for two or three innings and strike out the big fellow is your bread and butter pitcher.

"We don't get many complete games in Cincinnati.

"Neither do the other managers. The relief men do the job. We aren't sure what we do have. So far, we have been using Bob Mabe, Hal Jeffcoat and Tom Acker."

Smith did not need to add that these three reliefers are not extra successful.

But the matter is especially significant for the Reds. It seems plain the Reds will finish out the season with its current pitching staff virtually intact.

The Reds apparently can't hope for another front line starter, either in a trade or out of their farm team rolling mills.

But a new reliefer—that's a goal that team brass can shoot for. If he's good enough, he'll give the front-liners the needed support when in sore straits and help the Reds get back on their feet.

Whatever the Reds do in the next few weeks—go on with the present pitching staff or hunt around for a relief replacement—it's wise to keep one of the big factors in mind—Crosley Field itself, a snug little park.

The playing field here is somewhat tight in dimensions and some pitchers revile it bitterly as a "shooting range." In 23 games there so far, 71 homers have been hit.

After a day of rest, Los Angeles drops in here tonight for the first of three night games. Brooks Lawrence is slated to start against Don Drysdale.

Potter Savings, Furniture City Win In Minors

Potters Savings and Loan, Furniture City and Bergeners posted victories in Minor Little League action Monday.

Potters Savings and Loan had an easy time by scoring an 11-2 victory over First National while Furniture City nipped Potters Bank & Trust Co., 5-4, and Bergeners defeated Knowles, 13-11.

A 14-hit attack led to the Potters Savings victory. Chapman led the way with four hits and Haniotes and Creger had three safeties apiece for the winners.

Davis paced First National with two hits.

Furniture City handed Potters Bank and Trust its first loss of the season. Kinsey with a double and two singles paced the winners while Alford chipped in a two-bagger and a single.

Dick Higgins smacked three hits for the losers who rallied for four runs in the last inning but fell short of their mark.

Bergeners collected only six hits but made the most of them in defeating Knowles. Scott homered for the winners while Marshall clubbed a triple and double. Sanford and Turner belted roundtrippers for the losers.

Only playing manager in the Eastern League this season is ex-Yankee catcher Charlie Silvera with Binghamton, N. Y.

Indians, White Sox Both Lose, 3-1

Tigers And A's Play Part Of Giant Killers

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lightning has just struck twice in the American League pennant chase with Kansas City and Detroit, both up from the depths, joltin' the bejabbers out of front-stumbling Cleveland and Chicago.

The A's and Tigers combined to take 8 of 10 games from the first place Indians and runner-up White Sox over the long holiday weekend.

Kansas City, after winning two of three at Cleveland, completed a two-game sweep at Chicago by beating the White Sox 3-1 Monday night. The Tigers, who had snatched two of three from Chicago, bagged a two-game sweep over the Indians with a 3-1 afternoon victory in the only other AL game.

The Injuns now have lost three in a row and five of their last six, but still hold a one-game edge over the White Sox — who have lost two in a row and seven of their last nine for nothing more than a half-game lead over third-place Baltimore.

Kansas City, in seventh place not long ago and seven games behind just a week ago, now is fourth, within 3½ games of the top. The Tigers, last and 9½ games behind only nine days ago, are fifth, 4½ games back.

The National League race also tightened when San Francisco walloped Milwaukee 11-2 Monday night and crowded within 1½ games of the first place Braves in the only game scheduled.

Southpaw Bud Daley, who has breezed through three consecutive complete games in four starts since quitting his relief role, beat the White Sox a second time in that span with a seven-hitter for a 4-3 record. Joe DeMaestri was the guy with the bat for the A's, tripling home the tying run and scoring the winner on a wild pitch in a two-run fifth. Then he hit his third homer in the seventh inning for the final run.

Ray Moore, (1-3) lost it, giving up eight hits as the A's won their third in a row.

Daley, nicked for the White Sox run in the fourth when Luis Aparicio doubled for their only extra-base hit and scored on Nellie Fox' single has not given up a walk in his last three games. He has allowed only six runs in 40 innings.

Paul Foytack and Eddie Yost got the job done for the Tigers, who have won seven of eight since slipping into the cellar with a first-game defeat in a May 24 doubleheader with Cleveland.

Foytack (3-6) won his second in a row with a five-hitter. He gave up a run in the second inning, then blanked the Indians the rest of the way on three singles for his first complete game in 11 starts. He didn't walk a man.

Yost, whose top one-season homer total is 12, broke a 1-1 tie with his 10th for the Tigers in the fifth inning. The veteran third baseman also singled for two of the five Detroit hits off loser Gary Bell (4-4).

The Tigers now have won 19 of 27 since Jimmy Dykes replaced Bill Norman as manager a month ago today.

Yesterday's Stars

Hitting — Joe DeMaestri, Athletics, drove in two runs with a homer and a triple and scored another on a wild pitch in 3-1 victory over the White Sox.

Pitching —Paul Foytack, Tigers, beat the Indians 3-1 with a five-hitter, walking none and shutting them out on three hits over the last seven innings for his first complete game in 11 starts.

Michigan State's 1959 golf team compiled its best record in the school's history, winning 11 of 12 dual tests.

Cuts Lead To 1½

Giants Cool Off Braves After Scoring 11-2 Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was San Francisco that finally cooled off Milwaukee when the Braves looked ready to tear the National League race wide open with a 4½-game bulge. Now it's the Giants who are running hot and the Braves who have to do the chilling.

Just two weeks ago, the Braves ran the league's longest winning streak to six games at San Francisco. That's when the Giants stepped in, salvaging the finale of a three-game series. They have lost only 3 of 11 since.

The runner-up Giants stayed with it Monday night, opening a four - game series at Milwaukee with a runaway 11-2 victory that whittled the Braves' lead to 1½ games. It was the only game scheduled in the NL.

The Giants won their third in a row with six runs in the third inning against young Joey Jay 2-4.

Five singles, two by Jim Davenport, and three walks got the Giants rolling, with right-hander Sam Jones 5-5 driving in two of the runs.

Jones, whose ninth-inning relief job saved that series-closing victory over Milwaukee two weeks ago, gave up eight hits and struck out five. He had the Braves blanked until the sixth, when Frank Torre singled home two runs, one unearned.

The Giants made it 7-2 in the seventh inning against reliever Juan Pizarro, then made it a real rout with a four-run eighth capped by Andre Rodgers' three-run double.

The Braves suffered a couple of casualties as well as the defeat, losing Hank Aaron and catcher Del Rice. Aaron, his batting average down to .415 after three consecutive hitless games, left after the fifth inning when the cold weather affected an old back injury.

Rice suffered a bad shin bruise as Willie Mays slid home with the first run in the eighth-inning splurge.

6 Yearling Horses Killed By Lightning

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Lightning struck a barn on Brookwood farm during a thunderstorm Monday night and killed six yearling horses.

Five were thoroughbreds, the other a trotter.

Garrett Claypool of Chillicothe, Ohio, the owner, said in New York the horses were worth about $50,000 and the barn about $20,000.

Tribe Suffers Third Straight At Motor City

CLEVELAND (AP) — Luck remained with the Cleveland Indians and they hung onto their one-game lead in the American League pennant race despite a 3-1 loss to the Detroit Tigers Monday in the Motor City. It was the Tribe's third straight defeat and fifth in six games.

The second-place Chicago White Sox missed a chance to gain on the Indians when they dropped a 3-1 decision to the Kansas City Athletics.

Jim Grant has been selected by Manager Joe Gordon to try to get the Indians back on the winning track. He will pitch against the Washington Senators tonight in the first of a two-game series that opens a six-game home stand for the Tribe.

Following the Washington series, Cleveland will be idle Thursday and then meet the New York Yankees in four games starting Friday night.

The Indians got only five hits Monday off Paul Foytack, who pitched his first complete game this season.

Gary Bell held the Tigers to five hits in seven innings he pitched, but suffered his fourth defeat against four victories.

Cleveland scored its only run in the second inning on singles by Vic Power and Woodie Held and a sacrifice fly by Russ Nixon.

Detroit tied the score in the fourth on a single by Charlie Maxwell, a walk to Al Kaline, a sacrifice by Gail Harris and a sacrifice fly by Lou Berberet. Eddie Yost's 10th home run of the season put the Tigers ahead in the fifth.

A triple by Frank Bolling and a passed ball by Nixon gave the Tigers their third run in the seventh.

The Tribe, now without a .300 hitter among the regulars, got but nine hits in the two-game series in Detroit and had a total of only 15 in the last three games.

Irondale Opens 1959 City League Season With 11-6 Win

Fraley Clubs HR Against Lawrenceville

Irondale successfully opened the 1959 City Baseball League with an 11-6 victory over Lawrenceville, a new entry this year, Monday at Patterson Field.

The Irondale nine, which closed fast last season and finished in second place, picked up where it left off. The Irons built up a 9-0 lead before Lawrenceville dented the scoring column with four runs in the sixth.

Both teams scored twice in the seventh inning for the final margin.

Lonnie Fraley, a basketball star at Irondale High School during the past season, pounded the first home run of the City League season when he connected in the fifth inning.

Don Laughlin enjoyed a perfect night at the plate for the Irons when he stroked three singles in the same number of times at bat.

Manager Bud Santimarino picked up the victory for Irondale as he scattered eight hits. Ronnie Pugh, one of three brothers who hurled for Lawrenceville Monday, was checked with the loss.

The three Lawrenceville pitchers gave up a total of six hits but four errors helped the winners.

Lawrenceville was not at full strength in their opener since Vic Reed, a pitcher, is out with a lacerated right index finger suffered at work.

Lawrenceville also loses Chester High School ace Don Shaw, who will report to a minor league camp of the Chicago Cubs.

Tonight's game between the Merchants and Irondale has been postponed because of graduation at district high schools.

Lawrenceville will meet last year's City League champs, Cox Construction, Wednesday at Patterson Field beginning at 6 p. m.

DON SHAW, who starred for Chester High School this past spring, shows his form after signing a minor league contract with the Chicago Cubs. Shaw will report June 13 to Morristown, Tenn., in the Class D Appalachian League.

Off To Minors June 13

Cubs Sign Shaw To Pro Contract

The Chicago Cubs announced today the signing of Don Shaw, the Chester High School strikeout king.

The big righthander, who pitched two no-hitters for Chester this past spring, will report to Morristown, Tenn., in the Class D Applachian League on June 13.

Shaw was signed by John Streza, chief scout for the Cubs in the Ohio-Indiana area.

The 17-year-old pitcher had been a mainstay the past three years for the Panthers. His no-hitters this season came against Newell and New Cumberland.

His meal ticket is a good fast ball and in his pair of no-hitters Shaw chalked up 17 strikeouts in one and 18 in the other.

Shaw did not receive a bonus and will get $200 a month, standard Class D salary.

A two sports star at Chester, Shaw had been a four-year regular on the football squad.

The signing by Chicago robbed the Lawrenceville entry of the City League of its top pitcher. Shaw was scheduled to pitch with the Lawrenceville nine this season.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shaw of Grandview Ext., Lawrenceville.

Cincinnati Is Starving For Ace Relief Pitcher

CINCINNATI (AP) — Consider the importance to Cincinnati's Reds of an ace reliefer.

Manager Mayo Smith knows better than anyone how important a good fireman would be right now to the floundering Reds.

In fact, he said recently that relief pitching is the key to the National League chase now.

He said, "The man who can go in there and stop the other fellow for two or three innings and strike out the big fellow is your bread and butter pitcher.

"We don't get many complete games in Cincinnati.

"Neither do the other managers. The relief men do the job. We aren't sure what we do have. So far, we have been using Bob Mabe, Hal Jeffcoat and Tom Acker."

Smith did not need to add that these three reliefers are not extra successful.

But the matter is especially significant for the Reds. It seems plain the Reds will finish out the season with its current pitching staff virtually intact.

The Reds apparently can't hope for another front line starter, either in a trade or out of their farm team rolling mills.

But a new reliefer—that's a goal that team brass can shoot for. If he's good enough, he'll give the front-liners the needed support when in sore straits and help the Reds get back on their feet.

Whatever the Reds do in the next few weeks—go on with the present pitching staff or hunt around for a relief replacement—it's wise to keep one of the big factors in mind—Crosley Field itself, a snug little park.

The playing field here is somewhat tight in dimensions and some pitchers revile it bitterly as a "shooting range." In 23 games there so far, 71 homers have been hit.

After a day of rest, Los Angeles drops in here tonight for the first of three night games. Brooks Lawrence is slated to start against Don Drysdale.

Potter Savings, Furniture City Win In Minors

Potters Savings and Loan, Furniture City and Bergeners posted victories in Minor Little League action Monday.

Potters Savings and Loan had an easy time by scoring an 11-2 victory over First National while Furniture City nipped Potters Bank & Trust Co., 5-4, and Bergeners defeated Knowles, 13-11.

A 14-hit attack led to the Potters Savings victory. Chapman led the way with four hits and Haniotes and Creger had three safeties apiece for the winners.

Davis paced First National with two hits.

Furniture City handed Potters Bank and Trust its first loss of the season. Kinsey with a double and two singles paced the winners while Alford chipped in a two-bagger and a single.

Dick Higgins smacked three hits for the losers who rallied for four runs in the last inning but fell short of their mark.

Bergeners collected only six hits but made the most of them in defeating Knowles. Scott homered for the winners while Marshall clubbed a triple and double. Sanford and Turner belted roundtrippers for the losers.

Only playing manager in the Eastern League this season is ex-Yankee catcher Charlie Silvera with Binghamton, N. Y.

Indians, White Sox Both Lose, 3-1

Tigers And A's Play Part Of Giant Killers

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lightning has just struck twice in the American League pennant chase with Kansas City and Detroit, both up from the depths, joltin' the bejabbers out of front-stumbling Cleveland and Chicago.

The A's and Tigers combined to take 8 of 10 games from the first place Indians and runner-up White Sox over the long holiday weekend.

Kansas City, after winning two of three at Cleveland, completed a two-game sweep at Chicago by beating the White Sox 3-1 Monday night. The Tigers, who had snatched two of three from Chicago, bagged a two-game sweep over the Indians with a 3-1 afternoon victory in the only other AL game.

The Injuns now have lost three in a row and five of their last six, but still hold a one-game edge over the White Sox — who have lost two in a row and seven of their last nine for nothing more than a half-game lead over third-place Baltimore.

Kansas City, in seventh place not long ago and seven games behind just a week ago, now is fourth, within 3½ games of the top. The Tigers, last and 9½ games behind only nine days ago, are fifth, 4½ games back.

The National League race also tightened when San Francisco walloped Milwaukee 11-2 Monday night and crowded within 1½ games of the first place Braves in the only game scheduled.

Southpaw Bud Daley, who has breezed through three consecutive complete games in four starts since quitting his relief role, beat the White Sox a second time in that span with a seven-hitter for a 4-3 record. Joe DeMaestri was the guy with the bat for the A's, tripling home the tying run and scoring the winner on a wild pitch in a two-run fifth. Then he hit his third homer in the seventh inning for the final run.

Ray Moore, (1-3) lost it, giving up eight hits as the A's won their third in a row.

Daley, nicked for the White Sox run in the fourth when Luis Aparicio doubled for their only extra-base hit and scored on Nellie Fox' single has not given up a walk in his last three games. He has allowed only six runs in 40 innings.

Paul Foytack and Eddie Yost got the job done for the Tigers, who have won seven of eight since slipping into the cellar with a first-game defeat in a May 24 doubleheader with Cleveland.

Foytack (3-6) won his second in a row with a five-hitter. He gave up a run in the second inning, then blanked the Indians the rest of the way on three singles for his first complete game in 11 starts. He didn't walk a man.

Yost, whose top one-season homer total is 12, broke a 1-1 tie with his 10th for the Tigers in the fifth inning. The veteran third baseman also singled for two of the five Detroit hits off loser Gary Bell (4-4).

The Tigers now have won 19 of 27 since Jimmy Dykes replaced Bill Norman as manager a month ago today.

Cuts Lead To 1½

Giants Cool Off Braves After Scoring 11-2 Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was San Francisco that finally cooled off Milwaukee when the Braves looked ready to tear the National League race wide open with a 4½-game bulge. Now it's the Giants who are running hot and the Braves who have to do the chilling.

Just two weeks ago, the Braves ran the league's longest winning streak to six games at San Francisco. That's when the Giants stepped in, salvaging the finale of a three-game series. They have lost only 3 of 11 since.

The runner-up Giants stayed with it Monday night, opening a four - game series at Milwaukee with a runaway 11-2 victory that whittled the Braves' lead to 1½ games. It was the only game scheduled in the NL.

The Giants won their third in a row with six runs in the third inning against young Joey Jay 2-4.

Five singles, two by Jim Davenport, and three walks got the Giants rolling, with right-hander Sam Jones 5-5 driving in two of the runs.

Jones, whose ninth-inning relief job saved that series-closing victory over Milwaukee two weeks ago, gave up eight hits and struck out five. He had the Braves blanked until the sixth, when Frank Torre singled home two runs, one unearned.

The Giants made it 7-2 in the seventh inning against reliever Juan Pizarro, then made it a real rout with a four-run eighth capped by Andre Rodgers' three-run double.

The Braves suffered a couple of casualties as well as the defeat, losing Hank Aaron and catcher Del Rice. Aaron, his batting average down to .415 after three consecutive hitless games, left after the fifth inning when the cold weather affected an old back injury.

Rice suffered a bad shin bruise as Willie Mays slid home with the first run in the eighth-inning splurge.

6 Yearling Horses Killed By Lightning

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Lightning struck a barn on Brookwood farm during a thunderstorm Monday night and killed six yearling horses.

Five were thoroughbreds, the other a trotter.

Garrett Claypool of Chillicothe, Ohio, the owner, said in New York the horses were worth about $50,000 and the barn about $20,000.

Tribe Suffers Third Straight At Motor City

CLEVELAND (AP) — Luck remained with the Cleveland Indians and they hung onto their one-game lead in the American League pennant race despite a 3-1 loss to the Detroit Tigers Monday in the Motor City. It was the Tribe's third straight defeat and fifth in six games.

The second-place Chicago White Sox missed a chance to gain on the Indians when they dropped a 3-1 decision to the Kansas City Athletics.

Jim Grant has been selected by Manager Joe Gordon to try to get the Indians back on the winning track. He will pitch against the Washington Senators tonight in the first of a two-game series that opens a six-game home stand for the Tribe.

Following the Washington series, Cleveland will be idle Thursday and then meet the New York Yankees in four games starting Friday night.

The Indians got only five hits Monday off Paul Foytack, who pitched his first complete game this season.

Gary Bell held the Tigers to five hits in seven innings he pitched, but suffered his fourth defeat against four victories.

Cleveland scored its only run in the second inning on singles by Vic Power and Woodie Held and a sacrifice fly by Russ Nixon.

Detroit tied the score in the fourth on a single by Charlie Maxwell, a walk to Al Kaline, a sacrifice by Gail Harris and a sacrifice fly by Lou Berberet. Eddie Yost's 10th home run of the season put the Tigers ahead in the fifth.

A triple by Frank Bolling and a passed ball by Nixon gave the Tigers their third run in the seventh.

The Tribe, now without a 300 hitter among the regulars, got but nine hits in the two-game series in Detroit and had a total of only 15 in the last three games.

Snead Scrambles To Get Into Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

It is in keeping with the character of Sam Snead. Two weeks ago he shot a 59, one of the finest rounds of competitive golf of all-time. Monday he had to scramble to qualify for the National Open.

A birdie on the 36th and final hole at the Congressional Country Club in Washington, D. C., gave him a 72-70—142. One stroke more would have put him on the sidelines.

If Snead was relieved, sponsors of the big tournament June 11-13 at the Winged Foot Golf Club, Mamaroneck, N. Y., must have been overjoyed. His presence will mean thousands in added revenue.

Although he never has won the open — he was runner-up four times—Snead remains the most glamorous figure in golf. He has won 103 tournaments. He banked more money perhaps than any other player. Win, lose or draw, galleries flock at his heels.

Grumbling and grousing, Sam will be the sentimental and, with many, a betting favorite in the 72-hole championship showdown.

There were no shocking casualties in the sectional qualifying designed to reduce the tournament field to its standard 150 competitors, including 19 players exempt from qualifying. Most of the top tournament pros and leading amateurs made the grade. Atlanta's postponed trials are set today.

Jack Burke Jr., former Masters and PGA champion, had to survive a four-man playoff at Cincinnati. Al Balding of Canada came through a playoff at Buffalo, N. Y. Ed (Porky) Oliver lost in a playoff at Baltusrol in Springfield, N. J.

The proud U. S. Walker Cup team, rushing back from England, was split by the trials. Deane Beman of Silver Spring, Md., the new British Amateur champion, qualified at Washington with 139; Bill Hyndman of Abington, Pa., the runnerup, made it at Baltusrol. Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, and Harvie Ward of San Francisco also gained places. But Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N. C., lost out at Washington and Ward Wettlauer of Buffalo, N. Y., missed in his home town.

The magnetic name of Robert Tyre Jones was stricken from the roll. Robert III, son of the immortal Bobby, a New England soft drink executive, who qualified locally, failed this time with a score of 158 for two rounds at Baltusrol.

Two amateur brothers — Dr. Frank Bellino, a dentist, and George Bellino—an Ohio State student—qualified at Buffalo.

Wesley Ellis Jr., 27, of Alderecress, N. J., clipped 11 shots off par with rounds of 65-68—133 to lead 30 qualifiers at Cincinnati where most of the barnstorming pros took their licks. It was the day's best score. Walker Inman, 28, of the Elgin, Fla., Air Base, led at Washington with 68-67—135. Mike Souchak, former Duke gridder, was low at Baltusrol with 68-69—137.

Three former champions lost out. Gene Sarazen, with 150, and Tony Manero, with 151, missed at Baltusrol. Lew Worsham, who once beat Snead in a playoff for the Open title, failed by two strokes at Washington and missed his first Open since 1939.

The Masters champion and leading money winner, Art Wall Jr., got in comfortably at Cincinnati with 137.

Caffe Supplies Dampener In 4-3 Havana Setback

By The Associated Press

It was almost—but not quite—too good to be true for the Havana Sugar Kings Monday night. Buffalo's Joe Caffe supplied the dampener.

A crowd of 12,491 turned out as part of "operation fan" to watch the rejuvenated Sugar Kings in their first home game after a torrid road campaign that lifted them from last place to fourth in the International League.

Instead, Caffie hit a solo home run in the top of the 10th inning to give the Buffalo Bisons a 5-4 victory and undisputed possession of first place.

The Rochester Red Wings, who were tied for first until Monday night, lost to the Miami Marlins 7-6, to drop a game out of first, and into third place behind the Columbus Jets.

Aaron Has No Theories, 'Just Keeps Swinging'

NEW YORK (AP) — Next to the New York Yankees tail-spin the most talked of subject in baseball is Henry (call - me-Hank) Aaron.

From the first day he reported to the Braves' training camp in 1954, Aaron has been tabbed as a can't miss baseball great. And in less than six years he has reached a point where today he is recognized as a natural great hitter, in the sense that Williams and Stan Musial are.

Unlike Williams and Musial, the right-handed Aaron has no special theories on batting.

"I just leave the dugut swinging," he says. "The secret of hitting is to keep swinging."

Aaron is a great bad ball hitter.

Aaron has been accused of not caring — or knowing—who's pitching, whether is a righty or a lefty, whether the pitch is a curve or a fast ball, just as long as the ball gets to where he can reach it.

Hank resents that. He denies a story that after he had been informed that the pitcher he had whacked for four straight hits was Robin Roberts, he asked, "who's he?" He says it's not true that when asked what he looks for when he has two strikes, his answer was "the baseball."

"A lot of people think I'm a dummy," he said. "I'm not dumb when it comes to hitting. I do a lot of thinking about it. I keep it up here (and he tapped the side of his head). I study the pitchers all the time, and when I find one giving me trouble, I study him extra hard. I want to know why he's getting me out, and what I can do about it."

26 Pros, Four Amateurs Qualify At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Par golf was a worthless commodity here Monday as Wesley Ellis Jr., of Aldecress, N. J., led 26 pros and four amateurs into qualifying berths for the National Open Golf Tournament. The tournament will be held at Mamaroneck, N. Y., June 11-13.

Ellis had a 65-68—133, 11 under par for the par 72, 6,413-yard Country Club course.

Every one of the 30 qualifiers in a field of 70 bettered par. And two who were one under for the 36 hole route had to win a playoff for the last two spots.

The fact the Kentucky Derby Open was played in nearby Louisville last weekend set a lot of the top touring pros here for the qualifier. Virtually all of them made it into the open, but there were some close calls.

Jack Burke Jr., of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., 1956 Masters' and PGA champion, and Gardner Dickinson of West Palm Beach, Fla., one of the better younger players, were the two that survived that two-hole playoff. The losers were Bob Wilmers of Cincinnati, and Jim Ferree, of Winston Salem, N. C. All had finished with 143, one under par.

Another who found the qualification a tight fit was Jack Nicklaus, the Columbus, Ohio, youth who won both his Walker Cup matches in England two weeks ago and then cut quite a swath in the British Amateur. He made it with a 142 despite a bad last round of 75.

A surprise runnerup to Ellis was Roger McManus, Cincinnati amateur. McManus came in with a 66-69—135. He was a semi-finalist in last year's National Amateur, his first major golf splurge.

The fellow who drew the biggest gallery in an overflow non-paying crowd, was Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa. Wall the current Masters' champ and leading money winner, had a 68-69—137 which left him in a deadlock with Bill Collins of Lutherville, Md., for third and fourth places.

Burke had to shoot a fine 68 in the last round even to get into the playoff. Bad putting had skyrocketed his score to a 75 during the forenoon.

Ellis, who won the Canadian Open in 1958, and the Texas Open this year, grinned broadly when asked about the course and said. "It was pretty easy for me today."

Amateur Qualifies For National Open Golf

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Robert Shave Jr. of Willoughby, Ohio, carded a 73-74—147 to make the field of the National Open golf tournament in the qualifier held here Monday. Shave is an amateur.

Women's Boxing Match Turns Out Pretty Tame

MCADAM, New Brunswick (AP)—Canada's first women's boxing match is on record today and the verdict seems to be "mama stay home."

Despite some intriguing prefight statements by combatants Myrna McConvey and Mrs. June Lounder, Monday night's five-rounder between the 20-year-old stenographer and the 37-year-old grandmother turned out to be pretty tame.

The crowd of 672 got a few laughs — and Miss McConvey got a unanimous decision — but the bout itself was nothing for Floyd Patterson to worry about.

Promoter Jake MacDonald scheduled the "match" at the urging of Mrs. Lounder, a grandmother from nearby Vanceboro, Maine, who thought a women's bout on the regular Monday night card might pep up attendance.

Primping up to the center of the ring, it sounded as if mayhem were just around the corner.

"I'm as hard as rock and as strong as a moose," said the 5-2½ Mrs. Lounder, who weighed in at 142. "I got my strength from hard work. . .raking blueberries, picking potatoes, running boars. I got a good right arm. I'll be using my right."

"I've done lots of road work and a little sparring and I'm willing," said Miss McConvey, a 5-6, 122 pound steno from St. Stephen, N.N.

The "sparring," she said with a twinkle, "was with some of the young fellows' in St. Stephen."

Clad in shorts and blouses, they indulged in five rounds of energetic but harmless scuffling.

'Too Costly,' Snead Says Of National Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sam Snead says the National Open Golf championship "takes too much time and costs too much money."

Don't misunderstand. The slammer, who barely qualified Monday for this year's open, will try again for the title that has eluded him in all these years of campaigning.

But he doesn't think much of the system inaugurated this year by the U.S. Golf Assn. It now requires all but 19 exempt golfers to qualify in two 36-hole tests. Snead wonders whether the dollar reward offsets the time and strain for golfers who play for a living.

Snead almost didn't get to make the final strain. Although he didn't know it at the time, he needed a birdie on the last hole of the sectional held in a steady drizzle. He got it with a pitch five feet from the pin and finished with a 72-70—142 over the 6,558-yard par 70 Congressional Country Club Course. One more stroke and he would have flunked out.

Snead Scrambles To Get Into Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

It is in keeping with the character of Sam Snead. Two weeks ago he shot a 59, one of the finest rounds of competitive golf of all-time. Monday he had to scramble to qualify for the National Open.

A birdie on the 36th and final hole at the Congressional Country Club in Washington, D. C., gave him a 72-70—142. One stroke more would have put him on the sidelines.

If Snead was relieved, sponsors of the big tournament June 11-13 at the Winged Foot Golf Club, Mamaroneck, N. Y., must have been overjoyed. His presence will mean thousands in added revenue.

Although he never has won the open — he was runner-up four times—Snead remains the most glamorous figure in golf. He has won 103 tournaments. He banked more money perhaps than any other player. Win, lose or draw, galleries flock at his heels.

Grumbling and grousing, Sam will be the sentimental and, with many, a betting favorite in the 72-hole championship showdown.

There were no shocking casualties in the sectional qualifying designed to reduce the tournament field to its standard 150 competitors, including 19 players exempt from qualifying. Most of the top tournament pros and leading amateurs made the grade. Atlanta's postponed trials are set today.

Jack Burke Jr., former Masters and PGA champion, had to survive a four-man playoff at Cincinnati. Al Balding of Canada came through a playoff at Buffalo, N. Y. Ed (Porky) Oliver lost in a playoff at Baltusrol in Springfield, N. J.

The proud U. S. Walker Cup team, rushing back from England, was split by the trials. Deane Beman of Silver Spring, Md., the new British Amateur champion, qualified at Washington with 139; Bill Hyndman of Abington, Pa., the runnerup, made it at Baltusrol. Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, and Harvie Ward of San Francisco also gained places. But Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N. C., lost out at Washington and Ward Wettlauer of Buffalo, N. Y., missed in his home town.

The magnetic name of Robert Tyre Jones was stricken from the roll. Robert III, son of the immortal Bobby, a New England soft drink executive, who qualified locally, failed this time with a score of 158 for two rounds at Baltusrol.

Two amateur brothers — Dr. Frank Bellino, a dentist, and George Bellino—an Ohio State student—qualified at Buffalo.

Wesley Ellis Jr., 27, of Aldercress, N. J., clipped 11 shots off par with rounds of 65-68—133 to lead 30 qualifiers at Cincinnati where most of the barnstorming pros took their licks. It was the day's best score. Walker Inman, 28, of the Elgin, Fla., Air Base, led at Washington with 68-67—135. Mike Souchak, former Duke gridder, was low at Baltusrol with 68-69—137.

Three former champions lost out. Gene Sarazen, with 150, and Tony Manero, with 151, missed at Baltusrol. Lew Worsham, who once beat Snead in a playoff for the Open title, failed by two strokes at Washington and missed his first Open since 1939.

The Masters champion and leading money winner, Art Wall Jr., got in comfortably at Cincinnati with 137.

Caffe Supplies Dampener In 4-3 Havana Setback

By The Associated Press

It was almost—but not quite—too good to be true for the Havana Sugar Kings Monday night. Buffalo's Joe Caffe supplied the dampener.

A crowd of 12,491 turned out as part of "operation fan" to watch the rejuvenated Sugar Kings in their first home game after a torrid road campaign that lifted them from last place to fourth in the International League.

Instead, Caffie hit a solo home run in the top of the 10th inning to give the Buffalo Bisons a 5-4 victory and undisputed possession of first place.

The Rochester Red Wings, who were tied for first until Monday night, lost to the Miami Marlins 7-6, to drop a game out of first, and into third place behind the Columbus Jets.

'Too Costly,' Snead Says Of National Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sam Snead says the National Open Golf championship "takes too much time and costs too much money."

Don't misunderstand. The slammer, who barely qualified Monday for this year's open, will try again for the title that has eluded him in all these years of campaigning.

But he doesn't think much of the system inaugurated this year by the U.S. Golf Assn. It now requires all but 19 exempt golfers to qualify in two 36-hole tests. Snead wonders whether the dollar reward offsets the time and strain for golfers who play for a living.

Snead almost didn't get to make the final strain. Although he didn't know it at the time, he needed a birdie on the last hole of the sectional held in a steady drizzle. He got it with a pitch five feet from the pin and finished with a 72-70—142 over the 6,558-yard par 70 Congressional Country Club Course. One more stroke and he would have flunked out.

Parent-Teacher Meetings Can Be Helpful

How wonderful it is when you can sit down and talk with your child's teacher about the child and his school work. Unfortunately, there is usually no such conference unless the parent or the teacher supposes there are some problems with the child. Either of you may ask for the conference.

By Garry Meyers

Sometimes the parent feels she has been commanded by the teacher to come to see her. Occasionally, the parent may demand a conference in words or tone suggesting criticism of the teacher.

Except in a few areas, the teacher can't effectively command a parent, nor can the parent command the teacher. Ideally, the relationship should approach the cultural niceties of social grace.

THE OBJECTIVE should be for the parent and teacher to understand each other. Together they should strive to understand the child and to find better ways for his development.

In literature for teachers you may read of the virtue of teacher-parent-child conferences. Such conferences can be effective if no blame or incrimination is suggested.

This requires extraordinary poise and skill in both parent and teacher.

If the child's faults are to be aired in his presence — and they frequently are — the outcome can be very bad. Bad, too, if the child hears the criticism as parent and teacher blame each other or argue over him.

The wiser course is for the parent and teacher to have one or more preliminary conferences before there is a "summit" conference that would include the child.

IT MAY BE well for the child to hear the parent assure the teacher that the home expects the teacher to direct and manage the child at school as she sees fit.

Moreover, the child should hear the parent and teacher agree on directions in which the home can help the child improve his learning.

The foregoing principles also apply when the parent seeks the counsel of a private expert about the child's behavior.

My bulletin "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Invasion From Costa Rica

Nicaraguan Chief Pledges Annihilation Of 'Traitors'

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza Monday night promised annihilation in two days of a two planeloads of exiles who invaded Nicaragua from neighboring Costa Rica.

Government communiques put the invasion force at about 75, and Somoza called them "traitors" and "mercenaries."

Rebel leader Enrique Lacayo Farfan declared in San Jose, Costa Rica, that a revolution had broken out against the Somoza dictatorship with fighting at several points.

A Nicaraguan rebel radio broadcast heard in Costa Rica claimed the rebel fighting force totaled 421 persons and included students from U. S., European and Latin-American universities. There was no confirmation in Managua, however, that the initial force had been swelled by additional invasions or local recruits.

The first airborne landing came Sunday near Santo Tomas, east of Lake Nicaragua. A National Guard communique said the force of about 50 was sent "fleeing in disorder" into the mountains. Another report said Nicaraguan air force planes attacked them again Monday, causing "heavy damage and slowing them down."

Somoza said the second wave—about 25 men flying in a plane stolen from the Costa Rican Airline—was "practically finished" soon after it landed near Matagalpa, 60 miles norteast of the capital.

The National Guard, Nicaragua's 3,200-man army, reported that air force planes attacked the second plane before it could be unloaded and it exploded. Reports from San Jose said it was believed to have carried a load of arms and ammunition.

Somoza denied rebel claims fighting had spread.

Government communiques made no mention of casualties on either side.

Reliable sources predicted that the 37-year-old president would appeal to the Organization of American States to intervene as they did in Panama when a band of Cubans invaded that country in April.

The unrest against Somoza, sparked by exile factions in neighboring countries, reached a boiling point Saturday when he proclaimed martial law to counter a threatened general strike.

Only a few hours before the first invasion force struck he alerted the National Guard, which is under the command of his West Point-trained brother, Anastasio Jr.

The Somoza brothers inherited a dynasty set up by their father, Anastasio Sr., in 1936 after the U. S. Marines withdrew from Nicaragua.

The elder Somoza ruled for 20 years, until cut down by an assassin's bullet in 1956. Luis took over as president.

The Costa Rican government said the invasion plane which landed Monday—a C46—was stolen from the Costa Rican Airline by Victor Rivas Gomez, a Nicaraguan who worked for the airline. A rebel broadcast called him the commander of the rebel air force.

It's Official Now

Will To Run On Prosperity In '60, GOP Head Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's official now. The Republicans are going to run on prosperity in 1960.

That was the word passed to party workers Monday by Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky), the Republican national chairman. "The recession beat us in 1958," he said, but added "the prosperity of 1960—an awesome challenge for the Democrats when coupled with the peace we established and maintained — can and will elect us."

But while Morton was predicting that the national output may hit a half-trillion dollars, Democrats were forecasting dire happenings in the politically potent farm belt.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, told his colleagues farmers are going to produce so much corn this year there won't be enough bins to store it.

An over-supply of corn traditionally is followed by low hog prices. It was this sort of situation, combined with the Republican 80th Congress' refusal to vote funds for storage bins, that was credited with helping President Harry Truman win re-election in 1948 with surprising backing in the farm belt.

Humphrey and Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) blamed the policies of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson for the prospective corn glut. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) voiced the opinion Benson is out to prove price supports won't work "if it costs 20 billion dollars to do it."

Morton didn't mention the farm situation in a glowing report on the economy sent to Republican party workers. He said the economic recovery demonstrates that GOP policies are right and shows the Democrats were "wrong on every major economic decision."

Man Pleads Innocent To Slaying Of Wife

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Olin L. Britton, 54, pleaded innocent Monday to first-degree murder in the fatal shooting of his wife, Parnell, 51.

A preliminary hearing in Municipal Court was set for June 12. He is being held in jail.

Britton allegedly shot his wife Sunday at the frozen custard stand they formerly operated together in Chillicothe. She recently filed for divorce and bought his interest in the business.

Next to Vatican City, Monaco is the world's smallest state, only about 370 acres in area.

Motorist Sentenced

LISBON — Frank Greenwood, 20, of Cleveland was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 7 days in jail Monday by County Judge James L. MacDonald for driving while intoxicated. He was arrested by the State Highway Patrol. Bertha L. Plants, 48, of Alliance was fined $15 and costs for driving left of center. She was cited by deputies.

Strawberry Fete Set

ROGERS — A strawberry festival will be sponsored at the Methodist Church Saturday at 5 p. m. by the WSCS to raise funds for a new addition to the church. Mrs. Leona Rudibaugh is chairman of the committee in charge.

Awards Given 6 In Cub Pack

Six members of Midland Cub Pack 415 were presented awards by George Huha, cubmaster, at a meeting Friday evening in the Steelworkers Union Hall.

They include Barney Newman and Norman Orr, wolf patch; James Fantone, Bill Komara and Michael Lewis, lion patch, and Terry Chambers, gold and silver arrows. Steven Bradshaw was accepted as a new member.

Richard Fantone, chairman of the pack committee, gave a talk on summer safety. Norman Orr and Cole Young spoke on the dangers of plastic bags. Den 7 won the attendance flag.

Bible stories were told by Bobby Vranes and Barney Newman, Den 1; Bill Marcum and James Fantone, Den 2, and Cole Young, Den 7.

Skits were presented on May's theme of "Musical Hoedown." Den 1 with Mrs. Maurice Newman, den mother, presented a barbershop quartet; Den 6 with Mrs. Roy Lewis, den mother, a hillbilly band; and Den 7, with Mrs. Delner White, den mother, the "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

Plans were made for the pack to portray Custer's Last Stand in the July 4th parade. Family picnics have been planned for June 28, July 18 and Aug. 23, all at Brady's Run Park near Beaver. Next regular meeting will be held in September. Mrs. Harry Humbert is in charge of publicity.

2 Navy Men Killed, 3 Injured In Wreck

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Two Navy enlisted men were killed near here Monday night when their car went out of control on a mountain highway and rolled over.

Dead were Roger D. Goss, 20, Bellville, Ohio, and James L. Mitts, 21, Quincy, Ill.

They were attached to the USS Newport News docked at Norfolk.

Three others in the car were injured.

Ohio Private Sentenced For Robbery In Korea

SEOUL (AP)—A U.S. Army court-martial today sentenced Pvt. Lawrence E. Martin, of Amelia, Ohio, to three years in prison for his part in robbing a Korean taxi driver last month of $16.

The court also ordered the 20-year-old soldier dishonorably discharged and directed that he forfeit all pay and allowances. The sentence is subject to review by higher military authority.

Seaman Ends Leave

LISBON — Radioman Frank A. Chamberlain left Sunday for the Naval Air Base at Quonset Point, R. I., following a 15-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Chamberlain, 201 E. High St. He enlisted immediately after graduating from David Anderson High School in 1958.

Brothers, 8, 12, Drown

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP)—Eight-year-old Langley Johnson Jr. waded into a pond on a farm near Mercerville Monday. He slipped and his brother, Larry, 12, jumped in to help. Both boys drowned.

Parent-Teacher Meetings Can Be Helpful

How wonderful it is when you can sit down and talk with your child's teacher about the child and his school work. Unfortunately, there is usually no such conference unless the parent or the teacher supposes there are some problems with the child. Either of you may ask for the conference.

By Garry Meyers

Sometimes the parent feels she has been commanded by the teacher to come to see her. Occasionally, the parent may demand a conference in words or tone suggesting criticism of the teacher.

Except in a few areas, the teacher can't effectively command a parent, nor can the parent command the teacher. Ideally, the relationship should approach the cultural niceties of social grace.

THE OBJECTIVE should be for the parent and teacher to understand each other. Together they should strive to understand the child and to find better ways for his development.

In literature for teachers you may read of the virtue of teacher-parent-child conferences. Such conferences can be effective if no blame or incrimination is suggested.

This requires extraordinary poise and skill in both parent and teacher.

If the child's faults are to be aired in his presence — and they frequently are — the outcome can be very bad. Bad, too, if the child hears the criticism as parent and teacher blame each other or argue over him.

The wiser course is for the parent and teacher to have one or more preliminary conferences before there is a "summit" conference that would include the child.

IT MAY BE well for the child to hear the parent assure the teacher that the home expects the teacher to direct and manage the child at school as she sees fit.

Moreover, the child should hear the parent and teacher agree on directions in which the home can help the child improve his learning.

The foregoing principles also apply when the parent seeks the counsel of a private expert about the child's behavior.

My bulletin "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Invasion From Costa Rica

Nicaraguan Chief Pledges Annihilation Of 'Traitors'

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza Monday night promised annihilation in two days of a two planeloads of exiles who invaded Nicaragua from neighboring Costa Rica.

Government communiques put the invasion force at about 75, and Somoza called them "traitors" and "mercenaries."

Rebel leader Enrique Lacayo Farfan declared in San Jose, Costa Rica, that a revolution had broken out against the Somoza dictatorship with fighting at several points.

A Nicaraguan rebel radio broadcast heard in Costa Rica claimed the rebel fighting force totaled 421 persons and included students from U. S., European and Latin-American universities. There was no confirmation in Managua, however, that the initial force had been swelled by additional invasions or local recruits.

The first airborne landing came Sunday near Santo Tomas, east of Lake Nicaragua. A National Guard communique said the force of about 50 was sent "fleeing in disorder" into the mountains. Another report said Nicaraguan air force planes attacked them again Monday, causing "heavy damage and slowing them down."

Somoza said the second wave—about 25 men flying in a plane stolen from the Costa Rican Airline—was "practically finished" soon after it landed near Matagalpa, 60 miles norteast of the capital.

The National Guard, Nicaragua's 3,200-man army, reported that air force planes attacked the second plane before it could be unloaded and it exploded. Reports from San Jose said it was believed to have carried a load of arms and ammunition.

Somoza denied rebel claims fighting had spread.

Government communiques made no mention of casualties on either side.

Reliable sources predicted that the 37-year-old president would appeal to the Organization of American States to intervene as they did in Panama when a band of Cubans invaded that country in April.

The unrest against Somoza, sparked by exile factions in neighboring countries, reached a boiling point Saturday when he proclaimed martial law to counter a threatened general strike.

Only a few hours before the first invasion force struck he alerted the National Guard, which is under the command of his West Point-trained brother, Anastasio Jr.

The Somoza brothers inherited a dynasty set up by their father, Anastasio Sr., in 1936 after the U. S. Marines withdrew from Nicaragua.

The elder Somoza ruled for 20 years, until cut down by an assassin's bullet in 1956. Luis took over as president.

The Costa Rican government said the invasion plane which landed Monday—a C46—was stolen from the Costa Rican Airline by Victor Rivas Gomez, a Nicaraguan who worked for the airline. A rebel broadcast called him the commander of the rebel air force.

It's Official Now

Will To Run On Prosperity In '60, GOP Head Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's official now. The Republicans are going to run on prosperity in 1960.

That was the word passed to party workers Monday by Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky), the Republican national chairman. "The recession beat us in 1958," he said, but added "the prosperity of 1960—an awesome challenge for the Democrats when coupled with the peace we established and maintained — can and will elect us."

But while Morton was predicting that the national output may hit a half-trillion dollars, Democrats were forecasting dire happenings in the politically potent farm belt.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, told his colleagues farmers are going to produce so much corn this year there won't be enough bins to store it.

An over-supply of corn traditionally is followed by low hog prices. It was this sort of situation, combined with the Republican 80th Congress' refusal to vote funds for storage bins, that was credited with helping President Harry Truman win re-election in 1948 with surprising backing in the farm belt.

Humphrey and Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) blamed the policies of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson for the prospective corn glut. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) voiced the opinion Benson is out to prove price supports won't work "if it costs 20 billion dollars to do it."

Morton didn't mention the farm situation in a glowing report on the economy sent to Republican party workers. He said the economic recovery demonstrates that GOP policies are right and shows the Democrats were "wrong on every major economic decision."

Man Pleads Innocent To Slaying Of Wife

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Olin L. Britton, 54, pleaded innocent Monday to first-degree murder in the fatal shooting of his wife, Parnell, 51.

A preliminary hearing in Municipal Court was set for June 12. He is being held in jail.

Britton allegedly shot his wife Sunday at the frozen custard stand they formerly operated together in Chillicothe. She recently filed for divorce and bought his interest in the business.

Next to Vatican City, Monaco is the world's smallest state, only about 370 acres in area.

Motorist Sentenced

LISBON — Frank Greenwood, 20, of Cleveland was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 7 days in jail Monday by County Judge James L. MacDonald for driving while intoxicated. He was arrested by the State Highway Patrol. Bertha L. Plants, 48, of Alliance was fined $15 and costs for driving left of center. She was cited by deputies.

Strawberry Fete Set

ROGERS — A strawberry festival will be sponsored at the Methodist Church Saturday at 5 p. m. by the WSCS to raise funds for a new addition to the church. Mrs. Leona Rudibaugh is chairman of the committee in charge.

Awards Given 6 In Cub Pack

Six members of Midland Cub Pack 415 were presented awards by George Huha, cubmaster, at a meeting Friday evening in the Steelworkers Union Hall.

They include Barney Newman and Norman Orr, wolf patch; James Fantone, Bill Komara and Michael Lewis, lion patch, and Terry Chambers, gold and silver arrows. Steven Bradshaw was accepted as a new member.

Richard Fantone, chairman of the pack committee, gave a talk on summer safety. Norman Orr and Cole Young spoke on the dangers of plastic bags. Den 7 won the attendance flag.

Bible stories were told by Bobby Vranes and Barney Newman, Den 1; Bill Marcum and James Fantone, Den 2, and Cole Young, Den 7.

Skits were presented on May's theme of "Musical Hoedown." Den 1 with Mrs. Maurice Newman, den mother, presented a barbershop quartet; Den 6 with Mrs. Roy Lewis, den mother, a hillbilly band; and Den 7, with Mrs. Delner White, den mother, the "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

Plans were made for the pack to portray Custer's Last Stand in the July 4th parade. Family picnics have been planned for June 28, July 18 and Aug. 23, all at Brady's Run Park near Beaver. Next regular meeting will be held in September. Mrs. Harry Humbert is in charge of publicity.

2 Navy Men Killed, 3 Injured In Wreck

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Two Navy enlisted men were killed near here Monday night when their car went out of control on a mountain highway and rolled over.

Dead were Roger D. Goss, 20, Bellville, Ohio, and James L. Mitts, 21, Quincy, Ill.

They were attached to the USS Newport News docked at Norfolk.

Three others in the car were injured.

Ohio Private Sentenced For Robbery In Korea

SEOUL (AP)—A U.S. Army court-martial today sentenced Pvt. Lawrence E. Martin, of Amelia, Ohio, to three years in prison for his part in robbing a Korean taxi driver last month of $16.

The court also ordered the 20-year-old soldier dishonorably discharged and directed that he forfeit all pay and allowances. The sentence is subject to review by higher military authority.

Seaman Ends Leave

LISBON — Radioman Frank A. Chamberlain left Sunday for the Naval Air Base at Quonset Point, R. I., following a 15-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Chamberlain, 201 E. High St. He enlisted immediately after graduating from David Anderson High School in 1958.

Brothers, 8, 12, Drown

BEYOND THE CITY NOISE

The person to see this one year old red brick veneer on a 130x180 lot, on the edge of town will have to like it. 3 bedrooms, 2 stone fireplaces, all hardwood floors, attached garage, and blacktop driveway. Better call us to see it today. $21,000.

Between CALCUTTA and BEAVER LOCAL on the BELL SCHOOL RD. is a beautiful 6 room home, 1 year old, with everything you can ask plus 3 large bedrooms, hardwood floors, electric heat and over 1 acre of ground. The home can't be replaced for the asking price of $15,750.

Who wants a 4 bedroom, 2 story home, 1 block from the Calcutta School, with almost 1½ acres of level ground, separate garage, a good coal furnace, nice kitchen, and a modern bath. There is a large frontage on the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Road and an excellent well. The owner has bought a farm and will lose money at the price of $10,800.

STANTON AVE., GLENMOOR. The 2 homes on the 80x220 foot lot will make you a beautiful home plus extra income. The first home has 6 rooms and bath, all very modern, on the first floor plus loads of storage space in the unfinished attic. The home has a full basement with a Knotty Pine recreation room, the kitchen is completely metal tiled, and the home is comfortable and very convenient to church, school and transportation.

The second home is a 4 room, 2 bedroom apartment over a large 24x36 foot garage. It has completely individual utilities including a new gas hot-air furnace. This is perfect for 2 families who want to live in the same location but in separate homes.
